Man Troop Ships?

Naval reservists from Chicago, Peoria, and Kansas City, Mo., are under orders to take over three merchant marine ships, it was learned last night.

Unofficial reports indicated that the three ships are to be used perhaps for troop transport service, but did not suggest where, when, or by what troops.

Division 26 of Chicago, comprising 100 men and 4 officers, including Lieut. D. M. Strong, commander, is scheduled to take over the City of Newport News at Seattle, Wash. Division 30 of Peoria is to leave today for Philadelphia to man the City of Los Angeles. Division 41 from Kansas City is under orders to leave Nov. 20 for Mare Island, Cal., to take over the City of San Francisco. When the Chicago reservists will depart is not known.

In some quarters in Washington it was said the naval reservists are wanted on the three ships to eliminate communist elements among their regular crews. At the same time it was admitted the vessels are being equipped "presumably for troop transport duty."

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Suffern, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Carl Beck, general director of the interventionist organization called American Defenders of Freedom, Inc., admitted today that after the smoke clears away from the election battle, his group will launch a nation-wide propaganda campaign against Germany, Italy, Japan, and Russia.

Interviewed at his home here at the foot of the Ramapo mountains, Beck was asked directly whether his American Defenders propose to wage the campaign with the end of seeing this country enter the war on the side of Great Britain with a great expeditionary force fighting in Europe.

"We're already in it," was his reply. "We are under attack in a world revolution by forces known as Nazilism, Fascism, Japanism, and communism. Some of our people believe it stupid not to aid the remaining democracies as outposts of our own civilization."

"Call for Unity."

Beck's statement followed disclosure last night of a campaign by mail timed to take effect immediately after the results of the election become known. The letters in this campaign are marked "confidential; release Nov. 7," and call for "unity" of the nation.

Picturing the campaign as a "crusade," the letters continue:

"Whatever our differences of viewpoint, of faith, of background, or birth, we as free men and women, pledge to each other, to our elected representatives and to our country, our fullest effort for unity and cooperation, not only in necessary material and military defense, but also in the great, constructive crusade, based on the fundamental principles on which American civilization has excelled all others."

Beck, who is paid director of the Defenders, revealed an ambitious post-election campaign. He chose to call it "educational" but said he did not fear the word "propaganda."

Shower of Literature.

Quantities of literature will be showered on the country. The group already is coöperating in the circulation of the pamphlet "National Defense," which contains illuminating chapters on "Getting Ready for M-Day [Mobilization]" and "Organizing the Home Town."

Next Thursday has been set as the zero hour for the Defenders to go over the top. On that date key men in all parts of the country are to sign a "call for unity," to embark on a "crusade" against totalitarianism.

As an organization the Defenders are taking no part in the Presidential campaign. They are prowar rather than political and will be ready to go ahead with pressure and propaganda, no matter who wins the election.

Greeks Report Battle at Sea West of Corfu

ATHENS, Nov. 3 (AP).—The Athens radio tonight broadcast that "according to telegrams from Corfu a naval battle took place at 8 p. m. today west of Corfu."

The radio said that half an hour later a "large vessel was seen ablaze steaming northward." The Island of Corfu lies off the west coast of Greece and is only about 65 miles from the Italian mainland.

Reports of this battle at sea came after other announcements of air and land actions in the week-old war between the Italians and the Greeks and their British allies. In the air, destructive new raids on Greek cities were reported.

Hold Shallow Salient.

On land, the invaded nation said its unyielding mountain line continued to keep the Fascist army stalled near the Albanian border.

The Italians still apparently held their shallow salient on Greek soil. However, there was no sign of a break in the defense line and the Greeks declared that heavy Italian air and artillery barrages had failed to dislodge them from their gains in Albania.

[An Exchange Telegraph, British news agency, dispatch from Bitolj, Jugo-Slavia, to London, reported that Greek troops have encircled Koritza, a town seven miles inside the Albanian-Greek border. It said the fall of that town was expected momentarily.]

Italians Make Wide Attacks.

Of the extensive Italian attacks on Greek cities, an army communique merely said, "There are dead and injured among civilians."

A Reuters, British news agency, report from Salonika, however, said 200 civilians, including many children, were killed there in two big raids Saturday.

Greek air forces, presumably a combination of Greece's own planes and coöperating British bombers—were said to have scored telling hits behind the Italian lines and to have shot down four of the invaders' planes at a loss of only two of their own.

Bomb Italian Airdromes.

"Our planes successfully bombed the Koritza and Argyrokastron airdromes," a communique last night said, "and destroyed several planes on the ground. Oil reserves were set afire and a blaze was seen in airdrome facilities. Enemy concentrations and batteries were bombed."

[A British radio report heard in New York said the palace of former King Zog of Albania was damaged in an attack yesterday on Tirana. The palace now is headquarters for the Italian army in Albania.]

Battle for Bases.

ROME, Nov. 3 (AP).—A bitter fight for air and sea bases in Greece developed today between Italian and British airmen as clearing weather gave Italy's land forces a firmer footing for their advance.

Italian airmen, favored by bright skies, were reported as carrying load after load of bombs toward Greek ports where the British fleet might be unloading troops and supplies to bolster Greek defenses.

Janina and Florina appeared the immediate objectives of the widely separated Italian columns driving over the rocky mountains of northern Greece with the apparent intention of enveloping the Greeks in a giant pincer movement.

Report Defense Lines Passed.

The high command's summary of action in Greece said troops were moving forward in Epirus, northwestern Greece, and that the Italians in their advance south of Kakavia, on the Greek-Albanian border to Perati bridge on the Kalibaki river, had passed well fortified defense lines.

Fascist air squadrons, the high command declared, repeatedly bombed the Island of Corfu, causing explosions at Fort Nuovo; the port of Patras; Larissa, Janina, Salonika, Navarino, and Canea, on Crete.

Mystery Submarines Reported Off Panama

BALBOA, C. Z., Nov. 3 (AP).—Waterfront sources reported tonight that two or three mysterious submarines had been sighted off the Panamanian coast in the Pacific. Reports of some sort of mysterious activity off Panama have reached the navy. Naval officials refused to say whether the hurried departure of several destroyers under emergency conditions last night resulted from these reports.

Jim M'Dermott Defies Fighters for Clean Vote

Ald. James J. McDermott, Kelly-Nash machine leader of the 14th ward, took to the radio last night to voice for the second time the threat that his henchmen will smash the cameras of volunteer workers in order to frustrate their campaign to obtain evidence of any vote fraud in tomorrow's election.

The Joint Civic committee, comprising 60 civic organizations, among them the Chicago Bar association and the Chicago Association of Commerce, with the support of Edmund K. Jarecki, Democratic county judge, replied to McDermott's speech with the announcement that 10,000 volunteers will march to the polls to prevent vote stealing.

He Calls It Humbuggery.

"The time allotted for our investigation of this humbuggery," McDermott said of the clean election fight, "is short, and the indictment of the humbugs is long, but I rely on the intelligence of the voters to grasp quickly the truth about the fakes and phonies who are determined to steal Tuesday's election for the utilities candidates under cover of the loudest and most ludicrous 'stop thief!' chorus ever heard in Cook county.

"There will be no necessity for honest voters to fear that, on the basis of doctored film negatives, they will be hauled into the County court to prove their decency. Precinct captains of the 14th ward Democratic organization will smash the cameras of unauthorized photographers. We are going to have an election, not an amateur photographic contest."

McDermott was still talking into the microphone when the 15 minutes he had bought on WMAQ were up and he was switched off the air. His camera smashing threat was nothing new to those who had heard him voice similar intentions on the floor of the city council last Thursday.

Evidence of Alarm Seen.

"Ald. McDermott's threat of hoodlumism is the best evidence we have yet obtained of the alarm of the Kelly-Nash machine at the revolt of the citizens in the interest of making their votes count," commented

BUSINESS LOOKS TO WILLKIE

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

With the conviction that the opportunity for genuine economic recovery again is within the country's grasp, business men are awaiting the outcome of tomorrow's election with rising hope.

In the prospect of a victory for Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican nominee, they see the promise that the economic life of the nation again will be revitalized and that free enterprise and initiative again will be called upon to restore the economic health which elaborate and expensive cures of the last eight years have failed to achieve.

A sampling of opinion gives overwhelming evidence of the preponderant conviction of business that the end of the prevailing government hostility to enterprise will mark the beginning of sound national recovery.

Swift Change Noted.

A swift change in business sentiment has been noted with the rapid rise of Willkie's political fortunes. The upsurge in security prices in the last few days gives a hint of widespread feeling that a change in political atmosphere will mean that men and capital—long idle—soon will go back to work.

The array of business opinion that puts its hope of recovery in the election of Willkie is indicated by the following comments made yesterday:

Sewell L. Avery, chairman, Montgomery Ward & Co.—The election of Mr. Willkie will allay fear and establish confidence.

R. H. Norton, president, Acme Steel company—I believe that the election of Mr. Willkie would restore the confidence that we need. It would mean an end to the class hostility that has been stirred up. Restoration of confidence means expanding business.

B. C. Heacock, president, Caterpillar Tractor company, Peoria—It would be of tremendous importance in stabilizing business confidence. Its influence would be felt thruout all business and would mean an expansion in the normal peacetime business activity on which we must depend to maintain our standard of living.

P. K. Wrigley, president, William Wrigley Jr. company—Anything that would serve to define our objectives and steady our policy would be helpful to business.

George R. Meyercord, president, Haskelite corporation—I believe that there would be a tremendous upsurge in business if Mr. Willkie is elected.

Lewis G. Blessing, president, Bastian-Blessing company—The election of Mr. Willkie would bring capital out of hiding. More money would be invested in present companies and in new business ventures.

Edgar M. Queeny, president, Monsanto Chemical company, St. Louis—Every country in the world recovered from the 1932 depression except the United States. The only thing that kept us from prosperity was the New Deal's obstruction and abuse of business. If Mr. Willkie is elected, private enterprise again will be willing to venture.

Statements Show Significance.

Earlier this week statements were made by two of the country's outstanding industrial leaders that illustrated the significance business attaches to the outcome of the election.

Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of General Motors corporation, said the resumption of economic growth in the United States depended on the outcome of the election.

Philip D. Reed, chairman of the General Electric company, predicted that business will be unequal to the task of facing the readjustments that follow after the defense boom if a government hostile to business is in power.

Willkie to Win by 1½ Million, Hurja Predicts

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—Victory for Wendell L. Willkie by a majority of from 1½ to 5 million votes in the Presidential election on Tuesday was forecast tonight by Emil Hurja, former official of the Democratic national committee.

In a radio broadcast on the American Forum of the Air, Hurja said that Willkie will get more than 350 electoral votes. A total of 266 is necessary to win the election. Hurja was executive director of the Democratic national committee from 1932 to 1936 and accurately predicted the results of the 1932, 1934, and 1936 elections while he was political analyst for James A. Farley, former chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Hurja stated specifically yesterday that Mr. Willkie would get 353 electoral votes and Mr. Roosevelt 178 out of the total electoral college vote of 531.

He based his forecast on polls taken by his magazine, The Pathfinder.

Protest Gains Force.

"The forces of protest which have been evident in the length and breadth of the United States for at least six years, as shown by the decreasing Democratic election percentages between 1932 and 1934, 1934 and 1936, and then again in 1936 and 1938, are still moving," Hurja told the radio audience.

"Because of the very nature of this protest, the deep seated motivation behind it, and the further fact that I have taken extensive tests of the so-called doubtful voters, which even today approximate 10 per cent of the total, I believe that the vote, both popular and electoral, will be larger for Willkie than any of the polls have heretofore shown.

A Trend Like Niagara.

"While a majority of a million and a half to 3 million is definitely within the current picture, it can quite readily run to 4 and 5 million. And while the minimum necessary to elect is 266, I think Mr. Willkie could readily amass a total electoral vote of over 350. That's what the trend shows, and when a trend is running you might as well try to stop Niagara."

Nominee Rips Into Aims of the President

Wendell Willkie will address his final appeals to voters in three broadcasts today. He will be heard over WBBM and the entire Columbia network at 2:15 p. m. Chicago time, and over the same station and network from 9:15 to 10 p. m. His last message will be broadcast from 11 p. m. to midnight over W-G-N and Mutual, WMAQ and the NBC Red, WENR and the NBC Blue, and WBBM and Columbia networks.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Pictures on back page.)

New York, Nov. 3.—Wendell Willkie declared tonight that when elected President his first message to congress will recommend a constitutional amendment limiting the term of any one President to eight years or less.

After a quiet day, during which he attended services at the Episcopal Church of the Heavenly Rest, the Republican Presidential nominee replied in a statement to the Cleveland, O., speech of President Roosevelt last night.

Willkie questioned the good faith of the President. He raised the question of the difference between performance and promise. And he delivered an attack against Mr. Roosevelt's third term ambitions.

"At Least One Issue."

Willkie's statement declared that Mr. Roosevelt's speech had at last brought from the Chief Executive a reference to "at least one issue of this year's campaign."

"He would have us believe," Willkie added, "tho he doesn't expressly say it, that he will be content with just one more term. But if once our common law against a third term be repealed, there is no further law to restrain him or any of his successors, elected, hereditary, or appointed, from an indefinite number of terms.

"And that repeal of that law will be final. It can never be revoked. Never again can there be a tradition against as many terms as a President can take for himself."

Performance Versus Promise.

The President's speech, said Willkie, reminded him of "the old saying that an acre of performance is worth a whole land of promise."

Referring to President Roosevelt's dimly implied renunciation of a fourth term, Willkie said:

"People with however short memories recall that the terms of his prior renunciation of a third term were more definite than his recent obscure promise that he would not seek a fourth term. All of us recall that nearly four years ago, on Feb. 28, 1937, he talked of the time when he would leave the White House in January, 1941.

"But now he talks of leaving the White House on some subsequent and more remote date, and of the condition in which he hopes to leave the country then."

Willkie called attention to other broken promises of the President, and said:

"In view of the fact that within three months of his first assumption of power he broke the pledges which he had called 'solemn covenants with the people,' the fate of a renunciation of a fourth term based only on implication and indirection is certain."

In speaking of the President's pleas for unity, Willkie said:

"No man can bring about unity—or even put it together in a speech—if he follows generalization about unity by manufacturing discord. Unity is not achieved by classifying as an evil force the millions of people who now support me.

"Classifying the Evil."

"He further promotes discord by classifying among the evil forces, the leaders of labor, agriculture and industry, the former members of his administration, and the millions who equally oppose war or any other road to dictatorship, such as the third term.

"In opposition to this view, I have faith in the great mass of American people. Whatever the result, I shall maintain that faith even after election day, and shall not number imagined evil men by the millions."

NEW YORK SEEN HOLDING KEY IN CLOSE ELECTION

Candidates in Last Vote Drive Today.

Election Weather

Rain and falling temperatures are predicted for election day tomorrow by Forecaster Gordon E. Dunn. He said last night that there was some chance that the rain would stop in Chicago by noon, but that there would be general rain and colder weather thruout Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, and Iowa.

Chicago temperatures are expected to be in the middle 50's early tomorrow and dropping to the low 40's by nightfall.

Dunn said the storm bringing rain was located last night over Colorado, and that a cool air mass was coming in behind it.

Generally fair weather was the forecast for most of the country.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

While President Roosevelt and Mr. Willkie observed a Sabbath lull in campaign debate yesterday both the Republican and Democratic national organizations drove full steam ahead in the canvass for votes in the Presidential election tomorrow.

Both Mr. Willkie and Mr. Roosevelt will be heard tonight on the radio in final appeals to the voters, Mr. Roosevelt at 10 and Mr. Willkie at 9:15 and again at 11 o'clock, Chicago time. After that the decision will be in the laps of the voters in a plebiscite that will determine the destiny of our country.

New York, with 7 million registered voters and 47 electoral votes, is the principal battleground of the election. With little doubt remaining that the middle west and the plains states will plump preponderantly for Willkie, it appears to be a foregone conclusion that Mr. Roosevelt cannot win without New York, as Woodrow Wilson did in 1916.

New York May Decide.

Nor can Mr. Willkie expect to win without New York except in the event of a Republican landslide in which case he undoubtedly would get that state also. Thus it falls out that the probable winner of the election will be the candidate who carries New York.

That there is danger of the Democrats losing New York tomorrow was admitted yesterday by Chairman James A. Farley of the New York Democratic state committee. Farley urged upstate Democratic workers to "put forth every effort" on election day to hold down the upstate Republican plurality "to make certain that New York state will be in the Democratic column on election night." The danger is that the reduced prospective Democratic plurality in New York City will be overcome by the Republican plurality upstate.

Farley Expresses Concern.

"There never was a time during the years that have passed in the campaigns in which we have worked together where I have been more deeply concerned than at the present time for the success of the Democratic party in the state of New York," Mr. Farley telegraphed the upstate workers.

The contest in New York bears evidence of being the closest in a Presidential election in many years. Each side professes complete confidence of success, but privately does not expect to win the state by more than 100,000, compared with such thumping pluralities as Roosevelt's 600,000 in 1932 and 1,112,000 in 1936 and Coolidge's 870,000 in 1924. Hoover carried New York by 104,000 in 1928 and Democratic Gov. Herbert Lehman was reelected in 1938 by 65,000.

Close 1884 Race Recalled.

The most famous instance of a close vote in New York deciding a Presidential election was that of the Cleveland-Blaine contest in 1884. Cleveland carried New York by a plurality of 1,149 and won the election. But for the preference for Cleveland of 575 New York voters out of 12,043,603 citizens who, in the entire country went to the polls that year, James G. Blaine would have been President of the United States.

Burchard's famous "rum, Romanism, and rebellion" fling at the Democrats on the eve of election is popularly supposed to have cost Blaine New York's electoral vote and the Presidency. Cleveland had a minority of the national popular vote but a popular plurality of 62,683 and an electoral college majority of 37.

A close election this time so far as the popular vote is concerned is the prevailing expectation at Democratic as well as Republican national headquarters. The last close Presidential contest was that of 1916 in which Woodrow Wilson received a minority of the total popular vote but had a popular vote plurality of 591,385 over Charles E. Hughes and a majority of 23 in the electoral college.

California Tipped Scale.

It was California with 13 electoral votes that tipped the scales to Wilson. Hughes lost California, according to political tradition, because he failed to call on Gov. [now Senator] Hiram Johnson when they were both in the same Los Angeles hotel.

Hughes lost California by 3,806 votes. A change of 1,904 California votes out of the total of the 18½ millions cast in the nation would have made Hughes President.

The horse race in New York tomorrow will be between overwhelmingly Democratic New York City and the overwhelmingly Republican remainder of the state. Such has been the slump in the President's popularity that not even the most optimistic New Dealer expects the metropolis to run up anywhere near the 1,400,000 Roosevelt plurality in New York City four years ago.

Democratic national headquarters calculates it will be around 900,000 and that the Republicans will get less than 800,000 upstate. The Republican leaders are counting on not less than 800,000 upstate while conceding the Democrats only 700,000 in the greater city.

Edwin F. Jaeckle and Jane Todd, chairman and vice chairman of the Republican state committee, in a joint statement predicted last night that Wendell L. Willkie and the entire Republican ticket would carry New York state by "upwards of a quarter of a million votes."

Depends on Machines.

The President is depending on Boss Christy Sullivan of Tammany and Boss Ed Flynn of the Bronx, Democratic national chairman, to deliver enough votes to swamp Republican upstate New York. Tammany and the Bronx and Brooklyn Democratic machines are accomplished experts in vote stealing as is the O'Connell Democratic machine in Albany and they may be able to steal the election as they frequently have hitherto.

Tammany and the allied Democratic machines, however, are greatly handicapped in this election by the defection of large groups of normally Democratic voters, notably those of Italian stock and the Irish Catholics.

The Irish Catholics have deserted the President because they believe he is edging the country into war at the behest of England.

The Irish Catholics have manifested also intense resentment of the President's treatment of Farley, manager of Mr. Roosevelt's two successful campaigns for the Presidency. What alienated them more than anything else was the position taken by the President that it would be inexpedient to nominate Farley even for Vice President because he is a Catholic. Farley has not made a single speech for Mr. Roosevelt because he is opposed to a third term for any President.

Relies On Chicago Bosses.

In Illinois the President likewise is relying on bosses Ed Kelly and Pat Nash to deliver a sufficient plurality in Chicago to overcome the margin Willkie will have in the Republican remainder of the state.

Vote stealing has been notorious in this city for years.

Whether the President carries Missouri depends on whether the Pendergast machine in Kansas City and the St. Louis Democratic machine can deliver with anywhere near the precision of the past. The state is now doubtful.

The machine that has been less affected by the defections of important groups of Democratic voters and by measures to curb vote stealing is that of Boss Frank Hague of New Jersey, who is mayor of Jersey City.

Boss Hague so far has successfully defied the senate committee investigating election fraud charges in New Jersey. The Republican election commissioner in Hudson county [Jersey City] struck 40,000 illegally registered voters from the poll books. Hague has been getting them restored by judges he controls.

When Mr. Roosevelt recently visited New Jersey he and the boss were just two old cronies. The President called the boss Frank, and Hague called the President Frank as they rode side by side in the parade.

Britain is no more important to the United States as a first line of defense against Hitler than the reelection of Mr. Roosevelt and election of the Democratic candidate for governor of New Jersey is to Hague. That is Hague's first line of defense against prosecution for vote frauds, for both Mr. Willkie and Robert C. Hendrickson, the Republican candidate for governor, have declared that if elected they will endeavor to send the New Jersey boss to prison.

If the President carries New Jersey he will be indebted to the success of Hague in maintaining his voting machine intact in Hudson county.

Additional advices last night from various parts of the country indicated that the draft is an extremely important factor operating against Mr. Roosevelt in this election.

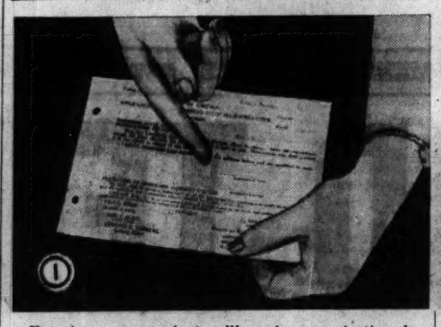
The theory is that the registration for the draft forcibly reminded every young man and his family that he was in line for conscription to fight in a war that Mr. Roosevelt might get the country into.

This is one of the factors to which is ascribed a marked change in the political situation in the state of Washington in the last two weeks. Before the draft registration Republican leaders had been disposed to accord Washington's 8 electoral votes to Roosevelt. Now on the eve of the voting the state is admitted by the Democratic leaders to be doubtful.

The influence of John L. Lewis with the miners is an important reason for the belief that Willkie may carry West Virginia. In Maryland defection of Democrats on the third term issue puts the state in the doubtful column, altho the President may carry it by a small plurality.

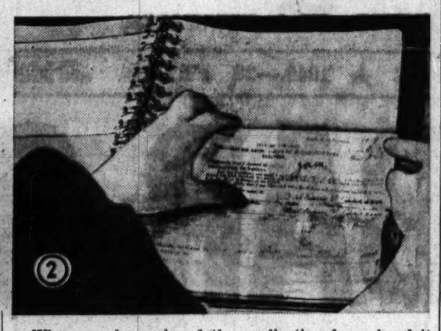
In California the draft and Senator Hiram Johnson's indorsement of Willkie are said to be influences militating against Roosevelt. California still is regarded as a doubtful state.

How to Vote Properly in Tomorrow's Election



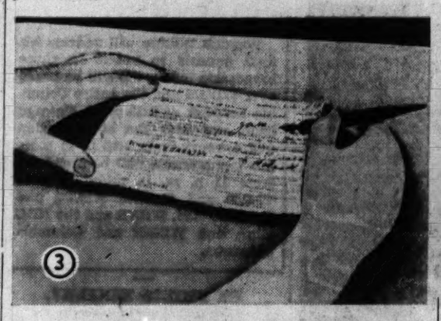
Entering your precinct polling place on election day, you should immediately ask for and receive a blank form with the title, "Application for Ballot—Certificate of Registered Voter," printed near the upper left hand corner. Sign this form and write in your address in the proper place.

The only exception to this procedure is when the voter cannot sign his name. Then the judge or clerk must write in the voter's name and the voter must make his mark. If the voter is unable to write his address, a judge or clerk may fill out this part of the card. Official instructions of the board of election commissioners emphasize these are the ONLY exceptions.



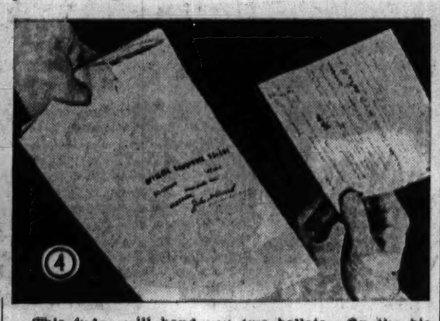
When you have signed the application form, hand it back to the judge, who will then compare the signature on the form with your signature on your permanent registration card in the precinct file. This establishes your qualifications as a voter and your right to a ballot in the national election.

In case a voter has made only his mark, according to the election commissioners, he should be questioned by the polling place officials for the purpose of identifying him as the voter whose card is in the file. This should be done by noting various detailed information, including a physical description, on the reverse side of the permanent registration card.



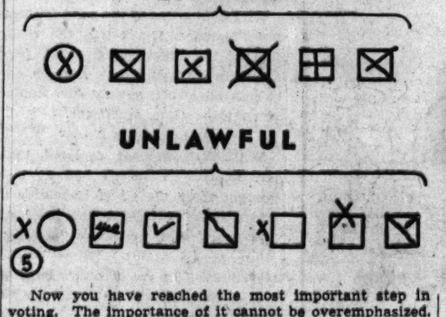
As soon as the judges have determined that your signature on the form matches your signature in the permanent registration file, your right to vote has been established automatically. One judge is required to signify approval of your application by jotting his initials on a dotted line for that purpose about a third of the way from the top of the form on the right hand side.

This judge will hand back to you the signed and initialed application form. Thus you will know you have completed all the necessary preliminaries toward securing ballots for voting in the election. Next you hand the form to another of the judges who is in charge of the ballots.



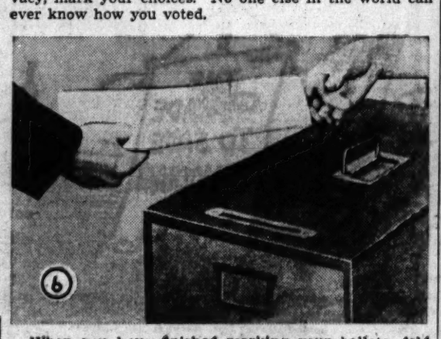
This judge will hand you two ballots. On the big ballot you will vote for your choices among all the candidates running for national, state, and county offices, including President, Vice President, senator, governor, etc. There is also a space in the upper left corner for voting "yes" or "no" on a proposed banking amendment to the Illinois constitution. The little ballot is for use in voting for judges of the Municipal court.

You should make sure that the judge in charge of the ballots initials both ballots in your presence. The initials should be on the reverse side somewhere below the printed matter. Initialing ballots, remember, is one of the important ways in which vote frauds are prevented. Having secured your ballots, you enter a polling booth, close the curtain behind you, and, in perfect privacy, mark your choices. No one else in the world can ever know how you voted.



Now you have reached the most important step in voting. The importance of it cannot be overemphasized. The manner in which you mark your ballot is the final determination as to whether it will be counted. The illustration above is taken from the election board instructions to its polling place officials and shows examples of how to mark ballots correctly, compared with examples of unlawful markings which will not be counted. As the drawings show, the marking must be a cross within the circle or square.

Use pencil or your fountain pen. A pen is a good way to foil the short pencil vote cheaters, but you should be sure to blot the ink. A ballot on which ink is smeared may be thrown out. If you spoil your ballot ask for another. The judges must give you a fresh one, after destroying your first one. This is one of the instructions of County Judge Jarecki to the election board.



When you have finished marking your ballots, fold them before leaving the booth. Be sure no one can see how they have been marked. The folding should be done so the initials of the election judge are plainly visible. Then walk out of the booth and hand the two folded ballots to the election judge at the ballot box.

No one except judges is permitted to stuff ballots in the box. You should, however, stand by until you have seen the ballots disappear thru the slot. If you have followed these instructions, with particular attention to the manner in which you marked your choices, there is no doubt that your vote will be counted.

Regardless of how you voted in the primary, you may vote any way you please in this election. All opposing candidates for the same offices are on the same ballots.

ALD. M'DERMOTT DEFIES FIGHTERS FOR CLEAN VOTE

Judge Edward B. Casey, head of the Vote Fraud Fighters' alliance. This organization will put watchers into the 16 wards which in past elections have rolled up 90 to 95 per cent Democratic pluralities.

"If any one still has any doubts as to the kind of motive that animates the Kelly-Nash machine, all he needs to do is read the statement of County Judge Jarecki when he was running for renomination in the 1938 primary against the machine."

At that time Judge Jarecki said, "The Kelly-Nash machine is attempting the greatest vote steal over conceived in the history of Cook county. I never have seen such a frantic and organized effort to put over a gigantic vote fraud and vote thievery as is now being perpetrated by Kelly and Nash."

At Least 2 Watchers Per Precinct.

Glen Lloyd and Albert J. Meserow, members of the Joint Civic committee's executive board, said there will be at least two watchers to each precinct in 31 of the city's 50 wards tomorrow. These watchers will be armed with challengers' credentials and they will be backed up by trouble shooting squads in case they are met with strong arm tactics.

Wade Fetzer Jr., co-chairman of the Business Men's 1940 election committee, said the photographic evidence of fraud will be obtained by special camera squads from the Vote Fraud Fighters' alliance and the Illinois Volunteer Committee to Stop Vote Frauds. The evidence will be turned over on Wednesday to Judge Jarecki.

1ST WARD TO GET ELECTION LESSON IN CIVIC DECENCY

500 Fraud Fighters Will Patrol Voting Places.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Battle lines were drawn yesterday for a real contest in the 1st ward tomorrow, a contest which will be in the nature of a great civic experiment. At stake are 10,000 votes.

The First Ward.

Pitted against corruptionists and intrenched followers of Ald. Michael Kenna [Hinky Dink], the Nittl syndicate, and the Kelly-Nash machine will be a new type of foe. It consists of clear eyed, intelligent, energetic, respectable, purposeful, and determined young men.

Some 500 of them will descend on the 1st ward tomorrow to prevent fraudulent voting, dishonest counting, ballot manipulation or the buying of votes. They announced themselves ready for this test: "Can an election be conducted honestly in the 1st ward?"

City's "Oldest Offender."

"If we can stop ballot thievery in the 1st ward we can stop it anywhere," explained Wade Fetzer Jr., chairman of one of the antifraud groups. "The 1st ward is the city's oldest offender against civic decency."

Bernard S. Black, an executive of a printing and engraving plant, is captain of the 1st ward forces of the Chicago Business Men's 1940 Election committee.

James S. Shannon, an attorney, is the ward leader of the Vote Fraud Fighters' alliance. English Walling, a banker, has charge of the antifraud workers for the Joint Civic Committee on Elections.

Miss Jane Nelson has charge of the woman's department of the 1st ward antifraud campaigners.

Forces Are Merged.

Black and Shannon have merged their forces and have a headquarters at 502 South Wells street. Walling's workers report to him at 105 South La Salle street.

The Black and Shannon workers intend to use all lawful means to prevent the 1st ward Democratic organization from stealing or buying votes. Walling's aids are to seek evidence on which prosecutions may be based, and Black, in 40 speeches in the ward, pledged the services of his men in testifying and following thru on any and all prosecutions arising from this election.

"In the mayoral election of 1939 the 1st ward Democrats gave their candidate a plurality of 10,000," said Black. "We know they stole more than 5,000 votes to get that result."

10 Men for Each Precinct.

Attorney Shannon last night announced that his and Black's groups will have at least 10 men at each of the 32 polling places in the ward on election day. The Joint Civic committee will have at least four men to a precinct.

Every person who votes will be closely scrutinized. Many will be photographed. The judges and clerks will be under close observation every minute of the day.

All Are Volunteers.

The men who will report tomorrow to Ward Captains Black, Shannon, and Walling are all volunteers and all have been schooled in what to watch for and how to proceed against vote crooks. They will work in relays and will cooperate in every way.

"The outcome of the voting—and the counting—in the 1st ward is of importance to the entire nation," said Attorney Shannon. "One rotten borough can ruin a democracy, so this ward must not be allowed to continue to trade stolen votes for gambling privileges.

"The honest citizens of Chicagoland are up in arms and they must win their fight. The 1st ward is going to have an honest election if we can bring it about."

Wife Puts Roach Powder in Pancakes; Couple Die

Robert H. Keller, 50 years old, 2723 Monroe street, an elevator operator, and his wife, Theresa, 42, died yesterday in Bethany hospital evidently from effects of a roach powder eaten by mistake. Warren avenue police said Mrs. Keller prepared pancakes and used the roach powder from a container similar to that in which she kept pancake flour.

Ballot for Municipal Judges

Below appears facsimile of the separate ballot for municipal judges, with symbols added for guidance of voters. These symbols, S, F, and B, of course do not appear on tomorrow's ballot. S indicates a sitting judge; F indicates former judge; B indicates recommendation by the Chicago Bar association. The Bar association in its poll also indorsed Thomas J. Courtney, Democrat, for state's attorney over Judge Oscar F. Nelson, Republican, by 1,467 votes to 472.

LEGAL BATTERY TO HELP GUARD INDIANA POLLS

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 3 [Special].—Twenty-one Indianapolis attorneys, their forces bulwarked by a statewide array of party and professional associates, will assemble on Tuesday at Republican state headquarters here to stand by and be ready to act on any reports of election irregularities in Indiana.

Edwin Steers Sr.

"This battery of legal talent," announced Edwin Steers Sr., chairman of the Indiana election fraud committee, "comprises our main line of defense against possible law violations in what may prove to be Indiana's heaviest voting election."

Elsewhere thruout the state, other attorneys, designated as special representatives, will be in position to supervise the voting vigil. Their activity will be gauged by the volume of complaints emanating from the many counties in which more than 3,000 Republicans, independent voters, and Willkie club members will be prepared to report any irregularities at the polls.

NEARBY COUNTIES WAIT AVALANCHE OF G. O. P. VOTES

Regard Democratic Cause as Hopeless.

Harry A. Hall.

Predictions were made yesterday that all the Illinois counties in the Chicago suburban area will, without exception, sweep their Republican county tickets into office. The Democratic cause is regarded as hopeless in four of the counties—Lake, Kane, Du Page, and McHenry—and dubious in Will and Kankakee.

William M. Marks, Lake county Republican chairman, said he expected a record vote of 60,000, and G. O. P. majorities of 12,000 to 15,000. The county has elected only one Democratic officeholder since the civil war.

Harry A. Hall, one time Illinois football star, is the Republican nominee for state's attorney, and is opposed by Charles Noll. Hall, a Waukegan attorney, is president of the Lake County Bar association.

Other G. O. P. Nominees.

Other Republican nominees are: Robert J. Pearsall, auditor; Howard Scott, recorder; L. J. Wilmot, Circuit court clerk, and Dr. John L. Taylor, coroner. Opposing them are these Democrats: Edward F. Klammer, auditor; Fred A. Galiger, recorder; James E. Powers, Circuit court clerk, and Orville Lane, coroner. Lane, despite his candidacy, is campaigning for Willkie as a No Third Term Democrat.

Political experts in Kane county believe that the Republican nominees for county office will get at least a two to one vote over their Democratic opponents. They also expect a record vote turnout of more than 65,000. This county has elected only two Democrats to county places in 50 years.

Republican nominees are: State's attorney, Charles G. Seidel; Circuit court clerk, Charles F. Farmiloe; recorder, M. H. Agnew; auditor, George A. Chapman, and coroner, L. Victor Peterson. The Democratic slate filed by the county committee is: For state's attorney, John T. Vincent; Circuit court clerk, John D. Mettler; recorder, Earl L. Haag; auditor, Walter G. Earll, and coroner, Fred H. Popp Jr. Popp is a state highway policeman.

Only One Democratic Candidate.

In McHenry county the Democratic prospects are so gloomy that only one candidate of the party is running—Albert Billepp for Circuit court clerk. He is opposed by the Republican incumbent, William T. Conn. State's Attorney William M. Carroll for reelection, and Harry L. Ehorn for coroner are the unopposed Republican candidates.

Enthusiastic Republican guesses on the party majority in Du Page county run up to three to one and better, with at least 40,000 Republicans voting. Russell W. Keeney, retiring state's attorney, is expected to win the county judgeship from Anton Ziegweid, and Lee Daniels is regarded the winner for state's attorney over Edgar Elliott, Democrat.

Other Du Page G. O. P. nominees are: Coroner, Paul Isherwood; recorder, Lawrence Hattendorf; Circuit court clerk, Robert M. Haenisch, and auditor, Robert E. Bradlee. Democratic nominees are: Coroner, Walter Krawulski; recorder, Vernon R. Thornton; Circuit court clerk, Val W. Streit, and auditor, John Z. Pezia.

Seek to Oust Democrats.

Will county Republicans expect to displace several incumbent Democrats. Republican nominees are: James E. Burke, incumbent, for state's attorney; Robert L. Spreitzer for recorder; Paul V. Wunder Jr. for Circuit court clerk; Herman C. Grassle for auditor, and Dr. Elwood A. Kingston for coroner. Democrats running are: Francis J. Loughran, state's attorney; Thomas V. Brennan, recorder; John R. Barney, Circuit court clerk; William J. Barrett, incumbent auditor, and Dr. Londus B. Brannon, incumbent coroner.

In Kankakee county one Democratic nominee was conceded a chance for victory. He is State's Attorney Samuel H. Shapiro, whose record as a prosecutor has been excellent. He is opposed for reëlection by Joseph Tolson, Republican. The other Democratic candidates—George Odette, tavern owner, for Circuit court clerk, and Clarence Lock, for coroner—are destined, in Republican opinion, for defeat. Their G. O. P. opponents are Albert Tetrault for clerk and Edward Madison for coroner.

G. O. P. Hopeful in Indiana.

In Lake county, Indiana, regarded as a Democratic stronghold, Republicans were hopeful of winning a few county offices. One of the Democratic weak spots, it was said, was the candidacy of County Prosecutor Felix Kaul, for reëlection, who has failed to bring to trial any of a dozen defendants indicted for relief frauds two years ago. Virgil Whitaker, Hammond attorney, is the Republican nominee.

Another Indiana county, La Porte, is regarded as close, and the G. O. P. forces are confident of taking several county offices.

DR. UNION S. WARD.

New York, Nov. 3 (AP).—Dr. Union S. Ward, 78 years old, a physician, arrested on a gun charge at Madison Square Garden last night during the Republican rally at which Wendell Willkie spoke, was released in $500 bail today pending grand jury action.

Charged with violating the Sullivan antifirearms law, Dr. Ward, wearing a large Willkie button on his coat, was arraigned in Felony court and waived examination.

He was arrested 20 feet from where Willkie stood on a platform waving to the thousands packed into the Garden. In his pocket was a .32 caliber revolver loaded with five catridges, but detectives said his firing pin was faulty and that the weapon was harmless. In his apartment police found two other loaded guns which, they said, Dr. Ward admitted owning for his protection.

CHARGES RELIEF CUT HITS NEGRO G. O. P. BACKERS

Charges that the relief allowances of many colored voters on the south side have been cut, apparently because they have made it known they will vote Republican, were made yesterday by Charles O. Rundall, president of the Associated Willkie Clubs of Illinois. He cited the case of Moses Beavers, 57 years old, 6030 South Racine avenue.

On Oct. 21, according to a sworn affidavit in Rundall's possession, Beavers posted a Dwight H. Green sign in his window. Four days later, he said, he was visited by a woman investigator from the Chicago Relief administration.

She told Beavers according to the affidavit that his relief allowance of $15 would be reduced to $7. She offered no explanation except that he didn't appear to need more than $7, Rundall said. Beavers, according to Rundall, has been unable to work since he was injured on a WPA job.

BROOKS APPEALS FOR REBIRTH OF AMERICAN FAITH

Freedom Periled, G. O. P. Nominee Warns.

Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for United States senator, appealed in a radio speech last night for the rebuilding of American faith and American courage.

Both Brooks and Dwight H. Green, candidate for governor, along with the other nominees on the state ticket, spent a busy final Sunday altho the nature of the day eliminated some of the forceful attacks they have been making on their opponents on weekdays. They addressed eight meetings, chiefly on the south side.

Brooks also kept his radio talk on the high plane of patriotism, mentioning first the freedom of worship guaranteed by the constitution, and the threat to it presented by the possibility of approval by he people of a new form of philosophy of government.

"Face World Gone Mad," Says Brooks.

"As we face the future," he said, "we must realize that we face a different future than any generation of Americans has ever faced. We face a world gone mad, with dictators armed to the teeth, with modern, mechanized machines of war threatening to wipe out liberty across the face of the earth.

"We must rebuild a faith in our ability to go forward, to build, invent, work, and enjoy more and more as the years go by. To do this we must choose a new leadership in America.

"We must choose leaders who will not try to circumvent the moral judgment of the people of America. We must choose leaders who will not attempt to pack the courts of America thru which the conscience of the American people may find unpolluted expression.

Warns on Coercion of Congress.

"We must choose leaders who will not deliberately attempt to coerce and control our congress. We must choose leaders who will not violate all of the sacred traditions of America for the purpose of gaining personal power. We must choose leaders who understand that the American government must not stifle or stop the American business system.

"The American government and the American business system are the twin sons born of Columbia. They are essential to each other. Weak in the beginning, they have sustained each other and both have become great. When either seeks to completely dominate or control the other, they both will die."

Before starting his round of meetings, Green called on former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, who is a patient in St. Luke's hospital. Several of his meetings after that were of colored voters and to them he stressed his previous declaration that defeat of the Democrats does not mean the end of federal aid to the needy.

FOUND DEAD; WRISTS SLASHED.

Rudolph Brasda, 48 years old, a factory worker, was found with his wrists slashed yesterday in his home at 1814 South Lawndale avenue. Police said he had been dead about three days.

NEW YORK POLL ON PRESIDENCY A VIRTUAL TIE

New York, Nov. 3 [Special].—Final figures in the New York News' Presidential poll indicate that the race for New York's 47 electoral votes will be virtually a photo finish. Percentages are: Roosevelt, 50.068; Willkie, 49.932.

The hair-breadth difference of less than one-seventh of 1 per cent separates the two candidates in the 54,991 straw ballots collected.

Detailed final figures show:

For Roosevelt—Upstate, including Long Island, 10,161 straws; New York City, 17,726; state-wide total, 27,887.

For Willkie—Upstate, including Long Island, 16,472 straws; New York City, 10,632; state-wide total, 27,104.

Roosevelt's margin, therefore, in the 54,991 straws is 783.

The Republican nominee, the straws revealed, is an overwhelming favorite upstate and on Long Island while the President is the choice of New York City. Willkie took every upstate county—except Albany—with a percentage of 63.0.

FEAR ROOSEVELT PLANS TO 'DRAFT' ALL U. S. WEALTH

Josh Lee's Money Bill 'on Call' in Senate.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—The re-election of President Roosevelt, in the opinion of informed members of congress, would result in an attempt to resuscitate the money drafting plan sponsored by Senator Josh Lee [D., Okla.].

New Dealers have sought to soft-pedal this probability. The Lee bill has been denounced by financial experts as a breeder of economic chaos and confusion if it should become law. But the measure is generally recognized as one of the grants of superpower which Mr. Roosevelt will seek if he is returned to office.

The bill has been lying on the senate calendar since it was reported favorably, 12 to 2, by the senate military affairs committee in May, 1939.

Early Action Possible.

There remain nearly two months of the present session for the administration to exert pressure in behalf of the bill's passage. If Mr. Roosevelt should be reelected but the house go Republican [a recognized possibility] it is expected that a mighty effort will be made to get congressional action while the present Democratic majority in the house still exists.

Economists have dismissed the bill as one of the most mischievous crackpot proposals ever put before congress. Yet it gained the senate committee's approval and it is in a position to be brought before both houses if Mr. Roosevelt gets another "mandate," even by a bare majority.

The bill provides that whenever congress declares war or declares "that the imminence of war has created an emergency which in the judgment of the President is sufficiently serious to necessitate an increase in the military establishment by the drafting of man power," the President shall cause to be taken a census of the net wealth of every person in the United States.

Draft Bill Holds Key.

As a result of passage of the conscription bill, it was noted that this phraseology would permit the Lee measure to go into force immediately upon its enactment.

The net wealth of every person in excess of $1,000 would be subject under the bill to the borrowing power of the government in graduated portions, ranging from 5 per cent of wealth in excess of $1,000 to 75 per cent of sums above 100 million.

Representative amounts available to the government would be $450 on $10,000, $9,450 on $100,000, $81,950 on $500,000, $206,950 on $1,000,000, $4,331,950 on $10,000,000, $64,456,950 on $100,000,000, and $75,000,000 on fortunes in excess of $100,000,000.

The secretary of the treasury would determine the amount of money needed from time to time and the President would pro rate among individuals the sums they were required to "invest." In exchange they would receive government bonds, payable at the option of the government, but not due until 50 years, bearing interest of 1 per cent and not tax exempt.

Senator Lee has estimated that the bill would make available the astronomical amount of 350 billion dollars for war purposes, to be spent by the President without any limitation whatever.

A committee minority report on the bill signed by Senators Styles Bridges [R., N. H.], Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.], and Chan Gurney [R., S. D.], declared:

"Without doubt, adoption of this proposed legislation would cause in the event of war a severe and drastic economic disturbance. As a breeder of economic chaos and confusion in the critical period at the beginning of American entry into a general war, this measure would thus seriously impede and hamper the prosecution of such a conflict to a successful conclusion, probably prolonging it and adding to the loss of life."

Violates Law

A demand on state civil service employés to kick in to the downstate Democratic war chest, in violation of laws designed to protect civil service workers, was revealed in Chicago last night.

The demand was revealed by a young woman who holds a temporary civil service job in the state armory building in Sprignfield. She lives in Chicago when she is not in Springfield. Her legal residence, however, is near Clinton, in De Witt county.

On Saturday she received, in Chicago, a letter forwarded from the state armory in Springfield. It was from the Democratic Central committee of De Witt county, her home county. It stated:

"We expect a donation of $18 at once."

The letter was signed "H. M. Hildreth, director of organization." It was dated Oct. 29. Hildreth is vice chairman of the committee. The chairman is Felix E. Wilson. The young woman, whose name is not disclosed, less than two weeks ago received a letter from the same committee demanding her appearance at a Democratic rally, another violation of the civil service laws.

POLITICAL BILLS BRING PROTESTS FROM RELIEFERS

Chicago reliefers complained yesterday that political broadsides carrying the names of President Roosevelt and Mayor Kelly are being distributed at relief stations by the American Security union. The union was formed a few months ago to support demands of reliefers and WPA workers. David Lasser, former president of the Workers' alliance, is president.

The advertising distributed at the relief stations by union members on the eve of election ostensibly calls reliefers and WPA workers to a mass-meeting at 333 North avenue tonight. In large type, near the top, however, is carried the statement that the union is indorsed by President Roosevelt and Mayor Kelly. Mayor Kelly addressed the union at its organization meeting.

"Winter is almost here!" say the handbills. "Have you all your winter needs? Do you know what you can get? Don't wait too long. Find out and get your needs now."

Duck Hunters and Missing Motor Boat Return to Port

The Beverly Jane, a 35 foot motor launch for which Chicago and Milwaukee coast guard cutters had searched since Saturday was returned yesterday under its own power to Kenosha, Wis. The boat, with its owner, Norris Fink of Kenosha and another man aboard, left Kenosha Friday for Milwaukee. The two had been duck hunting, the coastguardsmen said.

LABOR WILL PUT WILLKIE OVER, SAYS J. L. LEWIS

He Predicts Victory for G. O. P. Nominee.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—John L. Lewis, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, tonight confidently predicted that Wendell Willkie will be elected President of the United States on Tuesday.

Mrs. William E. Borah

Lewis recently announced his support of Willkie in a dramatic radio address in which he forcefully declared that the reelection of Mr. Roosevelt would be a "national evil of the first magnitude" and urged all segments of the American people to vote for the Republican nominee.

In a statement issued from his headquarters here tonight, Lewis said that the labor vote will decide the election on Tuesday and expressed firm belief that the ranks of labor will support his leadership in recommending the election of Willkie. Lewis has declared that he will resign as head of the C. I. O. if President Roosevelt is reelected.

Green Urges: Vote!

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, also issued a statement, but it merely urged members of the A. F. of L. to get out and vote on Tuesday.

Additional support for Willkie came tonight from the widow of the late Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, dean of the senate at the time of his death. If Senator Borah were alive today, said Mrs. Borah in a statement issued here, he would most certainly support Willkie and Senator Charles L. McNary in opposition to the third term and "our present drift toward war."

"He was opposed to a third term for any President," said Mrs. Borah. "I recall that he said in the senate, speaking in 1928 of the resolution against a third term, 'the Democrats would be strikingly inconsistent if they did not vote for this resolution. It is the Democratic doctrine; it originated with Thomas Jefferson. It has been one of the cardinal principles of the Democratic party from its origin to this time.'

"I hope that Americans who believe in the same things for which Senator Borah stood so vigorously will vote for Wendell Willkie."

She said of Willkie and McNary that "they alone can check our present drift toward war."

Lewis' Statement.

The statement by Lewis was as follows:

"Labor will decide the election on Tuesday. Labor will determine whether it is capable of following its own developed and elected leadership, or whether it will accept the temporary leadership of an erratic, warmongering politician.

"The issues are joined. Labor can sustain or cut down its own leadership. I have confidence in the result. Wendell Willkie will be elected.

"The men and women of labor will not let America down in an hour of peril to its free institutions and the future of its citizens.

"At every moment of crisis in the past history of the nation, the people have acted wisely thru their ballot. I am confident they will do the same on Tuesday."

HOODLUM BANDS HURL INSULTS ON WILLKIE BACKERS

Prelection terrorism and violence broke the Sunday calm yesterday as bands of hoodlums roved thru the city in what Republican leaders charged was a campaign to intimidate citizens working in behalf of Wendell L. Willkie, G. O. P. Presidential nominee.

A young Austin mother was forced to the curb in her car and warned to remove a Willkie shield from the machine and to take down a Willkie poster in her home. The woman, whose name is unannounced because of her fear of possible subsequent attack, told, in her home west of Garfield park, how four young men halted her at Washington and Sacramento boulevards, gave the threatening orders to remove the Willkie signs, and then sped away in their own car.

Republican precinct captains in the 4th, 28th, and 43d wards reported rotten eggs, tomatoes, and mud had been thrown at their homes, where Willkie pictures were displayed.

Similar attacks also were reported from Gary where windows bearing Willkie pictures were smashed with stones.

6 Warships Leave U. S. for Return to Hawaii

San Pedro, Cal., Nov. 3 (AP).—Three battleships and three cruisers sailed last night for Hawaii after a two weeks' stay to give enlisted men and officers shore leave and to take on recruits. This was the second detachment of warships stationed in the Hawaiian area to visit here during the past 30 days.

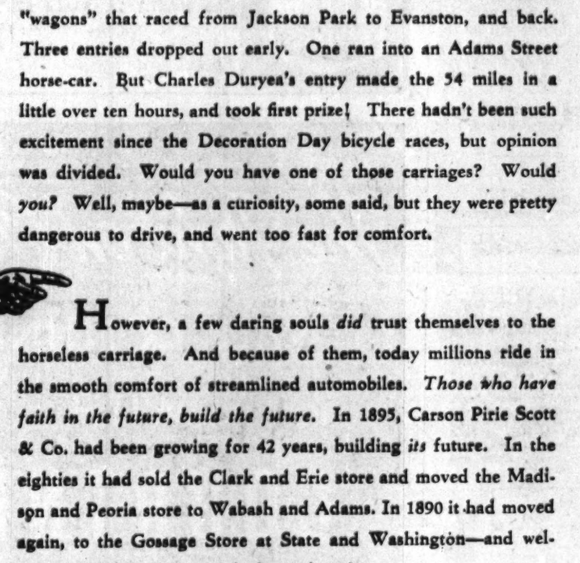
Fourth of a Series Celebrating Our 86th Anniversary Sale Beginning Today



YOU EXPECT THAT TO REPLACE THE HORSE AND BUGGY? NONSENSE!

On Thanksgiving Day of '95, thousands of Chicagoans braved the biting cold to watch the big Motorcycle Contest and the six "wagons" that raced from Jackson Park to Evanston, and back. Three entries dropped out early. One ran into an Adams Street horse-car. But Charles Duryea's entry made the 54 miles in a little over ten hours, and took first prize! There hadn't been such excitement since the Decoration Day bicycle races, but opinion was divided. Would you have one of those carriages? Would you? Well, maybe—as a curiosity, some said, but they were pretty dangerous to drive, and went too fast for comfort.

However, a few daring souls did trust themselves to the horseless carriage. And because of them, today millions ride in the smooth comfort of streamlined automobiles. Those who have faith in the future, build the future. In 1895, Carson Pirie Scott & Co. had been growing for 42 years, building its future. In the eighties it had sold the Clark and Erie store and moved the Madison and Peoria store to Wabash and Adams. In 1890 it had moved again, to the Gossage Store at State and Washington—and welcomed World's Fair crowds from that site.

3D TERM MAIN ISSUE IN G. O. P. DOWNSTATE TIDE

New Deal Foreign Policy Also Potent Factor.

BY PARKE BROWN.

The big issues that have made downstate Illinois so heavily Republican that the state probably will be in the Willkie column, according to veteran correspondents, have been the third term question and the issues growing out of the war situation.

Other subjects such as the New Deal farm policy have played an important part in some sections, the mounting national debt has had a general influence, and continued failure to solve the unemployment problem has swayed some voters, these correspondents say, but they have been secondary to the two main causes of a promised return to the big downstate majorities recorded prior to 1932.

Tide Heavily Turned.

Reporting regularly on their counties and districts during the last three weeks, these correspondents of THE TRIBUNE are almost unanimous in finding that the tradition against more than two terms for a President and the foreign policies of the last two years have turned the tide heavily Republican.

Nearly all of the reports also state that a record breaking total vote will be cast—that the registration is the heaviest ever seen.

Here are brief excerpts from some of the reports from northern county seats:

ELGIN—Most often those returning to the G. O. P. speak of the third term.

Elliott's Captaincy Cited.

STERLING—The third term, Elliott Roosevelt's appointment as a captain, and opposition in general to New Deal policies are influencing the trend.

DE KALB—The war issue and the third term issue predominate. The feeling is that Roosevelt has become too involved in Europe to escape the war and that the only hope is to elect Willkie.

GALESBURG—The draft and belief that Willkie will keep the nation out of war seem more important in the trend than the third term idea.

WATSEKA—The trend away from Roosevelt is based upon disapproval of his foreign policies and on the spending-borrowing program.

Reports from Central Section.

Brevities from reports from the central section of the state follow:

MACOMB—Possibly the appointment of Elliott Roosevelt to a captaincy has had more political effect than some of the hotly debated issues.

STREATOR—The third term, the draft, Roosevelt's loose spending, his attempt to pack the Supreme court, Elliott's appointment to a captaincy, Roosevelt's failure to get more of the unemployed back to work—all these are losing the President support.

JACKSONVILLE—Many Democrats are wearing "No Third Term" buttons. The third term and continued reckless spending are the issues most discussed. Farmers are divided on the Wallace farm program.

Stay-at-Homes to Vote.

PEORIA—Four years ago there were 17,000 stay-at-homes in the Peoria area. They didn't want to vote for Roosevelt, nor did they want to vote for Landon. Republicans feel that this number, or at least 85 per cent of it, will go to the polls and most of them will go for Willkie.

DANVILLE—Democrats are splitting on the third term, and this and the nation's apparent nearness to war are factors in the campaign. Many Jeffersonian Democrats have signified their intention to vote for Willkie.

DECATUR—Sentiment against a third term for President Roosevelt may prove the deciding factor that will put Macon county on the Republican side.

CHAMPAIGN—Many farmers heretofore strong supporters of the Democratic party are switching to the Republican party this year as they realize that for every dollar they receive in AAA payments, they are giving a dollar or more in return.

BLOOMINGTON—War and the third term are still the main issues.

Reports from Southern Area.

Here are brief statements from the southern third of the state:

CARLINVILLE—Chief elements in favor of Willkie are the antithird term sentiment, criticism of the WPA, and the government debt.

HARRISBURG—Democrats, chiefly young men, say they will vote for Willkie and their families will go the same way. They base their decision on the lack of opportunity for young men to get ahead under the New Deal.

CAIRO—The leading issues here are the third term, conscription, and the farm program.

Appeals for Votes

Joe Louis, the heavyweight champion, speaking at south side rally yesterday, where he made election talk for Willkie.

Thousands of Chicago Negroes heard Joe Louis, the heavyweight champion, tell yesterday why he will vote for Wendell L. Willkie. Louis received a tumultuous welcome in a caravan tour thru the city.

At the Parkway ballroom, 4455 South Park way, he told 5,000 persons jammed in the hall and crowded around loudspeakers outside, that "Willkie is the candidate who will do the most for the Negro. Vote the straight Republican ticket," he urged. "Don't take any chances on losing your vote because the ballot is improperly marked." Louis and his party were delayed two hours by enthusiastic crowds in Gary, where he spoke before coming to Chicago. He went to Detroit, Mich., late yesterday.

Congressman Arthur W. Mitchell, colored, Democrat, charged at a first ward rally that Republicans "paid money to Louis to support Willkie." He added that "Louis' only strength is in his fist."

PRESIDENT WILL END CAMPAIGN IN HUDSON VALLEY

Plans to Hear Returns in Boyhood Home.

President Roosevelt will address his final words to voters tonight during a two hour broadcast, sponsored by the Democratic national committee, between 9 and 11 o'clock Chicago time. This broadcast will run the full two hours over W-G-N-Mutual, WMAQ and both NBC networks, but only from 10 to 11 on WBBM-CBS. Mr. Roosevelt will be heard between 10 and 11 p. m.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Aboard Presidential Special, Nov. 3.—President Roosevelt will close his bid for a third term with a sentimental campaign journey tomorrow thru the sections of the Hudson river valley in which he was born and reared.

Altho his campaign was closed officially last night with his fifth political speech at Cleveland, Ohio, where he asked for votes for a third term on the implied promise he will not run for a fourth term, Mr. Roosevelt decided to end his part in the 1940 Presidential race by electioneering in his homeland.

The President left Washington tonight, 11 hours after his arrival from Ohio, for his mother's home. He will arrive at Hyde Park tomorrow morning and motor around in search of votes among his neighbors, who never have supported him for President.

Swayed by Superstition.

The decision to electioneer in his home section of New York state was made not in the hope of capturing the counties but in deference to superstition—Mr. Roosevelt wound up his 1932 and 1936 campaigns in this fashion. He will tour Dutchess county, his home county; Putman county to the south on the east bank of the Hudson, and Ulster and Orange counties on the west bank.

Tonight Mr. Roosevelt issued a statement in which he urged all qualified voters to cast their ballots on Tuesday, and directed that all employés of the federal government be given time off from their official duties to vote.

Monday night he will address the nation by radio from the library of his family home.

Tuesday morning Mr. Rooseelt will go to the frame town hall of his native village to cast his vote.

Plans Hinge on Returns.

On election night he will receive returns in his mother's home, surrounded by members of his family, close friends and official associates.

Plans for his return to Washington hang on the result of the election. If he is victorious, Mr. Roosevelt probably will rest a day before returning to the White House.

If his third term drive meets with defeat—an eventuality which has the White House staff frankly worried—he probably will start back Wednesday night.

BEG YOUR PARDON

A story in yesterday's TRIBUNE said Gov. Stelle omitted mention of President Roosevelt's third term candidacy in a political speech in Carmi, Ill., Saturday night. The sentence should have read "Stelle lauded the third term candidacy." The error was made in telegraphic transmission.

G. O. P. NOMINEES EXPECTED TO WIN VETERANS' VOTES

Service Records Cited by Willkie Campaigner.

Edward F. McGinnis, former Cook county commander of the American Legion and national director of the Willkie War Veterans' National committee, composed of world war and Spanish-American war veterans organized in 45 states, said last night that the service records of the Republican candidates on the national and state tickets would command a huge veterans' vote in the election tomorrow.

Republican candidates for President, for governor of Illinois, and for United States senator from Illinois all served in 1917-1918. Democratic candidates for President, Vice President, governor, and senator had no service records.

Vets to Compare Records: McGinnis.

"Veterans are sure to draw comparisons between the third term candidate and his cohorts who held snug, bombproof berths during the world war and the Republican candidates who placed their lives at the disposal of their country," McGinnis said.

Wendell L. Willkie, the G. O. P. Presidential nominee, enlisted as a private on April 6, 1917, the day war was declared. He was sent to an officers' training camp and was graduated as a first lieutenant. Altho trained as an infantry officer, he was transferred to the artillery and assigned to Battery F of the 325th field artillery. He served 11 months overseas and was recommended for a captaincy two weeks before the armistice.

Roosevelt in Little Cabinet.

Franklin Roosevelt, the Democratic third term nominee, was 35 years old when war was declared. For four years, since 1913, he had been assistant secretary of the navy, by appointment of Woodrow Wilson. He continued in that post until 1920. He was charged in particular with supervision of the navy yards and the purchase of supplies. Even before the outbreak of the world war he spoke in favor of a peactime draft.

Charles L. McNary, Republican candidate for Vice President, was 42 years old at the time America entered the world war. Within two months after the declaration of war he was appointed to fill out the unexpired term of Senator Harry Lane of Oregon, who died. For this reason, and because of his age, he did not become a member of the armed services.

Exemption Claimed by Wallace.

Henry A. Wallace, McNary's Democratic opponent, was 29 years old in 1917. He was agricultural editor of Wallace's Farmer in Des Moines, Ia. War department records show that Wallace claimed exemption on three grounds under the draft act. He finally was classified in a deferred bracket as a "necessary assistant, associate, or hired manager of a necessary agricultural enterprise"—the necessary enterprise being his job on the farm paper. He never put on a uniform.

Dwight H. Green, Republican candidate for governor, was 20 years old in 1917. He left college to enlist in the air corps, and following his graduation from flying school was deemed so proficient that he was detailed as an instructor for the rest of the war. For this reason he did not see combat service.

Hershey Registered for 1917 Draft.

Harry B. Hershey, Green's Democratic opponent, was 32 in 1917 and was therefore obliged to register for the draft. Records do not indicate that he ever was inducted into service.

Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for United States senator from Illinois, has the outstanding war record of all the candidates. He was 20 years old in 1917 and left the University of Illinois to join the marines. He was trained at Paris Island, S. C., and participated in bitter fighting in France.

He was at Château Thierry and Belleau Wood, in the Soissons offensive, and in the trenches before Verdun.

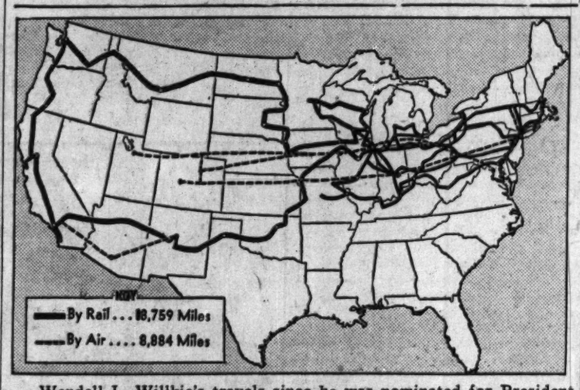
Brooks Wounded Seven Times.

He was wounded seven times. On July, 18, 1918, near Soissons, a shell blew off part of his left foot, tore away part of his hip, and caused other injuries. A rifle bullet went thru his right arm while he was hunting for bandages.

Brooks came out of the service in May, 1919, a lieutenant with the Distinguished Service Cross, the Croix de Guerre, and the Navy Cross. He also is a member of the Purple Heart.

James M. Slattery, Democratic candidate for senator, was 38 years old in 1917. He was a member of the legal advisory staff of Rogers Park draft exemption board and registered in the draft. The eldest of his nine children then was 14. Slattery did not claim exemption but never was called for service.

Willkie Trips Exceed 27,000 Miles



Wendell L. Willkie's travels since he was nominated for President by the Republican national convention June 28 have totalled 27,643 miles, a distance greater than the circumference of the earth at the equator. His routes, traced on the map, have crossed portions of more than 30 states.

F. D. R. Rushing U. S. to Brink of War, John T. Flynn Warns

New York, Nov. 3 (AP).—John T. Flynn, economist and financial writer, said tonight that President Roosevelt, altho promising neutrality, "has carried us along, almost with the tread of doom, toward war."

"Step by step — always moving closer and closer to the abyss and at every step saying, 'I will keep you out,'" Flynn continued in a broadcast sponsored by the American Writers' Committee for Wendell Willkie.

"Down in Washington today almost every one will tell you we can not stay out. It is only a question of months—maybe weeks, they say."

Long a Roosevelt Critic.

Flynn, long a critic of the President's fiscal policies, did not mention Willkie, the Republican nominee, confining his address to a scathing attack upon the New Deal.

Discussing what he termed a steady trend toward war, he asked:

"Who is taking us in? Who has been President these last 13 months and who has hurried down the dark road to war so that many think we are already trapped?

"The President has made defiant speeches to foreign nations with whom we are not at war. He has insulted the rulers of other nations. He has tried to inflame us by inciting us to hatreds and fears.

"He dismissed a Democratic secretary of war who was bent on keeping us out and appointed a super-annuated Republican who wanted to send our navy to the aid of England. He issues new threats every week.

"Two weeks ago he threatened Japan. This week he is threatening to forcibly seize the islands and possessions of France. And if he does this, we will be at war and without any action of congress."

Flynn continued, "He has not only conscripted your sons, but he is busy buying up merchant ships by the dozens to be used as transports—troop ships. Transports for whom? There is an organization of distinguished men in this country which has agitated over the air and with full page ads for an immediate declaration of war against Germany. And almost all the leaders in that organization are for Roosevelt. Ask them who they trust to get us into war? They will answer. They are for Roosevelt. Why not?

Promised to Stay Neutral.

"I do not undertake to say whether the President was right when he promised to be neutral or that he was right when he abandoned neutrality and threw our whole resources on the side of England. The point is that he promised to remain neutral, and millions of Americans believed him. Now he promises to keep us out of war. And millions of Americans are asked again to believe him.

"For myself, I am so fully convinced that if he is reëlected he will take us into this war that I can not remain silent.

"Today and until next Tuesday evening the decision on war and peace is in our hands—your hands. After that it will have passed out of your hands. If you elect Mr. Roosevelt it will be in his hands. Think of that!"

The prepared text made no specific recommendations for voting, except against Roosevelt.

DEMOCRATS WIND UP WARD RALLIES; PREDICT VICTORY

'We're Going In,' Hershey Tells Supporters.

Democratic nominees for state offices, headed by Harry B. Hershey, candidate for governor, wound up this Chicago campaign yesterday with appearances at several ward meetings. Hershey spoke in the first and ninth wards, and before predominantly colored audiences in the second and fourth wards.

At the first ward meeting, held in the dingy 906 South State street headquarters, Hershey urged a packed house to bring out a tremendous vote for President Roosevelt and the entire Democratic ticket.

Hershey Predicts Victory.

"We are going to win. Make no mistake about it," Hershey said. "I predict that President Roosevelt will be reëlected by the greatest majority in history. The entire Democratic state ticket is going in by a big majority."

All the candidates who attended paid their respects to Ald. Michael [Hinky Dink] Kenna, now 81 years old, who sat in the center of the small stage.

The speakers included John C. Martin, nominee for state auditor, and Harold G. Ward, nominee for attorney general. None spoke more than a minute or two, Hershey included, and Ward remarked that "this is one meeting we don't attend unless we're invited."

Kenna Tells How to Vote.

At the close of the meeting, Kenna held up a specimen ballot and said: "You just mark 'x' in the column where it says 'Democratic.' Just there. Not in any other column."

James M. Slattery, candidate for United States senator, appeared with Hershey at several rallies during the day. He praised the administration's defense program and predicted a "broad indorsement" of President Roosevelt's policies tomorrow.

Hershey left late for his home at Taylorville, where he will make a final campaign radio talk tonight. He probably will go to Springfield tomorrow to hear election returns at Democratic state headquarters in the St. Nicholas hotel there.

Ambulance Will Take Him to Polls to Back Willkie

W. S. Moore, 69 years old, an Evanston plumbing contractor for 42 years, will go to the polls by ambulance from St. Francis hospital, Evanston tomorrow to vote for Wendell L. Willkie. Moore, whose home is at 2006 Grant street, has been voting the Republican ticket for 48 years.

AMATEURS WILL SHARE IN GLORY IF WILLKIE WINS

Their Campaign Roles Hit New Note in Politics.

BY MARCIA WINN.

If there is a Republican victory tomorrow the amateurs—and they take pride in this name—will claim an important part in it.

James H. Douglas Jr.

Sometimes they have bungled, and often they have fumbled, but they have flourished. Even now, on election eve, few have any conception of how many persons they have reached, how many letters they have sent out or received, how many or what species of campaign buttons they have distributed. They simply leaped full force and blindly into a medium, that of politics, of which they knew little, and struck in all directions.

Most of Them Worked in Clubs.

Most of the amateurs worked in clubs, and all the clubs were formed because of the amateurs' insistent demands. These demands were, "What can we do to elect Willkie?"

The list is endless: Physicians' clubs, grandmothers' clubs, first voters' clubs, war veterans' clubs, the Whigs of 1940, Hoosiers for Willkie, Working Girls for Willkie, Business Men's 1940 Election committee, Citizens' Information committee. But far and away the most powerful and far-reaching of them all have been the Associated Willkie Clubs of Illinois and the No Third Term Democrats of Illinois.

The former had its roots under ground a good month before the Philadelphia convention when James H. Douglas Jr. and R. Douglas Stuart Jr. organized an Illinois volunteer committee to promote Willkie's candidacy. Not until Aug. 20 did it set up headquarters here as the Illinois branch of the Associated Willkie Clubs of America, with Charles O. Rundall as president.

1,700 Chartered in Illinois.

It now has 1,700 chartered clubs in Illinois, 800 of them in Chicago, where there are club headquarters in every ward. In Chicago's colored section alone, there are 342 chartered clubs. In addition, there are some 500 unchartered clubs, Douglas estimates.

This sounds like a lot. John A. Root, who is in charge of organizing the clubs in Chicago, says it is a lot more than it sounds like. Last Wednesday night in one ward alone [the 20th] separate Willkie club meetings were held, Root says, in 26 precincts.

The achievement of which the Willkie clubs are proudest, however, is that of the one-minute spot radio broadcasts, a series of eight recorded transcriptions, each one minute in length, in which Mr. Willkie states his views on pertinent issues. These have been used on every downstate radio station and on five Chicago stations and have been sent, upon request, to stations in Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Indiana, North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, New York, New Jersey, and Michigan.

All Are Volunteers.

"And do you know," Douglas concluded proudly, "we haven't had a single person on the pay roll. We've had 30 persons, sometimes 70, working in here every day—and all volunteers."

The No Third Term Democrats of Illinois, another remarkable mushroom organization, also has existed by grace and the strength of its volunteers. Floyd E. Thompson is chairman of this group, and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, former Democratic national committeewoman, is secretary. Its volunteers [150 girls a day] have toiled from 9 a. m. to 11 p. m. daily since Oct. 1 at 127 West Madison street in donated office space and on donated typewriters and desks.

All these groups have been independent of party organizations, but have coöperated with them. The result, according to Mrs. Ernest B. Griffin of Grant Park, vice chairman of the women's division of the Republican state central committee, was "good, practical work."

[ADVERTISMENT] [ADVERTISMENT] [ADVERTISMENT] [ADVERTISMENT]

I Believed in You— President Roosevelt

I am one of the millions of Americans, Mr. Roosevelt, who voted for you in 1932 and again in 1936.

Because I believed in you.

You had done so many things I thought should be done.

The courage you showed in meeting the crises in 1933 won my admiration.

Your directness won my respect.

I was so certain you were sincere.

I was for you 100%.

THEN SOMETHING HAPPENED

It was soon after 1936.

You began to change.

Your actions lost their directness. Your ways ceased to be those of a courageous President, and became those of a devious, self-seeking politician.

You became impatient and spiteful with those who did not "yes" you.

Those whom you could not dismiss, you attempted to purge, Nazi-fashion.

I was sorry to see this change in you. And at first I tried to shrug it off as politics.

But then you included the Supreme Court in your efforts to purge the government—our government—of all challenge to your authority. And then I was worried.

What has happened to our President, I wondered.

Could it be that you, like so many of the world's rulers, were infected with that ugly craving for personal power?

Could it be that you, like those others, were intent on perpetuating yourself in office?

I refused to believe it.

Because you see, Mr. President, I still wanted to believe in you.

THEN WAR BROKE OUT IN EUROPE

And again you made me proud of you.

I forgot about your purges. I forgot about the Supreme Court business.

I liked the way you handled our foreign affairs. He is the brilliant forthright leader I thought he was, I told myself. He is the man that I have believed in.

About that time, the third term whispers began to take shape.

And at first I dismissed them.

President Roosevelt, I said, is American to the core. He would not attempt to destroy such an important and thoroughly American tradition.

He knows like the rest of us that the two-term tradition is part and parcel of our democratic system—like the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

He knows that you can't have continuous one-man rule and escape the slavery of dictatorship.

And so, President Roosevelt, because I believed in you, I was certain you would renounce a third term.

Besides, hadn't you yourself declared that no man is indispensable? Hadn't you yourself paid your respects to the no-third-term tradition?

As the Chicago Convention approached, I began to worry about your silence.

But, I argued, it is probably just good politics. It's probably smart not to show your hand.

THEN CAME THE CHICAGO CONVENTION!

I was there but—I don't like to remember it—it was sickening.

I don't like to remember the spectacle of your personal messengers—men high in the government—men whom I had thought above skullduggery. I don't like to remember the spectacle of them conniving and bargaining for your renomination with the most corrupt political bosses in America.

I don't like to remember the merciless knifing that was administered, with your approval, to the man who made you politically, who had stood by you through thick and thin—to your own loyal friend—Jim Farley.

But most of all, I don't like to remember your message to that Chicago Convention.

You know the one I mean. The one Senator Barkley read, telling why you thought you must run again.

Apparently a lot of people have forgotten that message. I haven't, and I never will.

I heard it in the Convention Hall. As I listened, I was ashamed. Ashamed that the man I had been so proud of could stoop to such blatant hypocrisy.

And as I listened I felt something inside of me die.

IT WAS MY BELIEF IN YOU

Nothing you can do now, Mr. Roosevelt, can revive that trust again. It's dead.

No actions of yours, however brilliant, can wipe out the insincerity and hypocrisy of your renomination. No words, however bold and charming, can restore that faith which only simple honesty can breed.

I like brilliance, and I like charm.

But I like honor a lot more.

And so, Mr. Roosevelt, I shall not vote for you again.

I SHALL VOTE—AND VERY PROUDLY—FOR

WENDELL L. WILLKIE!

NATIONAL COMMITTEE OF DEMOCRATS-FOR-WILLKIE

THE CAMPAIGN
Both Sides of it

REPUBLICAN

We Submit Our Case

BY CARLISLE BARGERON.

(Assigned by Republican National Committee.)

For all practical purposes the 1940 Presidential campaign has ended. There remains only the rendering of the verdict of the American people. As lawyers would say, the case of Willkie vs. Roosevelt now goes to the jury. But before the decision is cast, let's briefly summarize each side of this case.

Wendell Willkie presented a splendid and convincing argument against the New Deal in his speech at Madison Square Garden Saturday night. No nobler expression of what America has meant in the past and must mean in the future has been made since Lincoln's day:

"I want to unite all people in America. I have no prejudice against any.

Unity of All Groups.

"I want to unite labor, industry, and agriculture. I want to unite Catholic and Protestant, Jew and gentile, people of all races and creeds. People of America, if you listen to the kind of campaigning that attempts to throw group against group, I tell you, I tell you, I pray with you, you will be betrayed.

"I have labored with my hands. I have worked in the factory, on the farm and on the range, and I have worked in the office, and I have been in business, and there are no such necessary antagonisms, there are no necessary groupings in America, there is room for peace and affection and loyalty among all of us. I can look any man in the face, no matter what his occupation, or his position in life and feel at home with him and not despise any one of them.

"Only desperate men would seek to persuade you that our great cause is the result of sinister forces.

"And let me say another thing to you. I know it's almost unnecessary to say it to you. I stand in the same position that I did the day after my nomination. I have not a pledge, a commitment, an understanding of any kind except those made publicly to the American people.

A Smear on America.

"I want specifically to denounce as malicious, reckless, and harmful to all concerned the whispering campaign that is being conducted by the opposition to connect my name with any kind of intolerance.

"That kind of a campaign is not a smear on Wendell Willkie, it's a smear on America. I will defend, and may I proudly boast, I always have defended the rights and the civil liberties of all people regardless of race, creed, or color."

What has Third Term Candidate Roosevelt said? Altho he first refused to take the witness stand, he subsequently condescended to speak with the American people. He has been an evasive witness, giving chiefly irrelevant testimony.

He has sought to laugh off the plight of the 9,000,000 unemployed, urging that they put their faith in him and let him find them jobs in the next four years. But so he promised in 1932 and 1936. He insists he has provided adequate national defense but admits in so many words that it is "on order."

Frontier Is in France."

The third term candidate says our boys will not be made to participate in "FOREIGN" wars. But it is known he does not consider the war in Europe a "FOREIGN" war, but our own.

And his record of performances is no guarantee that even his vague promises will be kept.

As for his alliance with the smelly political machines of the Bronx, Jersey City, Chicago, and several other places, the third term candidate has been as silent as he has been in undertaking to justify why he should be the first in American history to be given a third term.

DEMOCRATIC

Vote for Roosevelt

(Provided by the Democratic National Committee.)

Your peace, defense and security depends on the reelection of President Roosevelt.

Do you want to be blundered into war by an inexperienced man in the White House?

Do you want to take the most colossal gamble in history by putting a man in the White House who has never held public office?

Yet two of the greatest newspapers in the country say that is exactly what you would be doing by electing Wendell Willkie.

The greatest fact in this campaign is that we have been kept out of war by the vision and statesmanship of President Roosevelt.

When the conflagration swept over Europe, President Roosevelt recommended to congress revision of the neutrality act so as to forbid American ships from entering hostile waters.

This act has avoided the occurrence of a single incident that might inflame public passions and lead to war.

There have been no American vessels sunk and no American lives lost.

Saving American Lives.

Do you remember the last war when the loss of American lives in European waters stirred up public feeling to a war pitch?

Yet when this revision of the neutrality act was recommended to congress it was bitterly fought by the spokesmen for the Republican party.

These Republicans demanded freedom of the seas. They demanded the right for American vessels to go into war zones and risk the chances of destruction.

President Roosevelt saved America from that danger.

Now Wendell Willkie brutally charges that President Roosevelt wants to gamble the lives of American boys in war.

He compares the President to Hitler and the other dictators of history without a line of evidence to support the charge. The New York Times said:

"In his several speeches, Mr. Willkie likened President Roosevelt with Napoleon, Caesar, Charlemagne, and Hitler."

Do you think any man, a candidate for the highest office within the gift of the people, should liken the President of the United States to Hitler?

A Bitter Charge.

Every American will resent this charge by Wendell Willkie. Every American will abhor likening one of the greatest peace-loving Presidents in history to a dictator who has cruelly destroyed the small democracies of Europe.

When President Roosevelt was building up defense during the last two years, the Republicans in congress were VOTING AGAINST DEFENSE.

The record shows that they sought to block the construction of the finest navy in the world. But we have that navy—thanks to President Roosevelt.

The Republican party, thru its blundering leadership, landed this country into the worst economic depression in history.

The Republican party, thru its blind attitude, sought to halt and frustrate the building up of American defenses.

Do you want to return these men to power at one of the most critical times in the history of the country.

Peace! Defense! Security! Only thru the reelection of President Roosevelt can these three great aims of America be realized.

THE RE-ELECTION OF THE PRESIDENT IS THE HOPE OF AMERICA.

WEIGH RELIGIOUS STAKE AT POLLS, MINISTERS URGED

Church League Plea Cites Anti-New Deal Trend.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Churchmen of all creeds were urged yesterday to consider moral and spiritual issues of the Presidential campaign as they vote tomorrow. This appeal, by Frank J. Loesch, chairman of the Church League of America, 53 West Jackson boulevard, was based on thousands of letters from clergymen received by the league in response to a widely circulated clergy appeal against New Deal trends.

Frank J. Loesch.

"Churchmen of America have responded to the moral challenges of this political campaign as they have not done since the days of Abraham Lincoln," Loesch's Church league appeal declared.

Mailed to 75,000 Pastors.

The appeal, mailed by the league to more than 75,000 pastors, emphasized what it described as the menace of the third term and the building up in this country of an all powerful state. Citing what were termed instances of antireligious trends of the New Deal administration, pastors have challenged President Roosevelt's recent statements which, they said, described the New Deal as Christian and some of its opponents as anti-Christian, the Loesch appeal stated.

"Dr. James E. Congdon, pastor of Englewood Presbyterian church, was one of the clergymen to voice the challenge," the Loesch appeal declared.

"Dr. Congdon pointed to three government housing projects, one of which is near Milwaukee, where vast acreage is used by the government to build houses into a government owned and government dominated community where dance halls and taverns have been provided, but where church accommodations evidently have been excluded.

Imitation of Russia Alleged.

"Dr. Congdon further points to the plan whereby the government rents these houses to its 'subjects' but never allows them to achieve ownership. This simulates soviet housing plans of Godless Russia."

George W. Robnett, executive secretary of the league, on whose studies of the replies to the survey the Loesch appeal was based, declared that the vast number of letters from every state in the nation emphasized vigorous opposition to the third term. This opposition, he explained, was cited by the pastors as a moral issue of primary magnitude.

Stabbed to Death in Quarrel Over Draft; Attacker Held

Edward Cuddy, 27 years old, 2821 Parnell avenue, was stabbed to death yesterday in a restaurant at 3510 South Halsted street during a quarrel over conscription. George Poulos, 20, of 3454 South Halsted street, arrested by Deering street police, confessed the attack, according to Sergt. Thomas Manger, saying he wielded the knife in self-defense.

A Rare Bird from Java Moves In at Brookfield

A blackwinged Mynah from Java, believed to be the only one of its kind in the United States, has taken up residence in the birdhouse at Brookfield zoo. The rare bird, which is somewhat smaller than a crow, was one of 118 birds purchased from the estate of a Long Island, N. Y., ornithologist, according to Edward H. Bean, assistant director of the zoo. Other rare birds in the collection include an emerald humming bird from South America, a Mikado pheasant from Formosa, and an Elliott pheasant from China.

FARM FIRE CAUSES $15,000 LOSS.

Fire which destroyed a cattle barn, several smaller buildings, and a quantity of grain and feed caused damage estimated at $15,000 last night on the farm of Attorney J. L. Vette of 611 North Euclid avenue, Oak Park, five miles southeast of Elgin. Volunteers saved 135 head of cattle and a number of hogs and sheep.

EDWARD FREED IS SHOT BY WIFE IN PEORIA CLUB

Bullet Aimed at His Girl Friend Hits Woman.

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 3 [Special].—Ruth Freed, 37 years old, exonerated by a coroner's jury in 1937 of the mystery slaying of Audrey Vallette, Chicago party girl, today shot her husband, Edward, 42, former Chicago night club owner, in the crowded Talk of the Town night club in downtown Peoria.

Freed, shot twice in the left leg, grappled with his wife as she aimed at his table companion, Judy Allen, 22, a strip tease dancer, and Mrs. Freed's last shot struck a patron, Mrs. Mary Skillman, 212 Kenwood avenue, in the arm. Patrons held Mrs. Freed until police arrived. A warrant charging assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill was filed against Mrs. Freed by Mrs. Skillman's husband.

Accompanied by Woman.

Witnesses said Mrs. Freed entered the club at about 2:30 a. m. accompanied by a woman who later gave her name as Ann Scalise, a Chicago night club entertainer. The two approached Freed's table, police were told, and Mrs. Freed, without saying a word, drew a gun from a fur piece and fired. The first shot missed Freed, but the next two didn't. The next hit Mrs. Skillman.

After the shooting Mrs. Freed suffered a severe hemorrhage and now is in St. Francis hospital under police guard. Freed, who came here Thursday from Chicago, is in the same institution. Policeman Aura McCauley said hospital authorities stated that Mrs. Freed is suffering from tuberculosis.

Police are holding Miss Allen and Miss Scalise, who also uses the names Castros and DeMoss, as material witnesses.

Disappears After Shooting.

Audrey Vallette, a member of pioneer Gary and Wheaton families, was shot and killed by a woman July 2, 1936, in her near north side apartment. Freed, then manager of the Nut House tavern, 550 North Clark street, admitted having been intimate with the slain girl. Mrs. Freed, a hostess at the club, disappeared immediately after the shooting. Witnesses identified pictures of her as resembling the woman seen leaving Miss Vallette's hotel after the killing.

Mrs. Freed removed her photographs from the Nut House walls before vanishing, and wasn't found until she surrendered nearly a year later. She was not brought to trial after a coroner's jury absolved her in June, 1937, when witnesses failed to identify her.

A FAST PARTY IS SLOWED DOWN ON OUTER DRIVE

Stanley Zamojski, 21 years old, 8420 Mackinaw avenue, was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and disorderly conduct early yesterday by Park district police as he was speeding 65 miles an hour in the outer drive.

Park Policeman Charles Fall noticed that Zamojski was driving without shoes. "Why no shoes?" he demanded.

"My corns hurt," Zamojski replied.

"No coat either," Fall observed.

"She's wearing it," said Zamojski. He indicated a young woman in the back seat of the car. She was wearing Zamojski's coat, and nothing else.

Zamojski was held by the Hyde Park police. The young woman was booked on a charge of disorderly conduct also.

$58,000 ELWOOD DEBT FOR WILLKIE DAY IS SETTLED

Mayor George M. Bonham of Elwood, Ind., reported to Republican national headquarters here yesterday that all expenses for the Willkie notification ceremonies have been paid in full. The last of the $58,000 debt was retired last week with funds provided by the Republican national committee and the Indiana state committee.

"Democrats have attempted to discredit the Republican state and national committees by hinting that Elwood would be left holding the bag after the notification," Mayor Bonham said. "The receipted bills are the best answer to these innuendoes."

Democracy... Your Right of Choice

'HINDSIGHT AND FORESIGHT'
a weekly column by
Holgar J. Johnson
President Institute of Life Insurance

THE most important thing democracy gives us is our right of choice. America is one of the few countries where that right still exists, and tomorrow our citizens will go to the polls to exercise it.

JOHNSON

In addition to this right of political choice, we have another right, equally important. It is the right to choose with whom we shall do business. This right we exercise every time we spend or invest our earnings.

What has this to do with life insurance?

Life insurance has grown in size because it has had to meet the increasing demands of a growing country, with an expanding income, for protection. It has grown in the range of its services because it has been subject to the consumer's freedom of choice as to what kind of policy he prefers and what kind of advice he wants. Policy forms and company practices have been modified again and again to meet his desires.

And life insurance has grown in strength and security because people have insisted on these qualities in the companies they have chosen as a means by which their security plans for their families could be fulfilled, even though they might not live to see these plans completed.

This is not yet the end of change and progress. Our business, like all others, must always respond to the people's choice, and if we can be sure of anything, we are sure their demands will change.

Its size, its services and its strength must continue to meet the evolving needs of a thrifty, progressive and responsible people. For a strong bulwark of family security is basic in a democracy. . . .

This regular Monday column is provided by the Institute of Life Insurance to permit its President to speak to America's policy owners. Address inquiries to 60 East 42nd Street, New York City.

Coal Heat is Best —Costs Less

Cold floors—caused by stop-and-go firing methods, may be a source of discomfort to adults, but they're a direct threat to health where children are concerned. Because small children spend most of their waking hours down there at the floor level where cold air settles and drafts start. In homes heated with coal or coke, this problem doesn't exist. The constant flow of warmth they supply keeps the air in constant circulation and does away with both drafts and temperature inequalities. MORAL: Since it's easier to use a solid fuel than prevent children from playing on the floor—heat with coal or coke.

PROSPERITY AND PEACE.

There comes a time at the end of every campaign when the voter who is still undecided must put down his newspaper, turn off his radio, and make up his mind.

There are two questions which these voters, and, indeed, all others, inevitably ask themselves:

Will the country be more prosperous under Willkie than under Roosevelt?

Which of the two men will be more likely to keep the nation at peace?

We think the answer to both questions is Willkie. Here are the reasons:

This country has been in a depression now for more than 11 years. There have been many depressions in this country, but none in its history has lasted nearly as long as this one. Never before has a decade passed without finding the American people enjoying a higher standard of living than ever before. Never has unemployment been so persistent. And never before in this country's history has the effort been made to end depressions with colossal spending and the coercion of farmers and the men and women in industry. That was Mr. Roosevelt's medicine for depression and the best that can be said for it is that the results have been disappointing.

From all our other depressions we recovered far more promptly and the recovery was complete. The upturn came in dramatic fashion in 1896, for example. Within a few days of the election of William McKinley, factories which had long been closed were reopened. A new spirit surged thru the whole economic system. Once again the people of this country were filled with hope in the limitless opportunities of the future. The country went ahead with giant strides.

If Mr. Willkie is elected, the enterprising men of the country will know that the government is no longer their enemy. They will be encouraged to go ahead as they have not been these last seven and a half years. The fear of government, the fear of inflation, the fear of ruinous taxes and monetary instability will disappear. That is what happened when McKinley was elected and it will happen again if Willkie is elected.

To the young men and women of this country the third term for Mr. Roosevelt could mean only another period of disappointment. The election of Mr. Willkie means the opening of a new opportunity. The last decade has been a bitter one for those who were trying to find a place for themselves in a static economy. Mr. Willkie stands for an expanding economy, with more work, steadier work, better wages, a chance to establish a home and a family in comfort and decency. He offers hope to the young men and women of 1940, a hope which those who came of age since 1932 have not known.

And now, which of the two men is more likely to keep this country out of war and out of the depression and intolerance that follow war?

That is a stupendously important question, because war will mean the destruction of freedom in this country—the last free country of any consequence in the whole world.

Mr. Willkie enlisted in the last war as a private. He truly hates war for the best of all reasons: He knows what it is and what it costs to those who must do the fighting. Mr. Roosevelt did not share that experience. Battleships are his playthings. The whole course of his diplomacy has been marked with provocative and belligerent acts and statements.

What Mr. Roosevelt has said and done indicate his belief that war is imminent, and he is not thinking of a war in defense of the United States. The air force we have ordered is designed for fighting in Europe, not for repelling an invader. He has ordered a flotilla of shallow draft boats to effect landings on hostile shores. He is using the draft to recruit a far larger army than we need to protect ourselves from invasion, but it is not too large if we are to undertake overseas adventures. Only the other day came the news that the naval reserve ships now in the Great Lakes are to be moved out before the shipping season closes. Mr. Roosevelt must be thinking that war will come before the ice melts at Mackinac next spring.

With a war, Mr. Roosevelt's failure to end the depression would be forgotten at least until the war was over. His dictatorship would be established. To Mr. Willkie a war would mean the destruction of all his hopes for bringing the nation back to strength and vigor. His ambition to prove that free men, and only free men under a free government, can be strong and prosper would be defeated. To Mr. Roosevelt war will mean the realization of his dreams; to Mr. Willkie the destruction of his.

For prosperity and peace Mr. Willkie should be elected.

VOTE EARLY.

There is every indication that Chicago will cast the largest vote in its history. That means danger of congestion at the polls late in the day. Don't take a chance on being crowded out. Don't put off voting until the last moment and then discover that unforeseen circumstances have robbed you of what may well be the most important vote of your lifetime. Go to the polls early. Vote before you go to work. The law allows every employé two hours during election day in which to vote. Take those two hours in the morning.

Vote early. Then you will be sure of voting.

FOR THE REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

The people of Illinois have complained bitterly, and with good reason, of the extravagance and corruption of their state government in recent years, particularly after the late Gov. Horner's incapacity permitted power at Springfield to drop into the hands of a group of unscrupulous political adventurers. The state government has been a disgrace, piling scandal on scandal, since 1938.

The remedy for that condition is at hand in the election tomorrow. That remedy is to vote the Republican state ticket straight.

Wayland Brooks, the Republican nominee for United States senator, has stood in the forefront of the battle to win Illinois for Willkie. He has impressed himself on the people of the state as a brilliant orator and a clear thinker. In the senate he can be depended upon to give this state the adequate representation it has lacked for the last eight years. Wayland Brooks stands for America first.

Mr. Brooks' availability has been greatly enhanced by the caliber of his opponent, which is the lowest of any member of a generally mediocre Democratic ticket. In the senate, where he obtained his seat by appointment, Senator Slattery was a nonentity and a Roosevelt rubber stamp. Facts have come to light which cast the gravest doubt on his moral fitness for any public office. The senator has consistently refused to give any credible explanation of his strongbox. On these grounds alone he deserves to be defeated.

Dwight H. Green is one of the most attractive figures produced by the Republican renaissance in Illinois. Indeed, he started that renaissance by his gallant race for mayor of Chicago against the overwhelming strength of the Kelly-Nash machine. Had the same precautions been taken against vote frauds in 1939 that are being taken for tomorrow, Mr. Green would probably be mayor of Chicago today.

His opponent, Mr. Hershey, is conceded to be an honest man. Unfortunately, Mr. Hershey is allied in this campaign with a group of political gangsters. He has confessed that alliance, not by repudiating his shady associates but by attempting to defend the Kelly-Nash machine as not so bad, after all.

In Hugh Cross, nominee for lieutenant governor, the Republican party presents another young, capable, and attractive figure. Mr. Cross demonstrated his ability as speaker of the house during the last two years. He will serve both his state and his party well at the helm of the state senate. His opponent is a hack politician whose record in public office is chiefly notable for the number of relatives he has been able to install at the public trough.

The remainder of the Republican ticket, including such men as George F. Barrett, who in his campaign for attorney general first sounded the battle cry against vote frauds, and the able and popular Justus L. Johnson, for secretary of state, is one calculated to inspire the confidence of the voters. It deserves and should receive a straight ballot.

CHICAGO WAKES UP.

There are 20 decent citizens in Chicago for every hoodlum, cheater, and political conniver. Today those decent citizens have their dander up. As a result, Chicago is going to have an honest vote, perhaps the first in its modern history.

The Kelly-Nash machine isn't going to steal the election. The decent citizens aren't going to let it. They will be waiting for the machine when the polls open. They will be watching it all day long, and all night long as the votes are tabulated.

And these organized, decent citizens know what to watch for. They are not Johnny-come-lately, amateur do-gooders. They have been training for this job for months. They have been out in the precincts of the rotten machine wards, spotting the floaters, knocking the fraudulent voters off the registration rolls. They have been going to schools conducted by experts in election frauds. They know how to spot the chain voters and the short pencil artists. They are going to bust the racket wide open.

This clean election drive in Chicago has been as magnificent and astonishing a thing as Mr. Willkie's brilliant, dogged campaign which called it forth. It started out with a few determined young men who swore that in an election as vital as this one their votes weren't going to go uncounted or to be offset by a fraudulent ballot cast by the machine.

Their gospel spread like wildfire. Recruits poured in by the thousands. Tomorrow morning three organizations, the Joint Civic committee, a nonpartisan organization sponsored by the Bar association, the Association of Commerce, and other organizations; the Business Men's 1940 Election committee, a frankly partisan group which has been organizing on a precinct and ward basis in the fraud ridden machine wards, and the Vote Fraud Fighters' alliance, will each put thousands of alert, trained watchers, workers, and investigators at the polls. They will stay there until the last ballot is counted.

It has frequently been predicted that Willkie and the Republican ticket would carry Illinois if the Kelly-Nash machine didn't steal the election in Chicago. Well, the election isn't going to be stolen. There aren't going to be any vote frauds.

There aren't going to be any vote frauds because the small fry hoodlums and cheaters who commit those frauds know the big bosses of the machine can't save them this time if they are caught. And they also know that if they try anything they are going to be caught. They don't mind hollering for Roosevelt and Humanity, but they aren't going to jail for that phony slogan.

Illinois is going Republican. It is going to have an attorney general who has promised, every day of his campaign, to send every vote thief he can catch to prison. Back of local and state officials stands the federal government. The federal civil rights statute doesn't bother with 30 day contempt sentences. It packs a big gun—five years in federal prison. Any one who trifles with this election is looking down the muzzle of that gun.

Chicago is going to have a clean election. Its decent citizens have their dander up.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

HERE ARE THE ANSWERS.

If you are the sort of person who wakes up in the middle of the night, wondering who wrote "The Face Upon the Floor," or "Casey at the Bat," or one of the other jingles that have passed into American folklore, you will find relief from your obsession in Vincent Starrett's new collection of essays, "Books Alive." He has traced a number of these popular poems to their sources.

"The Face Upon the Floor," a classic for barroom elocutionists after the fifth round of drinks, has been floating around the country since the middle 1880s. It was written by Hugh Antoine D'Arcy, who said shortly before his death in 1925:

"If I thought my poem had done anything to help prohibition, I would take a running jump into the Hudson."

Nevertheless, millions of copies of D'Arcy's verses have been distributed as prohibition propaganda by the W. C. T. U. and the Anti-Saloon league, much to the author's distress. Joe Schmidt's barroom, at 4th avenue and 14th street, New York City, was the place where D'Arcy got his idea. He saw a tramp tossed out, and heard the man say as he rose from the sidewalk, "I am an artist." The verses did not appear in a book signed by the author until 1912.

"Casey at the Bat" has had several claimants, but its real author was Ernest L. Thayer. This baseball classic was first published by the San Francisco Examiner, on June 3, 1888, in Thayer's column, signed "Phin." A clipping from this column, handed by Archibald Clavering Gunter, a novelist, to De Wolf Hopper, started the immortal "Casey" on its long theatrical career.

Starrett's book also gives the origins of "Beautiful Snow," "Turn Backward, O Time," "Laugh and the World Laughs with You," "There Is No Death," "Mary's Lamb," and "Fifteen Men on a Dead Man's Chest."

TO AN ALARM CLOCK.

Ye birrin', rattlin', evil imp,
Och, hoo ye rack poor human simp,
An' wi' yer maist discordant clatter
His happy slumbers rudely shatter!
Tho dreams may bring tae him a mass
O' kale—perchance, a bonny lass—
Tae ye, ye deil, it matters not—
Ye blithely boot him frae his cot,
An' the wretch, spurred by hunger's goad,
Pits on his harness, pulls his load.
O' a' the human pests, the mentor,

Wha brocht ye forth frae his vile mind
An' let ye loose on humankind.

The Duke Makes His Mark.

Dear Mr. Collins: His Highness, the "Duke," being immersed in a political campaign of far-reaching proportions, has asked me to take over the task of compiling a short biographical sketch of his illustrious career as per your recent request.

His birth took place on the fashionable Wentworth Avenue. Why he was born has been an issue debated pro and con for many decades. The latest polls give the cons 102%. At an early age, he matriculated at an exclusive school for boys at St. Charles, Illinois, majoring in languages, excelling both in Pig Latin and Profane. His fraternity, in which he still keeps up an active interest, is the Geta-Pi-Eyed.

After completing his term he obtained a position assisting his younger brother who was and still is unemployed. Later in life we were married in my mother's home, which still happens to be our present address. As to his war record, it shows he served three days at Camp Grant and then was mustered out of service on account of being underweight [mentally]. Out of his $403 bonus check he exhibited his great liberality virtue by purchasing a splendid gift for both Mother and myself. The $400 balance he then invested in a business venture known as Side-walk Dominoes.

In literary taste, his all consuming passion is the Police Gazette. Listed among his favorite teas are oolong and strip. Has blue eyes thru the week, which generally take on a blackish hue on Saturday nights. Loves to labor; has been known to whittle as much as 50 to 60 hours a week. Naturally on account of recent legislation, this had to be reduced to 40 hrs. His athletic prowess is best described by his recent polo pony victories, his position being that of hind-end. He also excels in shot-putting. At a recent meet his record shows 12 shots put away in record time.

Always sartorially correct, never appearing in public minus socks or necktie. Is still living but at times you would hardly believe it.

In order that no misrepresentation appear in this sketch, I have asked his "Highness" to reread the script and if found to be fully correct to affix his signature, which you will note he has done.

Duly Signed X Duchess Bakrak.

I like the tale of the new-rich oil millionaire who built a 40 room mansion and ordered 2,000 books to match one whose style and binding pleased him. Ten years later he discovered his impressive library was unique in that it consisted of 2,000 copies of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

THE INVALID IN THE HOME.

ALTHO invalids are safer, as a rule, in well equipped and expertly staffed hospitals, nevertheless, conditions may be such that home management becomes necessary.

To those who are unaccustomed to illness, surprise may be expressed that the ailing one is so helpless. But many a malady may be slowly progressive—persisting for months—before a turn for the better occurs. Regardless of the nature of the difficulty, adequate nursing is essential.

The oral cavity will demand constant attention and, in addition, the most critical care must be given the skin. Convalescence may be prolonged unduly and severe complications are invited by failure to keep the patient warm and dry, to avoid wrinkles in the lower sheet, and to protect pressure points.

Hot water bottles, electric heaters, poultices, or packs may produce burns. The cuticle is far more sensitive—more easily injured—than when health is at par. Warming devices, therefore, must be tested thoroly and watched punctiliously to make sure that too much caloric is not delivered to some delicate locality.

Bedsores constitute a menace that may seriously affect recovery. They are more likely to appear if the victim is thin, elderly, possessed of swollen tissues, or beset with paralysis. The nutrition of the body covering is not good by any means, hence a breakdown may take place. Dampness is probably the most potent cause, as a soggy, cold area will lose its resistance quickly. Thus everything that touches the sufferer—the bed and surroundings—must be warm and dry.

Next in importance is the elimination of friction. If there is much restlessness, irritation of a particular region may result in an ulcer. Then, too, creases in the sheets or bread crumbs may chafe tender surfaces. The most susceptible portions are the back of the head, the shoulder blades, the elbows, the spine, the lower back, and the heels. Pillows beneath or between the knees may be allowed for short periods. A small down pad as a rest for an arm or elbow may prevent an annoying abrasion.

As a general rule, where two skin layers lie in contact, some moisture will accumulate. Because of this, soft material should be interposed where the parts are likely to rub or to bear weight. In case the individual is unable to control the discharges, fluffy, absorbent pads may be employed and changed promptly. For those who are extremely frail, air or water mattresses are available. If smaller spots need to be safeguarded, water or air cushions or rings may be utilized.

But the one who has charge of the patient bears the greatest responsibility, as she knows that a clean epidermis is far tougher than one that is soggy or soiled. A daily bath is always in order and, in many instances, this should be repeated—at least partially—at more frequent intervals. Drying is best performed by patting, not wiping. Subsequently, the tissues should be massaged gently to improve circulation. This may occupy from 10 to 15 minutes—with the hands covered with cocoabutter. Then comes dusting with talcum powder—the finest available. Dilute alcohol is helpful, but there may be a tendency to increased dryness and cracking.

Our objective, of course, is to save effort on the part of the sick and thus allow nature's healers—rest, comfort, and wholesome food—to rebuild well being.

HEELS.

M. M. writes: Is it better to wear low heels or doesn't it matter as long as the shoes are long and wide enough?

REPLY.

Rubber heels with a sufficiently sizable grip are advised. This relieves the strain on the ligaments and tendons of the ankle as well as the muscles of the lower leg. Stilts are undesirable.

T. C. writes: How long a period is required for healing in the case of a peptic ulcer?

REPLY.

Under proper and skilled management, symptoms should vanish within a week, with complete healing in 30 to 60 days.

CALAMITY WORSE THAN WAR.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—I feel that in this third term discussion a matter vital to the existence of our country has been overlooked, that is, our faith in the integrity of our Supreme court.

I have always been comforted by the feeling that life, liberty, and freedom to pursue happiness have been guaranteed by our constitution and that if they were infringed or threatened, I had, as a last solid bulwark of protection, our Supreme court.

I feel that any action which might weaken our faith in the trustworthiness of our Supreme tribunal would strike at the foundation of one of the pillars on which our government—and thus our safety—rests, and would be a greater danger to our country than any which now threaten us from without.

For the American people to lose faith in our Supreme court, the last resort against injustice, would be a calamity worse than war.

One might use this truth as a yardstick in measuring the candidates for the Presidency of our country.

Mr. Roosevelt often speaks of "fear"—yes, we are fearful that we may lose some of our American rights and privileges if he is given a third term.

SAFETY ISLAND NEEDED.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Perhaps you can be of some assistance. I am employed at 13th and Wabash, and at about 6 each night, when I wait for my northbound street car on that corner, I stand on the makeshift safety island provided by the city with a white marking pretty well worn out. This marking is visible only to the people who want to wait within its confines for a street car, and definitely cannot be seen by the motorists who come thundering past at that time.

It is a mystery to me how finally, unscathed, I get my street car, because it is perilous to stand there in the supposed safety island while cars whiz by.

It would appear to me that a mushroom light there might be of assistance as the street is pretty dark, and the pedestrians awaiting street car transportation are not visible until almost too late.

I don't know to whom to send this letter, but I feel assured you will have the matter properly taken care of. Thirteenth and Wabash is a very busy section where hundreds of people are employed.

Thank you. R. C.

DEFICITS AN OLD STORY.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Being only 22, I am not supposed to understand the intricate finances of our country, but here is something I do understand: Alfred E. Smith left a surplus of $15,000,000 in the treasury of New York state at the expiration of his term as governor. Mr. Roosevelt at the end of his term as governor left a deficit of $92,000,000. That is a total deficit of $107,000,000 for his term. Of course, that is nothing compared to the deficit he has piled up as President of our country.

I am going to vote for Willkie.

A CONVENTION INCIDENT.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—We are apt to overlook the point that the women were also drafted to do their share in the Chicago convention [so-called] which "drafted F. D. R."

Do you remember the hush which fell over the great audience when it was announced that Eleanor Roosevelt-Roosevelt had entered the hall? She had flown like an angel of mercy to be there, and to help put across the great Greek chorus for her husband. She went immediately to the friendly family chum, Farley, took his arm, and at the front of the platform she stood and told the audience what a grand fellow he was, how beloved he was, what a miracle worker for the party he was, and all the while, as she hung onto him affectionately, her backers and co-conspirators were sharpening the knife which was to go into his back.

What a betrayal, and a job which only the tender hand of a woman could do. And such a woman—one who had solicited the American people for years with her charity, her crooning ideality, her devotion to humanity, and all the rest.

It reminds one of the great white bull they use in the stockyards which leads the herd right into the slaughter pen.

POLITICS WITH A CHECK.

Arlington Heights, Ill., Nov. 1.—We have just received a check from the closed Arlington Heights State bank. I supposed that it was only a partial payment on my own money, but it is turned into a campaign plea by State Auditor E. J. Barrett who inclosed a card expressing self-applause and who adds:

"I feel it my duty to fully inform Mr. John C. Martin, Democratic candidate for auditor of public accounts, thereof. Mr. Martin has assured me that if elected he will continue this same policy of orderly liquidation."

STONE A WILLKIE PICTURE.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Yesterday I was pleased to have the opportunity to place a Willkie picture in my front window. In showing this picture I felt I was doing what every free born American citizen had the right to do.

Last night a car with several "hoodlums" stopped in front of my home and threw a rock thru the window—narrowly missing a member of my family. Is this America? Or is this an example of dictatorship?

MR. HERSHEY, PLEASE REPLY.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Candidate Hershey says he favors conscription of wealth. Is he ready to give his up to the government? FEAR—AND THE REASON.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—In Connecticut today Mr. Roosevelt said: "What a pity it is that there should be, even in a national campaign, an injection of fear—fear in the hearts of American citizens—fear about things that do not exist."

How truly Mr. Roosevelt has gauged the sentiment of the American people. But who brought that "fear into the hearts of the American people?" No one but Mr. Roosevelt himself.

Should we not fear a man who wants to break a precedent established for over 150 years by being elected to a third term? Should we not fear that same man who during his second term tried to pack the United States Supreme court?

Should we not fear that man who has been the head of an intolerant group seeking to create class hatred? Should we not fear that man who is depending on the most vicious political bosses in this country for election and who numbers those bosses among his intimates? Yes, Mr. Roosevelt is right this time. The people do have fear.

NICE PAY FOR THE HOSTESSES.

Davenport, Ia., Oct. 28.—I note that an appropriation by the government has been made to pay army hostesses a very good salary to entertain the new conscription army. Two classes: Junior and senior hostesses and the pay is from $1,620 to $2,120 to secure dancing partners mainly for the boys.

My husband gave 30 years of the best part of his life to the service of his country and at his death I receive the munificent pay of $30 a month. I don't believe that even a Roosevelt could get to first base on that.

I have observed that every army fort and cantonment is lavishly supplied with all forms of entertainment for the men. Dance halls, card rooms, pool rooms, bowling alleys, beer parlors, movie houses, and seven women on every corner for every uniformed man.

So WHY the outlay for army hostesses just previous to election?

Sec. 96-4 of the City Code as amended Dec. 1, 1923, requires every person controling the heating of any tenement house in which the heat is furnished from a plant used in common to furnish heat from Sept. 15 to June 1 so that the occupants may secure, without such restriction of ventilation as to interfere with sanitary conditions, a minimum temperature of 60 degrees at 6:30 a. m., 65 degrees at 7:30 a. m., 68 degrees at 8:30 a. m., and thereafter until 10:30 p. m., provided that notice by registered mail shall be given before any person shall be deemed to have violated this section. Since it may be difficult to prove sufficient facts to defend an action for rent in case you move out, we advise you first to report violations to the commissioner of health, city hall, and to exhaust the possibility of getting relief by formal notice to the landlord.

BRITISH REPORT GERMAN FLYERS STRAFE CIVILIANS

London Raidless First Time in 58 Nights.

LONDON, Nov. 4, Monday (AP).—London completed, at dawn today, its first night without an air raid since the German air attacks on the British capital began 58 nights ago.

Bad weather over northern Europe was believed responsible for the lack of aerial activity.

The only sections of Great Britain reporting raids during the night were northeast England and northern Scotland. Three persons were killed by bombs in a town in northeastern Scotland early today.

Hedgehoppers Attack Civilians.

Some German raiders yesterday afternoon resorted to "hedgehopping" tactics for the first time since the air siege of the United Kingdom began, machine gunning strollers, cyclists, and motorists in east Anglian villages.

German airmen previously had fired machine guns in single instances upon British towns and even upon London's streets. But the East Anglian reports said the raiders flying singly or in pairs strafed buses, automobiles and pedestrians in various parts of that area north of the Thames and northeast of London.

One Alarm on Sunday.

London's only alarm Sunday was sounded in late afternoon. The all clear signal was sounded at the time the Nazi night air raids usually begin.

The air ministry said one German bomber and one British fighting plane were shot down in air fighting over Britain during the day. Nazi raids on England Saturday night were the lightest in three months.

Rain and mist on the English channel and British air force blasts at landing fields in German occupied France, Belgium and Holland were believed here to be important factors in the shift in German tactics.

Gales which whipped the channel Saturday night were said by the British Press association also to have out during the night, it was said.

Sir Archibald Sinclair, air minister, announced today the appointment of Air Chief Marshal Sir Wilfrid Freeman as vice chief of the air staff in place of Air Marshal Sir Richard Peirse, who recently was appointed commander in chief of the bomber command.

Report Attack on Airport.

BERLIN, Nov. 4, Monday (AP).—Bad weather failed to hamper German air raids on Britain yesterday, DNB, the German official news agency, reported today. "War essential" objectives reported attacked included a London freight yard where train operations were affected and storehouses set afire.

Buildings at an airport at Stradishall, in Suffolk, were set ablaze, it was reported, while an airport at Wattisham, also in Suffolk, was said to have been destroyed. During the raid on the London freight yard, the Germans were reported to have used machine gun fire to silence light anti-aircraft guns on roof tops.

The Germans also reported bombing an armament factory at Castle-Bromich and "numerous airdromes, barracks, and hangers" elsewhere Saturday. The high command also said that a fighting plane in command of Maj. Harlinghausen sank a 6,000 ton freighter off the British coast.

HEARMARTINIQUE EXPECTS MOVE ON PART OF U. S.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Nov. 3 (AP).—Recent arrivals from Fort de France, Martinique, were quoted tonight as saying residents of the French owned island expect American action in the Caribbean sea after the United States presidential election.

A possibility that the United States navy officers expect possible intervention to protect French West Indies possessions from other European powers was seen. Frequent inquiries have been made into living and housing conditions in Martinique.

Naval authorities here were reported not to know the destination of destroyers that left Key West, Fla., last week.

Vichy Has No Knowledge.

VICHY, France, Nov. 3 (AP).—A spokesman for the ministry of colonies said tonight he had no knowledge of reports that United States warships were near French colonies in the Caribbean.

BRITAIN ADMITS IT CAN'T GIVE ALL DEEP SHELTERS

Asks People to 'Take Risks for Freedom.'

Herbert Morrison.

LONDON, Nov. 3 (AP).—Herbert Morrison, minister of home security, told Britons in a nationwide broadcast today that deep air raid shelters for all are "beyond the bounds of practical possibility." He appealed to them to maintain the will to "take risks in freedom's cause."

Morrison excused himself for reaching the same decision after three weeks in office as his predecessor, Sir John Anderson, on the grounds of time, expense, and the need for materials in "active defense."

Tunneling to Take Time.

A certain amount of deep shelter will be provided by extending the tunneling of London subways and at other points in the country where the terrain makes digging relatively easy, Morrison declared. This, he added, will constitute but a fraction of the total shelter, and in any event it cannot be finished until the end of winter.

Quoting a favorite phrase of his predecessor, who was moved to the lord presidency of the council after hot public criticism of measures taken to shelter Britain's millions, Morrison declared, "In practice there is no hundred per cent safety."

Offers 4-Point Plan.

He outlined this program:

1. Building of more Anderson shelters, inexpensive corrugated iron huts which critics assail because they are not proof against a direct hit.
2. Opening of private basement shelters where feasible.
3. Increasing use of floors above the ground, as well as basements, in certain types of strong modern buildings.
4. Installation of nearly 1,750,000 bunks now on order for subways, and inauguration of a ticket system to abolish queues.

United States marines were forced to leave their barracks.

CRETE IS KEY BASE TO BLOCK ITALY, LONDON BELIEVES

Writers Call for Attacks on Duce's Soil.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Practically all British newspaper commentators today devoted most of their attention to the war operations in the Mediterranean.

The Italian attack on Greece is considered as presenting both great opportunities and hazards for Britain's mastery of the Mediterranean. The landing of British troops on the island of Crete was hailed as part of the general strategy of the British to cut off Italy from its Dodecanese bases and to forestall a possible axis thrust toward Syria. From Syria, it is believed, the axis hopes to establish a base for operations south toward Egypt and east in the direction of the rich oil fields of Mosul, Iraq, and the Persian gulf.

Key of Eastern Mediterranean.

Crete is regarded as the keypoint of the eastern Mediterranean. It overshadows the Dodecanese and promises to form a valuable naval and air base to prevent Italian penetration of the Greek archipelago to the extent that the enemy would be able to menace the British fleet and land forces in the east.

While most British writers are discouraging large scale operations on the part of British troops in defense of Greek soil, seizure of other strategic island bases is recommended, in order to prevent them from falling into enemy hands as well as to provide valuable bases from which to strike at Italy proper. Every one is agreed that Britain's first task will be to consolidate its hold on Crete.

Asserting that the Italian armies are in a precarious position in Kassala [Anglo-Egyptian Sudan] and Kenya, Africa, one commentator urged immediate attacks on these positions.

John Gordon, Sunday Express writer, wrote: "The door to Italy is open. What holds our bombers back?"

Compared with Napoleon.

The famous military expert, Capt. Liddell Hart, in the Sunday Despatch, compared the Mediterranean operations with those of Napoleon, who, being stymied in his attack on England by the channel in 1797, adopted the alternative plan of attack on the British empire by way of Egypt.

In estimating the relative positions of Napoleon and Adolf Hitler, he conceded that the latter has certain advantages, among them air power, mobility of land forces, control of the European coastline from the arctic to the Pyrenees, and a powerful ally [Italy] in the Mediterranean.

On Britain's side, however, increased mobility and destructive power of the fleet obtain as well as the fact that "landing operations are infinitely more hazardous" than in Napoleon's time, he contended.

ITALIAN ATTACK KILLS 30 ABOARD BRITISH CRUISER

33 Others Wounded in Mediterranean Raid.

LONDON, Nov. 3 (AP).—The admiralty announced tonight that three officers and 27 noncommissioned men were killed and 33 wounded on the British cruiser Liverpool when it was attacked more than two weeks ago in the Mediterranean by an Italian torpedo plane.

Another admiralty communique reported that Rear Admiral E. J. G. Mackinnon, 60 years old, holder of the distinguished service order from the world war, was missing, but it gave no details on his ship or its operations.

Italians Attack Malta.

ROME, Nov. 3 (AP).—The Italian high command today reported a devastating air attack against the British naval base of Malta; claimed one of its torpedo planes had scored a hit on a British warship, and acknowledged that two submarines were missing. The communique:

"Four bombing formations escorted by chasers yesterday carried out an offensive action over Malta, damaging port works at Valletta and buildings and airports at Micabba. One enemy plane was shot down. One of our planes failed to return.

Bomb Port and Airfield.

"Along the Egyptian coast large English naval formations were reached by our torpedo planes which hit one warship.

"In East Africa our air force bombed the portworks at Perim, and the airfield at Roseires, hitting two planes on the ground.

"Two of our submarines failed to return to their base."

British Say Attack Repulsed.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 3 (AP).—Two Italian planes were shot down, two others damaged, and another believed shot down when two formations of raiders, escorted by fighting planes, attacked Malta yesterday, a royal air force communique said today.

A severe attack was delivered on a transport and troop column in Ethiopia on the Metemma-Gondar road, the communique said, and four direct hits were registered on the line of trucks.

Murder Locale

(Story in adjoining column.)

Dale Darrow of Milford, Mich., (1), is said to have confessed yesterday that he killed his bride, Eileen, of Belleville (2), on a trip and buried her body on his grandfather's farm near Hopkins (3). His confession was reported by police at Pontiac (4). He is a machinist employed at Novi.

RUMANIA TO PUT REFUGEE POLES IN FOUR CITIES

German Gestapo Head on Secret Mission.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 3 (AP).—Heinrich Himmler, chief of the German Gestapo, arrived at Brasov, Rumania, by plane from Germany today on an unexplained mission.

[Himmler recently visited Madrid to make the preparations for Adolf Hitler's border parley with Generalissimo Franco of Spain.]

The entire Polish legation left Bucharest for Istanbul, Turkey.

Under a new plan, those of the 70,000 Polish refugees who still remain in the country will be billeted in four scattered cities.

Francisco Madrid, former Chilean minister to Rumania, also left for Istanbul under compulsion after being accused of being a British agent.

Reds Reject British Protest.

MOSCOW, Nov. 4, Monday (AP).—Russia has rejected an official British protest that Russian participation in the formation of a Danube river commission, along with Germany, Italy and Rumania, was a violation of neutrality, Tass, official soviet news agency, reported today. Britain stated she could not recognize any agreement that may violate existing treaties regarding the Danube, the agency said.

SLAYS BRIDE, 17, AND THEN BURIES HER IN SANDHILL

Young Husband Tells of Tragic Quarrel.

Pontiac, Mich., Nov. 3 [Special].—Dale Darrow, 23 years old, of Milford, Mich., confessed today that he choked to death his bride of three months, Eileen Nelson Darrow, 17, from whom he was estranged.

Police said Darrow broke down and "cried like a baby" after 12 hours of grilling and admitted that he "pounded her with my fist" and then "choked her until she stopped struggling." He said the murder was committed late last night as the couple was motoring in Allegan county, in western Michigan, and that he buried the body in a sandhill near Hopkins. Police searched for the body today.

First Story: "Kidnaped."

Darrow walked into Pontiac police headquarters at 3:30 a. m. and said that his wife had been kidnaped as they left a Pontiac restaurant.

"Three men jumped on me and knocked me out cold," he related. "When I came to, the men and my wife were gone."

Darrow was taken to a hospital, where physicians found no indication of injury.

Clyde Darrow, the prisoner's father, was summoned, and he told the police: "I believe he's lying."

Equipped with Shovel.

Police said the killing was premeditated, because young Darrow said in his statement that he had taken a shovel along when he motored to the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nelson, near Belleville, Mich., to pick up his wife.

Darrow, who earns $6 a day as a machinist in Novi, Mich., said he was married last Aug. 25. He and his wife separated two weeks ago when he learned that she was going to have a baby. The quarrel, he said, was over his difficulties in meeting his debts and meeting expenses for the expected child's birth.

"I drove over to Eileen's parents' home Saturday afternoon," he added, "and told them we were going to try to patch things up."

Drive to Grandfather's Farm.

They drove 150 miles yesterday, he said, to reach Allegan county, where his grandfather, William B. Richardson, owns a farm.

"When we got there, we quarreled again, and I killed her," he was quoted.

Mrs. Nelson, mother of the slain girl, screamed at police: "I knew it would happen!"

9 NAVAL CRAFT LEAVE CHICAGO FOR EAST TODAY

Nine ships of the 9th naval district will sail today from Chicago for the Brooklyn navy yard. On their way thru the lakes they will be joined by six other vessels of the naval district. The ships leaving here are seven yacht patrol cutters and two subchasers. The entire 9th district fleet consists of 11 yacht patrol cutters, four subchasers and three gunboats, but the gunboats will not leave their lake ports until Nov. 11. The 18 ships are manned by 600 naval reservists, about 200 of them from Chicago.

FIND MORE GUESTS THAN EVER BEFORE NOW PREFER WINE

IS THERE A CHANGE in hospitality customs today? Well-known hosts and hostesses say so. It's come about, they report, because so many people now prefer a moderate beverage.

Perhaps you've noticed it yourself. How many men and women now choose Sherry at appetizer time. Or a delicious sweet wine at afternoon or evening affairs. Or a good table wine with the main course at dinner.

Try it next time you entertain. Give each guest at your house a chance to select wine. See how this considerate hospitality is appreciated.

TIPS ON SERVING WINE

AN APPETIZER WINE
like Sherry is best before dinner. Sherry is amber, nutlike in flavor. This good wine promises a good dinner to follow. It is usually served in a cocktail-size glass.

TABLE WINES
go best with meals. They are made "dry" (not sweet) to complement food. Try tart, red Claret or Burgundy wine; delicate, golden Sauterne or Chablis (well chilled)... in servings half water glass size.

SWEET WINES
go best with refreshments and desserts. They are made rich with the natural sweetness of the grape. Try red Port or golden Muscatel, served in a small glass.

WENDELL L. WILLKIE

at Cleveland, Ohio, October 2:

"I would continue my efforts to aid the heroic British people—the only people in the world today who are fighting with their lives for liberty. I would aid Britain even if it meant the sacrifice of some speed in building up our own fleet. I would do so because the longer Britain holds out, the more time we have in which to prepare ourselves."

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

at Dayton, Ohio, October 12:

"It can no longer be disputed that forces of evil which are bent on conquest of the world will destroy whomever and wherever they can destroy. We know that if we seek to appease them by withholding aid from those who stand in their way we only hasten the day of their attack upon us."

Both THE DEMOCRATIC AND REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES FOR PRESIDENT AGREE ON AID TO BRITAIN

Because they both know that we need TIME to build an IMPREGNABLE DEFENSE for the Americas.

Our TWO-OCEAN navy cannot be ready until 1946.

Our PLANE-PRODUCING CAPACITY cannot equal that of Germany, Italy and Japan for AT LEAST A YEAR.

Hitler doesn't wait!

Because they both know that if Britain is defeated before we are fully prepared, THE AGGRESSORS WILL DOMINATE THE SEAS.

If Britain is defeated, Germany, Italy and Japan will have naval ship-building facilities from SIX to EIGHT TIMES LARGER than ours.

WITH Britain we have 31 battleships to the aggressors' 21. WITHOUT Britain the score will stand 21 to 15 AGAINST US.

Because they both know that if Britain is defeated we could not prevent the victorious Axis powers from securing a foothold in South America.

From Africa it is only 1600 miles to South America.

Once established in South America, the INVADER could threaten the PANAMA CANAL, the JUGULAR VEIN of our whole scheme of SECURITY.

A NAZI-dominated South America would be a CONSTANT THREAT to the SECURITY of the UNITED STATES.

Because they both know that if Britain is defeated our SECURITY and our WELFARE will be in jeopardy from the constant threat of military and economic ATTACK by the dictators

We will have to spend EVER-VASTER sums for armament.

Debt, taxes and loss of world trade will LOWER OUR STANDARD OF LIVING.

We too may be compelled to adopt totalitarian methods which will DESTROY our freedom and liberty.

Because they both take the considered advice of MILITARY and NAVAL LEADERS whose LIFE-LONG concern has been the defense of America — NOT that of APPEASERS, ARM-CHAIR STRATEGISTS and WISHFUL THINKERS.

When the security of our country is in question, INTELLIGENT AMERICANS turn to the TRAINED EXPERTS who have spent their entire lives studying the question.

Here is the advice of Gen. John J. Pershing:

"I say to you, solemnly, that today may be the last time when by measures short of war we can still prevent war. If there is anything we can do to save the British fleet we shall be failing in our duty to America if we do not do it."

And here is the advice of Rear Admiral Harry B. Yarnell, Commander Asiatic Squadron, U. S. Navy—1936-1939:

"If Britain loses this war, we will face years of danger, with our nation converted into a huge armed camp and a major part of the revenue spent for armament."

By aiding England NOW we can keep the war in Europe—VOTE FOR THOSE CANDIDATES FOR CONGRESS WHO SUPPORT ROOSEVELT AND WILLKIE ON THIS VITAL ISSUE.

Mrs. Emmons Blaine for Roosevelt

Broadcast Sunday, November 3, 1940

I speak today to all who may be listening, in a holy cause—the choice of a leader for the United States of America in the next period of its history—a period to be filled with grave concerns for our country—a period in which our decisions may affect all the corners of the earth.

I come to offer you thoughts for our country for what they may be worth to you—in this moment—not to beg for your votes. The sacred thing about your vote is that it must accord with your mind and your soul.

We have to choose this year between two candidates for the presidency of the United States.

Each candidate is looked upon with doubts from the other side.

We must weigh those in the interest of our country, and choose between them.

We must look at the two men whom the two major parties have placed before us with the qualities they bring to the leadership of the United States.

Mr. Willkie is an ardent and forceful leader who strikes strongly for what he feels and who in his better qualities might convince us to follow without looking further.

But we should look further and then see other qualities—of inexperience, of optimism, and of vagueness—in what he proposes.

His mathematics are at fault:

> He will feed all the hungry; he will keep present commitments: to farmers, for social security payments, to the defense program, and so on; and he will add some millions for other purposes; and he will not spend.

But he does not tell us how he will do this.

He is not a magician, yet he promises total production but does not tell us how; he promises jobs for all but does not tell how; he promises to bring capital and labor together, but he does not tell us on what basis.

His claim to be able to assume leadership in all these directions is too recent to allow him to have demonstrated the necessary ability.

He seems to feel that all he needs to do is to say to us, "Come with me and I will save you and your country," but in such a time as this in the world's affairs that is not enough lest it prove to be a will-o'-the-wisp.

One must recognize his tendency to distort truth in his charges against his opponent. This undermines one's confidence in his own fundamental honesty even after making allowance for a campaign atmosphere.

But worse and deeper are one's feelings in confronting the fact that he is using the dire world situation for political gain.

His distortions of truth appear to be for the purpose of creating fear in the voters. This fear he is then prepared to allay with false assurances.

Since Mr. Willkie is a man and an American one cannot suppose that he would not meet a duty that might come to him to serve his country in whatever form it should come—as other men have done and would do. But he forces us to admit that he is willing to juggle truth in those deepest depths of human duty—and to trade on the deepest feelings of all people. This falseness to himself and to others it seems to me must bar him out from that trust which one must have in choosing a national leader.

Of Mr. Roosevelt we can speak more certainly for we have much knowledge of his quality.

Those who do not trust him charge him with selfish ambition to become a "dictator."

Without reference to the natural rightful gratification of a man in being able to serve the country in a signal way—to guide forces in the direction he thinks best—recognizing all that as legitimate—I think that to suppose Mr. Roosevelt wants to be a dictator or wants a third term to satisfy this ambition is ridiculous.

They quote his own language as to the non-indispensable man and think they have proved him to be a fraud—while he is there standing before us in that belief all the time—seeking to surround himself with men of vision and ability in the government that the indispensable principle may be there of devotion to the cause of the whole people.

In Mr. Roosevelt's total contribution we see vast experience and great ability. In his purposes a constructive idealism. This lifts his service to the country to the high level demanded by these times.

We must look at the questions to be faced.

The third term issue has been so magnified that it spells distrust of ourselves.

Discontinuity in the administration of our government is in the essence of our national idea. It is a test of our capacity to be a democracy. What makes it safe and good is the great body of human judgment that lies behind it—a judgment full of discernment and patience and determination.

If unexpected mistakes crop out the correction is there waiting.

But when circumstances change, policies vary with them and intelligence plays its part. We are not machines. We are thinking beings.

When judgment is required slaves know none; hornets fly into the burning hive through custom; intelligent beings recognize rules and change rules and change back again at will. That is what is meant by "rules are made to be broken."

George Washington's act was not as arbitrary as the discussions today make it seem.

The essential reason for the act could refer equally to a first term of office.

He retired to private life after serving eight years as Commander in Chief and eight years as President, to point out and to teach:

> That there must be no substitute for real need of service in the presidency.
> That there must be no leadership of the United States for mere gratification of self or others.

Can one imagine Washington counting days in the midst of Valley Forge; dropping his duties because of the calendar when his country needed him there?

Would George Washington countenance our lack of trust in ourselves in supposing that we are not the deciders by our votes as to whether such a need exists?

Can one imagine Washington arbitrarily following rules from those who had gone before him unless they appealed to his reason?

Impossible to imagine!

He was not looking backward but forward—not using custom but carving steps.

We must follow his example and do the same—carrying with us the deep principles that have brought us where we are.

The President's attitude on this question is excellent. If he is drafted he will serve. Only the whole people can draft him. That can only happen on the 5th of November—next Tuesday.

The financial issue in this election is a great stumbling block and it should be. Figures are shot across our vision in a most confusing way. We are told:

> "The national debt is mounting, therefore bankruptcy looms ahead."
> "That part of this debt is property and not debt but possession."
> "That the value of the dollar has been changed."
> "That this saved us from panic—yes—but will bring us to inflation."

We are charged with being impoverished.

Yet the national income has increased from 38 billions in 1932 to 75 billions in 1940.

I think the citizens of the United States should ask urgently that a commission be set up to study the correct accounting of the expenditures of our government—to classify them clearly so that all who wish can know and understand them completely.

I do not believe that our present government will bring us to bankruptcy or inflation.

One of the issues most stressed is the relation of the government to industry.

The great charge is a hostile feeling aroused in industry against the government.

It is possible that the determined tone of The President when he has spoken on this subject is not conducive to the best understanding. Using "money changers in the temple" and "economic royalists" may have hurt. And yet it may have served a purpose in gaining attention and in crystallizing a thought.

I am afraid the responsibility must be shared by the industrialists.

The clash may come from those elements which want none of the broadening of responsibility; none of the spreading of opportunity from the few to the many; none of the more even dividing of proceeds.

If industry is interested in this objective it can join the effort in cooperation. From that standpoint it can effect improvements.

Parts of industry undoubtedly have functioned in this way.

This vital part of our national situation must work toward unity of aim; common effort; understanding of each side by the other.

Concerning these measures of social legislation:

1. Should the measures be retained?

That question is not an issue because the opposition candidate has declared himself in favor of their continuation. This fact speaks volumes for the desirability of these measures in the minds of citizens.

2. Are the measures ably administered?

On this Mr. Willkie bases much of his plea—shall we leave the administration of them in the hands of those who cared enough for them to initiate them, or shall we place them in untried and inexperienced hands, and if so, why?

In the succeeding term there must be development. It is not fair to assume that development will best occur with those who have been against these trends. It is fair to expect further development from those who produced them, under all the stress of the democratic method and over stern opposition of many now supporting Mr. Willkie.

We who have brought the varied people of the world into unity in our citizenship—our foreign policy is under much scrutiny and discussion.

If we have the sense of the unity of the world we may obey the divine order to love even our enemy—because our enemy is thus our brother, and however he differs, or however he may err, we may still love him. He is our brother.

But we must feel that we do not love him truly unless we love honor more.

It is in these lights I would look at our foreign policy with friends and potential enemies. Do we stand on the solid foundation that the good we wish for all the world must be good, eternally good?

Where may we further and where must we oppose what our brothers are doing? And how far should we go?

I should say only so far as is required of us by our love of honor and only when and where the questions rightly involve us.

There can be no question from the foundation of these United States until now that what we should uphold is the establishment of principles of freedom for all men; the carrying out honorably of commitments; the basis of honesty and truth in the relations between men and nations.

A newly voiced principle has come into our national utterances in these recent years from our great administration—echoing, too, from long ago—the principle of helpfulness to other nations—the principle of the good neighbor.

This principle is our guide in our relations with our brothers all over the world.

We cannot depart from that principle. We cannot ignore it. We must not fail to uphold it whenever we are rightly involved.

Now we are daily and hourly in contact with nations which have seized others—and nations which have been seized by the throat, and nations which fear to be so dealt with.

What should our course be?

We should hold to our declaration of non-war as a national policy—unless for the defense of our principles.

We should feel that the possibility of an attack on these principles must spur us to declare them with a vigor never known before and live to demonstrate them.

We have been called on by our government to take the preliminary steps of training so that we shall be ready to defend our country and our hemisphere from an attack of any kind.

As a woman I deeply wish that women also could be allowed to register for any such essential training.

We should obey the call eagerly and hold ourselves in solemn readiness for learning and for duty.

We should shed abroad the light of freedom that we possess and resist strongly any threat to our torch of liberty and truth.

Our present government has led us in these paths.

I am thankful that our great President and our great Secretary of State speak eloquently for the nation when speech is required and work in quietness when it is not.

I am thankful for the brilliant carrying out of the defense course we have outlined in cooperation with other nations of this hemisphere.

I earnestly hope and believe that our people will not allow interruption of the flow of the American spirit offensively against the spiritual evils that are flaunted in the face of civilization; defensively against any possible violence attempted towards our institutions; constructively in our declared course of being a good neighbor to all who will allow us so to be.

Holding firm faith in our destiny—with thankfulness for the freedom that is our heritage—let us go forward.

In the light shed by all these thoughts my choice for the next President of our country is Franklin Roosevelt. My mind and my soul lead me to this vote.

ANITA McCORMICK BLAINE.

Here Is Story of Opera Being Sung Tonight

Here is a synopsis of the opera "Tristan and Isolde," to be presented tonight by the Chicago Opera company. It is suggested that persons unfamiliar with the story, who are planning to attend the performance, clip it out and take it with them to the Civic Opera house. It will greatly increase their enjoyment.

"TRISTAN AND ISOLDE."

Music drama in three acts. Words and music by Richard Wagner. The action takes place on the Irish sea, in Cornwall, and in Brittany, in the remote past.

Act 1—Isolde, an Irish princess, is aboard ship on her way to Cornwall, where she is to become the bride of King Mark. She tells her maid, Brangaene, about her earlier encounter with Tristan, the Cornish knight who is now aboard this ship escorting her to the court of his master, Mark.

It appears that Isolde's betrothed, Morold, had been slain by Tristan. She had discovered this while she was nursing Tristan back to health after he had been wounded, and had resolved to kill him forthwith. However, when their eyes had met, she found herself unable to do so.

Now, on the ship, she is resolved to do away with both Tristan and herself. She bids her maid prepare a death potion, and summon Tristan to her. However, Brangaene substitutes a love potion for the poison. Tristan and Isolde drink of it and their smoldering passion flames up.

Act 2—King Mark has gone hunting, and in the garden of his castle are Isolde and her lover, Brangaene meantime has warned Isolde of her danger, for she believes that Melot, another Cornish knight, suspects this love affair and has arranged the hunt as a ruse. Kurvenal, Tristan's retainer, warns too late of the party's return. The lovers are surprised together and Melot attacks Tristan wounding him gravely.

Act 3—Tristan is at his castle in Brittany, where Kurvenal is attempting to cure his wound. Isolde has been sent for, but a melancholy shepherd's tune announces that the sea is still empty of ships. Suddenly the tune becomes blithe, a ship approaches, and Isolde lands. Tristan becomes delirious, tears the bandages from his wound, and dies just as Isolde reaches him. Now Mark and his retinue come. Kurvenal, thinking it is a hostile band, offers battle and is slain, but not before he has struck down the traitor, Melot. The party forces an entrance. Isolde expires over Tristan's prostrate body, and King Mark, who has come to extend forgiveness, raises his hands in blessing over the lovers.

Pattern for Popular Turbans

WOMAN'S AND MISS' TURBANS.

While the more imaginative and fanciful hat styles have brief fashion lives, the turban, year in and year out, any season, is a good standard mode. It suits every face and women like the turbans for the many ways in which they may drape and wind them. It's easy to match one's dress by this method, too, for the remnants of a frock often are enough to fashion a smart companion turban, or one may purchase a bit more material with this teamwork in mind. Today's pattern makes at least two turban styles, all illustrated.

Style No. 2535 fashions two wrapped turbans and a halo beret. One adaptable headsize.

Miss Keller in Chicago.

Helen Keller has been visiting in Chicago for some days, and new tales are being repeated of her amazing perception and keenness and her delight in life. One of the things she did was to go to see Alec Templeton at the Seneca and listen to him play. Alec played technical things for her and she listened, one hand on the piano to catch the vibrations while with the other she beat time with extraordinary grace. She stood there in a blue gown, her blue eyes shining with joy as he played, and when he did crescendos she became visibly thrilled. Before she left she asked him to play a favorite piece, Elizabeth's Prayer from Tannhäuser.

Miss Keller asked what the flowers were in the centerpiece at a dinner party in the home where she had been visiting and, told they were maroon carnations, said, after running her hands over the container, which was in the form of a swan, "Then the swan ought to be gold." It was gold. She recognized the kind of china and the type of tablecloth with her fingertips and commented as to its difference from each of the tablecloths used on four preceding nights. Miss Lillian Gish, upon hearing this, recalled that one evening when Miss Keller had dined with Katharine Cornell she commented after dinner that the coffee cups were crystal and had been very pleased with them.

Miss Polly Thompson, her teacher and companion, sits beside her and translates the speech of others with swift pressure of her fingers, but Miss Keller talks frequently herself. In a discussion of Shakespeare, she said her favorite Shylock was David Warfield's. She had known Sir Henry Irving, she said, and Joseph Jefferson had made Rip Van Winkle live for her.

Miss Keller, during her Chicago stay, told of her intention to leave her brain to science.

First Opera Opening.

Charles A. Stevens, father of Elmer T. Stevens, was on the first board of directors of the Chicago Opera company and attended the first opera opening.

"My attendance must have been an afterthought," said the elder Mr. Stevens, "because I remember very distinctly that I sat all alone. My seat was the middle seat in the front row, directly behind Campanini, who would have sat in my lap if he had stepped back six inches. I saw practically nothing of the opera, but had an excellent opportunity to examine the tailoring of Maestro Campanini's coat. At times I could hear the singing, but the orchestra had full command of my hearing. . . ."

Hospital Visit.

The 5 year old niece of Miss Ella Fischmann went to Grant hospital to visit an aunt. It was her first visit to a hospital and she loitered in the halls, peeked into a two bed room, and finally worked her way into a ward. Then she ran back to her aunt's room. "There must have been a big accident," she said excitedly, "because I saw a whole family all in bed in one room!"

A pretty blonde girl who looked familiar at a midnight party on the House of the Roof of the Hotel Sherman the other evening, attended by most of the theatrical and ballet celebrities in town, turned out to be Dorothy McGuire, whose pert face Chicago got to know when she was one of John Barrymore's dear children. She is understudy for Julie Haydon and Hene Damur in The Time of Your Life. She wouldn't have anything happen to either of the dear girls for the world.

LAST MONDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 29: The bidding was:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 spades	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

You are West, the opening leader, and hold:

♠Q 6 ♥A K 5 4 ♦Q J 10 ♣10 8 7 3

What card do you lead?

Answer: Diamond queen. Most players, I fear, would lead the heart king, since that sort of opening lead enjoys great [undeserved] popularity. Actually, on the bidding, there is little chance of finding your partner with either the doubleton heart or the heart queen to make this lead desirable. If your A-K of hearts are worth two tricks, well and good. They need no promotion, and you can afford to lay back with them. You may win a trick with the spade queen. Your first objective, then, must be to attempt the establishment of a diamond trick [10 points demerit for heart king or ace lead; 20 points for any club or a low heart; 40 points for a spade].

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question 35: You are West, declarer at a seven diamond contract. [The opponents made no bid.] Your hand and dummy are as follows:

WEST [declarer]	EAST [dummy]
♠83	♠A 9
♥K 4 2	♥A J 7 5 3
♦A K 10 8 5 4 3 2	♦Q J 9 7
♣None	♣A 6

North leads the club king. If you win with dummy's ace, what card do you discard from your own hand, and why? [Very short statement will suffice.]

Today's Hand

North, dealer.

NORTH
♥K
♦K 10 7 4 3
♣J 7 5 3

WEST
♠Q 6
♥Q 6 5
♣K Q 10 6 4 2

EAST
♠J 7 3 2
♥9 3 2
♦A Q J 9 8

SOUTH
♠A 10 8 5
♥A J 10 8 7 4
♣A 9

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 heart	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

Needless to say, the bidding was somewhat bold, but South fulfilled the contract by excellent play, plus a little assistance from the enemy.

West led the club king. South won, and led the club nine right back. West put up his queen and, on the diamond nine signal from East, shifted to his top diamond. Dummy ducking, East won with the eight and returned a trump to dummy's king. Declarer ruffed a diamond, cashed the heart ace, then led the heart jack. West, thrown on lead, was "stuck." To return a club would give dummy a free finesse and two club tricks upon which declarer could discard two spades. The spade queen return, however, was no safer. Dummy's king won and a finesse was then taken against East's spade jack, declarer thereby avoiding the loss of a spade trick.

If West had let East ruff the second [or subsequent] club lead, declarer would have had to "break" the spade suit himself and inevitably lose a spade trick.

Julie Walcott, D. R. Gallagher Reset Wedding Date to Nov. 16

BY JUDITH CASS.

MISS JULIE WALCOTT and David R. Gallagher had planned to be married on Dec. 14, but his number was one of those drawn fairly early in the draft so they have decided to be married a month earlier, for the bridegroom-to-be is not going to wait to be drafted. He is enlisting in December. Consequently he and the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Howe Walcott of Highland Park will have their wedding on Saturday, Nov. 16, instead of four weeks later, as planned originally.

The ceremony will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon in Christ church chapel, Winnetka, with a small reception following at the Walcott home. Mr. Gallagher is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. Gallagher of Highland Park.

Malcolm Stevenson Presents Bride of Four Months.

The guests at a party Malcolm Stevenson gave Saturday night at the Dunham Woods Riding club in Wayne learned to their surprise that they had been invited to meet the host's bride, formerly Miss Dorothy Lucile Caraty. The wedding took place on June 29 in St. Charles, but was kept a secret until now. Both bride and bridegroom have been employed by the United Air Lines, she in Chicago and he in St. Louis. She is giving up her position as head of the women's department and after Dec. 1 she and Mr. Stevenson will be at home in the Missouri city. Mrs. Stevenson is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Caraty of Chicago.

Mr. Stevenson is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stevenson of Winnetka and Chicago. Mr. Stevenson, a member of a pioneer Chicago family, died about two years ago. He was well known in financial and social circles and was a former president of the Saddle and Cycle club. His first wife, the mother of his three sons, Robert III., George S., and Malcolm, and his daughter, Marianne, who is married to Bruce Thorne, was the former Elizabeth Smith. She died in 1932. Mr. Stevenson's second wife was Helen Brown Husband, who last June was married to Augustus S. Cobb of New York.

Society for Shut-Ins Fashion Showing Today.

Today brings the first of six fashion showings during the tea hour for the benefit of the Vocational Society for Shut-Ins. The affairs will be given in Camellia House, the Drake, between 3 and 5 o'clock. The mannequins will be professionals, but several amateurs, including Miss Joan Littlefield and Miss Priscilla Armstrong, will display maid's aprons, trays, and other things made by the shut-ins and sold in the society's shop on North Michigan avenue.

Among those who will have tables today at the tea are Mrs. Edward Morris and Mrs. Paul Walker, who will act as hostesses; Mrs. Horace Wetmore, Mrs. Sangston Hettler, Mrs. James S. Distinguished Audience to Attend Opera Tonight.

The first Monday night of the opera season will bring out a distinguished audience, for the first night of the week always has been THE favorite night with those in social circles. "Tristan und Isolde," with Kirsten Flagstad and Lauritz Melchior as the famous lovers, will be the attraction tonight. The opera, by the way, is to begin at 7:45 o'clock.

Newlyweds at Wayne-DuPage Event

Brooks McCormick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, and his bride of last June at the Wayne-Du Page hunter trials yesterday.

Women Take Top Honors in Hunter Trials

BY SUZETTE FARMER.

That women riders are sometimes better than men riders was apparent yesterday at the Wayne-DuPage Hunter trials, held in the pastures adjoining the mare barn in Wayne. The fact that two inconsequential spills were taken by two representatives of the so-called weaker sex, Mrs. Corwith Hamill and Miss Hope Casselberry, in no way detracted from the glory which covered all equestriennes after the morning event.

The class for working hunters was open to members of the Wayne hunt and neighboring hunts and was composed of 30 riders divided equally between the sexes. Miss Nancy Blaine on Meredith placed first for the Longmeadow hunt; Mrs. William R. Odell Jr. was second on First Whip for Lake Forest; Mrs. Louis F. Swift was awarded third place for the Wayne-DuPage hunt on Range Rattler; and Mrs. William B. McIlvaine Jr., from the Lake Forest hunt, was fourth on Meshera.

Mrs. Swift continued to amass honors for herself and her sex by winning the Wayne Hunt bowl, the main trophy of the day, in the Wayne-DuPage Hunt class, open to members only. Here, too, Mrs. Montgomery M. Orr contributed to feminine distinction by taking second place over Kenneth H. Hess, who was third, and Thomas J. McKearnan, who placed fourth.

A woman also contributed to the success of the event for teams of hunters held in the afternoon. Miss Blaine collaborated with Mr. McKearnan and his son, Robert T. McKearnan, to make the Longmeadow Blacks champions for this year.

The men redeemed themselves somewhat, in the persons of Clark J. Lawrence, Ross J. Beatty Jr., and Lockwood Pirie, by riding the Longmeadow Chestnuts to second place. But again, when the Wayne-DuPage Red Rockets were awarded third place a woman, Miss Virginia Cardwell, had contributed her share to the efforts of Henry T. Stanton Jr. and Arthur Farwell. Kenneth Hess supported Mrs. Orr and Miss Casselberry to place the Rat Catchers fourth.

If the judges, Brock Fuller of Milwaukee and William R. Clark, M. F. H. of the Metamora Hunt of Detroit, were accused of partiality, it was only by the defeated equestrians who attended a tea at the Orr home after the trials, for certainly the 400 spectators were in perfect accord with the decisions.

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob J. Lubell of New York City announce the marriage yesterday of their daughter, Helen, to Dr. Leon J. Aries, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Aries of Chicago and the late Frank Aries. Mrs. L. Robert Vitkin of Oak Park was matron of honor and Marshall Wais of Glencoe was best man. After a wedding trip to Asheville, N. C., Dr. Aries and his bride will be at home in Commonwealth avenue. The bride attended the Carnegie Institute of Technology. Dr. Aries, a graduate of the University of Illinois and of its medical school, is a member of the department of surgery at Northwestern university.

Dancing Group of Opera Gives First Program

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The youthful group of dancers and choreographers which calls itself the Ballet theatre presented at the Civic Opera house last night the first of the all-dance programs which are to punctuate the Chicago Opera company's 1940 season. Alexander Smallens conducted.

The evening was packed with interest. There were things to grow sentimental over, things to admire breathlessly, things to be downright annoyed at.

A feature of the program was the appearance—not to dance but to talk—of Adeline Genée, the celebrated Danish born ballerina. Her mission last night was to dedicate her own little composition, "The Love Song," to the Ballet theatre and to be present at its first American performance. Immediately after Mme. Genée's words of dedication "The Love Song" was exquisitely danced by Nina Stroganova and Anton Dolin.

"The Love Song" is an unpretentious little item which nevertheless succeeds admirably in creating and communicating an impression of 18th century grace and gallantry. It is tiny, fragrant, full of a delicious make-believe courtliness. Based on the painting of the same name by Arthur Devis, it uses nice, old lace music by a certain Dora Bright.

It takes courage for any company to make its bow in a piece as familiar as Fokine's "Les Sylphides." Yet the performance last night had such brightness and poise and smoothness—it managed so triumphantly to evoke the gauzy mood of which the piece is made—that invidious comparisons simply congealed in the mouths of those who were about to make them.

Now about "The Great American Goof," a piece of the type which always sends a fogy such as the writer of this review into a long sulk. With scenario and dialog by William Saroyan, choreography by Eugene Loring, and music by Henry Brant, "The Great American Goof" offers a series of more or less diverting episodes in which a well disposed but sadly ill equipped young man tries to make some sort of adjustment with his environment.

Doubtless the piece has cleverness and point, but what it has to say could be said more briefly, more clearly, and more forcefully in a language other than that of the dance. The words [this is the ballet with "lines between the leaps"] are hard to hear and harder still to understand and apply. There was little here of the immediate, nonintellectual delight, and the potent emotional power which we demand of the dance.

However much of a storm these unprogressive opinions may raise in the best dance circles, the writer of them knows that he has at least the support of the two persons who went to sleep in the opera house's comfortable seats last night and who were still sleeping soundly when the lights went up for the intermission.

New Ballet's First Audience Most Brilliant in Many Moons

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

The Civic Opera house, which under normal conditions would be dark and quiet on the Sunday night between the opening on Saturday and the first subscription night on Monday, was alive and gay last night. There was even more of an air of vibrant excitement there last night than on the night before, when the six week opera season opened.

Perhaps it was because the Ballet Theatre was occupying the stage, for Chicago is acknowledged to be a city of balletomanes. Or it may have been because it was a benefit for the British War Relief society. Whatever the cause, or combination of causes, not in many a day has there been such a brilliant, cheerful audience as that assembled in the great theater last night.

Every one seemed to be on tiptoes, those who watched as well as the lovely young ballerinas on the stage. Every one was enthusiastic, glad to be there, and the 3,000 at the benefit lived in that beautiful world of fairy tale lore and allegory into which ballets transport one.

That the affair will be a financial success, as well as an artistic and social one, is assured. One member of the committee said she was sure that not less than $7,000 would be realized. Mrs. Clarence Prentice headed the committee and among her co-workers were Mrs. Howard Linn, Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mrs. Gerhard Foreman, Mrs. Frank Hibbard, Mrs. Howard W. Fenton, and Mrs. William Sutherland.

What to wear to such a huge affair on a Sunday night had been a puzzle to many. Etiquet governing the proper attire on Sunday night has undergone changes in the last decade or two, and the old rule that one never dressed formally on a Sunday night has been forgotten for many a year. Common sense and convenience dictated what those present wore. There were as many short skirts as long ones, as many business suits as dinner coats. No white ties to speak of, and few real evening gowns. Most of the women who wore long dresses and no hats were in dinner clothes.

It was definitely a cosmopolitan audience and there were dozens of interesting personalities from other cities in the seats. Lillian Gish, the actress; the dancer, Agnes De Mille; Mme. Adeline Genée, noted ballerina; Mrs. Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, Nicolas De Molas, the artist; Miss Helen McGinnis of London, who is said never to miss a ballet in which Antony Dolin dances, and Hugh Wilson, former ambassador to Germany, to name a few of them. Mme. Genée was a guest in the John Carpenter box. Their other guests were Mrs. Carleton Palmer of New York, who had assembled the interesting exhibit of ballet art in the foyer; Mrs. George T. Langhorne, Chauncey McCormick, and Russell Tyson.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Linn, the latter dressed charmingly in a black and white plaid taffeta with a tight bodice and three tiered skirt, enlivened by a red rose and bright red slippers, had as their box guests the Walter Paepckes, the Byron Harveys, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Hutchins. Mrs. Hutchins wore a peach taffeta trimmed at the neck, sleeves and pockets with dainty black flowers.

One of the main floor boxes was that of the Charles B. Goodspeeds, who had Mr. and Mrs. James H. Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Douglas, and the John Andrews Kings as their guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cummings were hosts to the Daniel C. Greens, to Miss Betty Broome, one of this season's most fêted debutantes who is to bow to society on Nov. 12 with her sister, Miss Caryl Broome; and Arthur Cummings. Mrs. Cummings

SYNOPSIS.

Rowan Wilde, an American girl, goes to the isolated cottage of Hazel Fordyce, in England, to do some studying. Arriving alone at night, she opens a closet door and a dead man falls out, getting blood on her skirt. As she rushes from the house, she runs into 32 year old Stephen Smedley, a young publisher, who has come to the country for a rest. He is living in an old chapel nearby. He goes off for help, but when he fails to return Rowan gets suspicious and starts out searching for him. She stumbles upon him prostrate and helps him into the house where he collapses on the sofa. She lets him sleep while she goes upstairs to bed. She is awakened during the night by Stephen entering her room holding a butcher knife, but a sharp command makes him drop the knife and retreat. She finds Stephen's brief case containing a foreign manuscript, and suspicioning him she hides it with her bloody skirt. The next morning Stephen seems to remember nothing of the knife incident and the body has disappeared. Stephen advises Rowan not to mention finding the body, as its disappearance will get them both into trouble. The dead man turns out to be Bertram Bogge, no-good brother of the vicar who lives next door. Lord Romrytch and his secretary, Forbes, also neighbors, help in the search for the missing man, and they find the body down a well. Egbert, the caretaker, is arrested after the coroner's jury in which Rowan and Stephen keep back evidence that might prove him innocent. Egbert seems to be th only one with a motive for the murder, as Bertram had attempted assault of his fiancée. But Egbert is afterward released as he produces a good alibi. Rowan is afraid they will find Stephen's brief case and her bloody skirt. Rowan's bedroom has been locked by the police for investigation, and Rowan is particularly worried, as the night before she heard some one in the house typewriting and notes were slipped under her door demanding the return of the brief case. Rowan is afraid to tell the police about the notes, as it might get her into trouble, but she feels that Lord Romrytch is her friend and so confesses to him. He promises to help her recover the brief case. Tho she likes Stephen very much, she suspicions him from time to time, and when she hears that he has disappeared she is really afraid he is the murderer. Scotland Yard is called in on the case and Rowan is questioned by them.

QUESTIONING.

INSTALMENT XLIII.

The inspector handed Rowan a blue cablegram which had been propped against the inkstand.

"This is for you. Open it, see what it says."

Inwardly trembling, she tore the seal.

"Darling," she read. "How too shattering stop who was this creature stop what a shame for you stop so sad about poor Bill love Hazel."

Her lips twitched. "This is from Mrs. Fordyce," she said, and giving the message back watched the stolid eyes contract over it.

"Who is Bill?"

"I was wondering that, too. O, Bill must have been the dog, a Dalmatian, I think, that died suddenly just before I got here. I expect Egbert wrote her. I understand the dog was kept shut up in the garage most of the time and barked quite a lot."

The inspector glanced tentatively toward the kitchen, shrugged, and reached a minute object from a small silver tray.

"Do you recognize this? It was found in your former bedroom, on edge against the wall."

It was a bone button. Dark gray.

Found, and not a word said to her! Of course till today they had had an obvious suspect—Egbert. She began to see why Hazel's room had been closed up.

"It's a man's button," she managed. "Mr. Fordyce's, perhaps—tho women use this ordinary kind, too, on their tailored suits. That's Mrs. Fordyce's room."

"Has Mr. Smedley been wearing a gray suit?"

Suddenly a picture rose before her—Stephen, in her doorway, Tuesday evening, while Inspector Moody and Maj. Godstone were hearing her experience. Midnight blue shirt, burgundy red tie—yes, and his suit was gray.

"I—I rather think so, once. He had it on the one and only time he came into that room. You know, after I was knocked out. I didn't notice if it had a loose button."

She had noticed, tho—a sleeve button, very like this, dangling by a thread. A tiny detail, registered only because it marred an unwonted neatness . . . or because this maternal idiocy which had been her downfall.

"Gray!" she pondered. "The doctor had on grayish tweeds, I remember. And the vicar, Mr. Bogge, wore darkish gray suits."

"Has the vicar been into that bedroom?"

"Not to my certain knowledge," she hesitated. If she began voicing her suspicion about the searching of Hazel's room, other matters might be dragged out.

"I wouldn't swear he hasn't. Did Sergt. Dabney mention Mr. Forbes, Lord Romrytch's secretary, how he came prowling round here yesterday afternoon? He said he was looking for a pen he'd dropped, but he found the pen up at the top of the garden. It fell out of his pocket, you know, when he fainted; that is, when the body was taken out of the well."

The inspector placed the button in a match box and pushed it aside.

"Mr. Forbes was wearing gray flannels."

She flung this at him defiantly, and almost added that Forbes had been sacked. It was ridiculous for the inspector to remain ignorant of this significant fact, and by rights he should know of the vicar's frantic attempt to get at the dead man's pockets, but she pulled up, perceiving the pitfall of such disclosures. Was there anything she dared tell?

He had ignored her thrust and was questioning her again.

"When did I arrive? But you must have it all there! Round 7, I think."

"Yes, well, it will be a simple matter to see if the chauffeur's version tallies with yours."

"But, of course, it will! Why on earth shouldn't it?"

The inspector swooped toward her. "Is this yours?"

A tiny, "invisible" hairpin.

"That? I expect so. You'll see a handful on my dresser."

"Quite. This one was found in the Tudor room."

"Well, I went in there, you know, with the vicar and Lord Romrytch."

"Can you explain why this hairpin was stuck in the underside of a rug Vallee turned over and switched round when he first came upon the corpse?"

Her heart gave a wrench. "Underside! No, no, unless it got caught up——" That wouldn't serve. "Look, inspector, maybe Mrs. Fordyce dropped that pin. It's black, isn't it? Well, she'd use that kind, too—and several million other women."

"I understand that after the Fordyces' Easter visit every inch of floor covering was gone over with a vacuum cleaner."

"Even so, what vacuum cleaner picks up a pin that's firmly stuck in a rug? Besides, this man Bogge may have had a woman caller at some time. Had you thought about that?"

The inspector looked at her. He couldn't see her hands. They were deep in her pockets to hide their trembling. He could see her eyes, tho, held as in a vise by his implacable ones. He leaned forward a little and spoke in even, weighted tones.

"Miss Wilde, when I first read your statement I didn't feel at all satisfied with it. Since viewing the layout here and making my own observations I am convinced you have not been frank over this affair. If as you say your father is a judge, you can hardly fail to realize that in tampering with evidence you are committing a most serious offense. Be certain we shall find out the real facts of this murder and that soon. For your own sake—I leave Smedley out of it for the moment—won't it be prudent if you tell me precisely what did occur on the evening of your arrival? Let me repeat, it's bound to come out in spite of your efforts to balk justice."

Bound to come out! Yes, now this human dredging machine was on the job. She cringed, a paralyzed rabbit, held by that accusing eye.

"I—" she quavered a beginning, and stopped.

As in a closeup, she had seen Lord Romrytch's small hardheaded person. She heard the clipped cockney accents drumming into her arguments remarkably similiar to those Stephen had used. Truth wouldn't serve her. Not now. Reason returned. No, if neither she nor Stephen had been seen prodding under that thatch—and it was a dead certainty they hadn't—her secret was still safe.

"Well, Miss Wilde?"

"I don't get it, inspector. Do you mean to tell me a hairpin any female may have lost at any time makes you think I'm keeping something back?"

"You're making a mistake," muttered the inspector. "It's the same whether it's yourself you wish to shield or some one else. You may think it too late to start hunting for clews. Let me assure you that those previously noted are still intact, while a vast deal has not been dealt with at all. I have scarcely made a beginning, yet certain items have already claimed my attention. For instance, why on the night of your alleged first encounter with the corpse did you climb out of your window and visit Mr. Smedley in his chapel?"

Good Morning!

KIND: Farce.

ACTING: Gosh, I don't know. IS it acting? Constance Moore, George Reeves, Ferike Boros, and Paul Porcasi pleased me most.

DIRECTION: Certainly as good as the story.

SCENERY and PHOTOGRAPHY: Some of it is swell. There's an episode featuring singing riders coming down a mountainside at night that's a honey.

STORY: Goulash. Starts in New York and ends in the Argentine. No sense to it at all.

MUSIC: There are a couple of catchy numbers. I think you'll be humming "Amigo, We Go Riding Tonight," the riding song. . . . The all-girl band does some snappy playing but I did not care for the singing and dancing Andrews Sisters, nor, I must add, the clowning Ritz Brothers.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: Some audiences will probably love this film. And their verdict is quite as apt to be right as mine. My bent just isn't Ritz-ward.

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Diary of a Movie Correspondent.

Hollywood, Nov. 3.—Sunday: To Robert Montgomery's beautiful colonial home to talk with Bob about his New York speech on the movies, to look at his books—his collection of Max Beerbohm is rated the best and most complete—and to listen to stories of that dead pan leg-puller, Alfred Hitchcock. Montgomery enthusiastic about Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls," wishes he could play in it—as what actor doesn't?

Monday: To the preview of Marlene [Feathers] Dietrich's "Seven Sinners," and had a fine time. The story isn't world-shaking, but Dietrich is as alluring as ever—she's almost the only beauty who can put sex and humor on the screen at the same time—and Tay Garnett's fight scenes are champion.

Tuesday: Quite a bout with the telephone, and then to the weekly luncheon of a journalistic-movie group. . . . An evening with Mr. Nugent, Mr. Delehanty, Mr. McNamara, and James Cagney. McNamara now has two or three film jobs and is almost uncomfortably busy. Cagney reports that the remake of "One Sunday Afternoon," titled "Strawberry Blonde," shifts the original locale from a small town to a big town, but it's the same period.

Wednesday: The regular long writing Wednesday, and I have to miss the afternoon preview of "Escape." Everybody out here likes "Escape" very much, says it's Miss Shearer's top job, which is good news, because I have had several cases of Norma Shearer poisoning. . . . In the evening with John Larkin to Clifford Fischer's "Folies Bergere" night club show compressed into a fast and brief stage attraction at what one of the girls out here calls the El Capitan theater.

Thursday: To M. G. M. for a chat with Ann Sothern on an outdoor set. She looks mighty cute in her faintly flossy Maisie getup.

Friday: In the evening to "The Mark of Zorro," an action picture which will do splendidly, I suppose, but which I thought had some pretty bad acting and a lot of very bad writing.

Saturday: To the valley plants, Republic, Universal, and Warners, and a pleasant day on the sound stages.

Dramatic Program on W-G-N Reminds Voters of Rights

A stirring reminder of how precious is the right to vote was broadcast last night over W-G-N and the coast-to-coast Mutual network. The program included a play "The Man With a Country," by Frederick Hazlitt Brennan; the "American Rhapsoday" by David Broekman, with Mr. Broekman himself conducting, and "God Bless America," sung by Attilio Baggiore.

The play concerns a new citizen and his attempts to vote "wrong" in a crooked ward. Twice beaten up for opposing the machine candidate, the new American goes direct to Washington and the President, still holding his crumpled and uncounted ballot. A new vote is ordered in the ward.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, announced that the Symphonic Hour program would be discontinued until Dec. 16, when it will be supplanted by a Monday evening broadcast to be known as the Chicagoland Concert Hour.

The program was directed by William A. Bacher.

Hizi Koyke Achieves New Excellence as Madame Butterfly

BY CECIL SMITH.

The San Carlo Opera company bade Chicago a postponed farewell yesterday with two extra performances in the Auditorium theater. The afternoon bill was Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," with Hizi Koyke, Dimitri Onofrei and Mario Valle. In the evening Bizet's "Carmen" was given, with Hilda Kutsukian Kosta, Leola Turner, Aroldo Lindi, Mostyn Thomas, and Harold Kravitt. Carlo Peroni conducted both operas.

Yesterday Miss Koyke, in the title rôle, seemed to project a new profundity of emotional perception, such as even her performance a week earlier had not wholly possessed. Vocally she achieved a surprising tonal robustness, and a sympathetic warmth of tone color that served to increase the impact of the tragedy. In her acting she has developed longer lines of movement, departing largely from mincing Japanese gestures without sacrificing pictorial beauty.

A Glamorous Audience Sees Ballet Opening

wore a dress of blue gray crêpe with a long matching jacket. Miss Broome was stunningly dressed in a pale blue net skirt and horizontally striped bodice of blue lamé. Her long wool coat of the same shade was trimmed at the shoulders with silver embroidery. Mrs. Green's beige dress and gaily embroidered burnt orange jacket added the final touch of color to the box.

Mrs. Gilbert Osgood wore a pale blue chiffon dress with light fuchsia belt and a short fur jacket. Her sister Mrs. Geoffrey de Freitas looked exceedingly smart in a long black wool coat piped at the sleeves and neck in gold.

Mrs. Philip Maher was striking in an electric blue satin gown and fox jacket.

Mrs. Telfer MacArthur wore a long red velvet coat with a cluster of pink carnations pinned to a mink collar.

Princess Rostislav wore the same simple black velvet gown, trimmed at the off-shoulder neckline with white lace, which she wore to display the Jonker diamond at the St. Luke's fashion show.

Miss Patricia Cathcart, another of this season's debutantes, was in white, a white chiffon skirt and white and gold jacket.

Mrs. Alfred Shaw, in black slipper satin and pearls, sat in the main lobby at a table covered with the familiar red, white, and blue earrings, pins, and clips which are almost a trademark with British war relief workers in this country.

Mrs. Douglas Buchanan, who worked with Mrs. Shaw on the jewelry sales, tied a black velvet ribbon in her lovely blue-gray hair. Mrs. Buchanan wore a severely cut black crêpe gown with fluffy organdie flowers outlining its décolletage. Her wrist corsage echoed the flowers on her dress.

Miss Mary Louise Corley, program seller in the interests of the relief, covered her shoulders with a red fox cape. Miss Corley's bouffant white tulle gown had a silver embroidered bodice.

Miss Moyra Browne's short ermine jacket covered a glistening silver lamé gown. Mrs. Lewis Bernays, wife of the British consul general, was smart in red with gold trimmings. Miss Betty Mead, a program seller, pushed up the sleeves of her gold slipper satin gown and doffed her mink cape as business became rushing. Miss Marie Merrill Hubbard kept her lynx fur cape wrapped around her shoulders all evening, however.

Among others there were the Dwight Deere Wimans, the Joseph T. Bowens, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hughes, the Peter Fortunes, the Lester Armours, the Frank S. Gordons, Miss Mary Ryerson, the Alfred P. Shaws, the Charles Reckitts, Mrs. Charles C. Forster, the Solomon B. Smiths, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Rogers, the Farwell Winstons, the Earl Kribbens, the Gordon Langs, Fred Poor, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sims, the Freeman Hinckleys and their daughter, Miss Eleanor McClurg, Robert H. McCormick, Miss Elizabeth McCormick, the Henry Fields, the Huntington B. Henrys, Mrs. Alden B. Swift, the Charles H. Hamills, the John L. Cochrans, the Robert Harveys, the Charles S. Deweys, the Robert J. Thornes, Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt, the Arthur G. Cables, the Frederick Woodwards, the George Moseleys, and the William B. Cudahys.

MONTREAL AND BOSTON HOCKEY TEAMS TIE, 1 TO 1

Canadiens Sparkle with Youth.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 3 (AP).—The rebuilt Montreal Canadiens, bearing little resemblance to the team that finished at the bottom of the National Hockey league standing last season, opened their 1940-'41 campaign tonight by playing a 1 to 1 tie with the mighty Boston Bruins.

A crowd of 11,780, the largest in a half dozen seasons, watched the game and about 3,000 more fans were turned away.

With eight new men in the lineup, some of them youngsters 19 and 20 years old, the Canadiens took the lead in the last minute of the second period when Toe Blake slammed home a goal after picking up Defenseman Alex Singbush's rebound. Late in the third period the Bruins tied the score. Milt Schmidt circled the Montreal goal and poked the puck home from a scramble in front of the net.

The Canadiens' brightest star was their new goalie, Bert Gardiner, who starred in minor league company for several seasons with the Philadelphia Ramblers. He made at least a half dozen remarkable saves. Lineups:

HAWKS AT HOME TODAY

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3 [Special].—The Chicago Blackhawks ended their 22 day training grind in Minnesota this afternoon by again beating the St. Paul Saints, champions of the American association. The final score was 9 to 2, with Mush March, Earl Seibert and Cully Dahlstrom accounting for two goals apiece and Bob Chad, Phil Hergesheimer and Johnny Gottselig each scoring one.

The Hawks left after the game for Chicago to practice three days in preparation for their National Hockey league opener Thursday in the Stadium against the New York Americans.

SAN FRANCISCO ROUTED, 27 TO 0, BY SANTA CLARA

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 3 (AP).—Santa Clara's Broncos rode the aerial lanes for a 27 to 0 victory over University of San Francisco today behind the passing marksmanship of Substitute Half Back Ken Casanega. Twenty thousand attended.

The clash produced the largest score of the annual series. The Broncos got a touchdown in the second period, added another in the third, and cracked over two more in a wild last quarter that saw the Dons demoralized.

Casanega, a lanky youth, rifled the ball three times on touchdown plays and set the stage for the fourth on a toss that put the oval 1 yard from the goal.

IT'S MINNESOTA VS. MICHIGAN FOR LEAD IN BIG NINE

Unbeaten Rivals Clash in Minneapolis Saturday.

Evashevski to Play

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 3 [Special].—A consultation of university hospital surgeons resulted in the announcement today that Capt. Forest Evashevski, Michigan quarter back, will be able to play in the Minnesota game Saturday after all.

Dr. George Hammond had said yesterday that Evashevski would undergo an operation this morning to remove a chipped fragment of his collar bone, but the surgical staff studied the X-ray pictures again and concluded that an operation would not be necessary.

"We now believe that the injury in question is one of long standing and was not incurred in the Pennsylvania game," said Dr. Hammond today.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The championship of the Western conference, now that Northwestern has been beaten by Minnesota, probably will be decided Saturday in Minneapolis. With the advantage of an extra week of rest and cheered by the announcement Capt. Forest Evashevski, excellent blocking back, will play, Michigan's Wolverines will face Minnesota there this week-end. Each team is undefeated.

The equally important Northwestern-Michigan game on Nov. 16 remains, of course, and Michigan also has a final test with Ohio State while Minnesota completes its 1940 schedule with Purdue and Wisconsin. But for the week interest centers at the headwaters of the Mississippi.

Minnesota goes into Saturday's engagement undefeated because Joe Mernik successfully place kicked the point after the Gophers' first touchdown against Northwestern Saturday. Don Clawson and George Benson missed on their kicks for Northwestern. For that matter, Gordon Paschka, Minnesota guard, failed on the attempt that might have placed the Gophers beyond reach of the Wildcat rally.

Wildcats Show Power.

Thousands who saw Northwestern's brilliant and determined fight against the Minnesota invaders never will be convinced the Wildcats are inferior. Without repeating trite comment on the value of the point after touchdown, it is true that the rivals matched touchdown marches and in fashioning their second drive of eighty yards the Wildcats exploded the legend of Minnesota superiority.

While the Big Three—Michigan, Northwestern, and Minnesota—monopolized headlines in the Western conference, Notre Dame made news Saturday by narrowly averting the most stunning upset of the year. The Irish beat Army in the nation's most widely publicized rivalry by one touchdown, but the 7 to 0 result emphasized the fundamental truth in all competition that easily won games breed overconfidence as they also diffuse criticism of slovenly work.

Notre Dame had swept thru its previous games and while this schedule wasn't planned, of course, it was enervating to the players who had seen little action and had basked in the praise of friends. When the test came unexpectedly, since Army previously had been beaten, 45 to 0, by Cornell, Steve Juzwik saved the record by his interception of an Army pass and eighty-one yard touchdown run.

Recalls Elder's Feat.

Juzwik thus stepped into the identical rôle once held by Jack Elder, who intercepted an Army pass in 1929 on the same gridiron to run ninety yards for Notre Dame's 7 to 0 victory over the West Pointers. In 1929 Notre Dame continued to a national title and if the Irish reach these heights in 1940—as well they may—Juzwik will be the Elder of this new Notre Dame era.

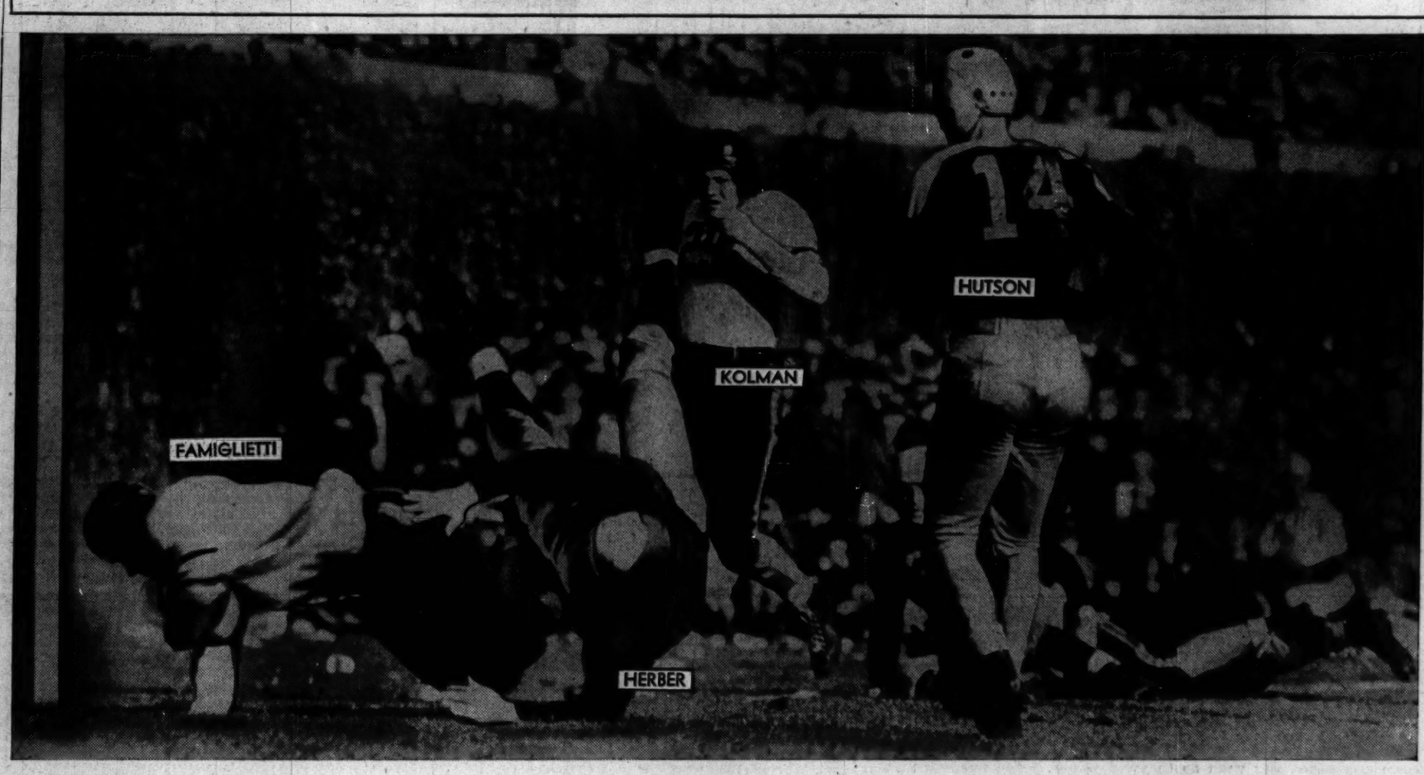
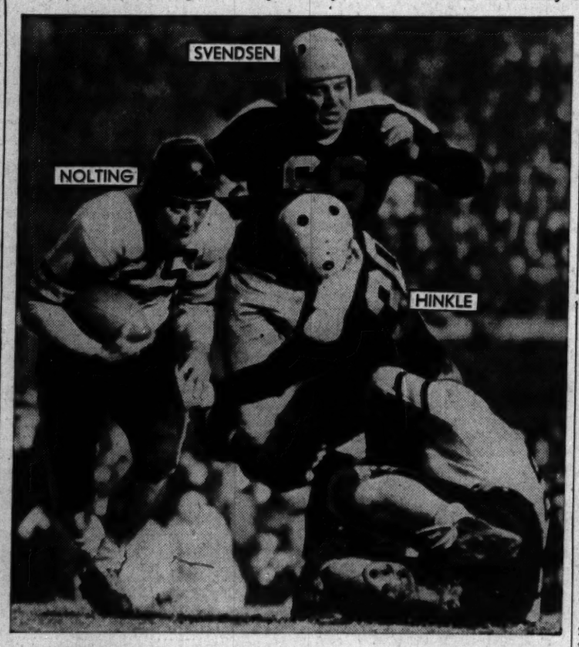
MOVING THE BEARS UP A NOTCH NEARER CROWN



Gary Famiglietti, Chicago Bears' back, goes seven yards for touchdown that meant victory in the second quarter of yesterday's battle with the Green Bay Packers in Wrigley field. A record crowd of 45,434 saw the game. The Bears won, 14 to 7, to take a two game lead in the western division of the National Football league.



Ray Nolting, Bears' back, starts a thirty-three yard journey which carried him to the Packers' 3 yard line in first quarter. On the next play Joe Maniaci plunged for Chicago's opening touchdown.

MILWAUKEE PRO ELEVEN DEFEATS BOSTON, 10 TO 0

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3 (AP).—Two breaks in the first quarter set up a touchdown and a field goal today as the Milwaukee Chiefs defeated the Boston Bears, 10 to 0, in an American Football league game before 8,000.

Bob Eckl booted a field goal from the 16 yard line after a pass interception moved the ball to Boston's 10 yard line. Later the Chiefs recovered a fumble on the Bears' 12 yard line, and Obbie Novakofski passed to Sherman Barnes for the touchdown.

Strong's Field Goal Wins for Jersey City Giants

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 3 [Special].—Ken Strong's thirty-three yard field goal in the last minute of play, his second of the game, gave the Jersey City Giants a 13 to 10 victory over the Newark Bears today before 12,000. The victory enabled the Little Giants to replace the Bears in third place in the American association standing.

NEW YORK COUNTS ITS PROFITS FROM PARI-MUTUELS

New York, Nov. 3 (AP).—Figures tell the story of New York's amazingly successful first racing season with the mutuels.

The five tracks operated 174 days. The total money bet was $103,259,391, for the astounding daily average of $593,444. The attendance [turnstile] came to 2,038,154, or 11,713 per day. The state and tracks drew a total of $11,145,454, or $5,572,727 a side.

These figures are possible this early thru a check of those announced each day during the season by various racing associations, and are not the official state figures. However, they will differ very little.

Tracks Clear Over $3,000,000.

As nearly as can be estimated, Empire City and Aqueduct probably netted around $900,000 each; Jamaica more than $700,000; Belmont Park close to $400,000 and Saratoga, where there is no such population to draw from, over $250,000. This would be a total of more than $3,000,000. These estimates are based upon daily income and expenditures. Many thousands of dollars either have been or will be turned back into improvements and modernization.

As for the state, its more than 5½ millions revenue here reported is exclusive of admission taxes and betting income from trotting meets. In 1939, the last year for bookmakers here, the state received total taxes from racing amounting to only $616,871. In 1933, before the creation of the state racing commission, racing paid the state no revenue.

To realize the immensity of New York's experimental mutuels season, some comparison should be made with other sectors of the country. Pari-mutuels are legal in some 20 states. The total handle for the 12 leading states was $281,359,309; the total state revenue was $9,470,781.

May Reduce Betting Take.

Thus this season in New York, with only 174 days, the total handle exceeded one-third of the entire play for those 12 states, while the state's revenue came to almost 60 per cent of the total derived in the dozen other major sectors.

The outside states used for this comparison were Arkansas, California, Delaware, Florida, Kentucky, Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, and Washington. California, Illinois had 200.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Three boys who had been pals and teammates thru grade and high school for 12 years parted company after graduation from Gary's Horace Mann High school in 1937. . . . They were Tom Harmon, Tommy O'Boyle, and Eddie Herbert. . . . They went to different universities—Harmon to Michigan, O'Boyle to Tulane, and Herbert to Indiana. . . . Before starting their separate ways they made a pledge to one another that all three would earn a starting position in the 1941 All-Star football game in Chicago. . . . As they started their senior year of intercollegiate competition a few weeks ago it appeared that all three had a chance to make the grade. . . . Harmon won national recognition in his junior year at Ann Arbor and this season is rated the nation's No. 1 half back. . . . O'Boyle is co-captain at Tulane. . . . Tragedy struck his life when his parents, en route to Tulane's game with Fordham in New York, were killed in an automobile accident. . . . O'Boyle didn't play against Fordham and Tulane lost, but he was back in the lineup the following Saturday and his team whipped Rice, which the following week defeated the previously unbeaten University of Texas eleven. . . . Herbert, after two seasons as a regular at Indiana, was expected this year to be the Hoosiers' field general and blocking back. . . . A few days before Indiana's opening game with Texas he suffered a knee injury in practice. . . . He withdrew from school, underwent an operation, and will not complete his collegiate eligibility until next fall. . . . He may some day be a starter in the All-Star game, but it can't be with the Harmon-O'Boyle-Herbert triumvirate of Horace Mann High school days. . . .

Don Clawson, Northwestern full back, once killed a rattlesnake with a golf club and now wears its skin as a belt. . . . St. Mary's of Texas football players travel around the country in a streamlined bus. . . . When the car gets a flat, the fellows who fumbled in the last game have the privilege of changing the tire. . . . Bill Terry says he is going ivory hunting, which must give Lefty O'Doul a chuckle. . . . O'Doul first tried to sell Terry on Joe DiMaggio. . . . No deal. . . . Then Dominic DiMaggio. . . . No deal. . . . Then Ted Williams. . . . No deal. . . . Lee Savold, who will fight Billy Conn, light heavyweight champion, at Madison Square Garden, Nov. 29, fought on the west coast under the name Savoldi until he couldn't command a $200 purse. . . . Lem Franklin, Cleveland Negro, knocked him out in two rounds at Chicago's Marigold Gardens last March. . . . Members of the National Guard playing football are entitled to workmen's compensation in case of injury on the gridiron, the attorney general of California has ruled. . . . Joe Farrell, the Chicago Blackhawks' press agent who is a sprightly youngster of 60 summers and an extra winter, says the days of 35 to 40 year old active major hockey league stars like Ching Johnson, Bill Cook, Nels Stewart, Hooley Smith, and Eddie Shore are gone forever. . . . Under the rigors of the game as now played, says Joseph, the graybeard phase of the future will come at 30.

A Toast to the President.

I've heard men shout for Wilkie,
Praise Roosevelt to the skies;
Some will throw the mud around
With talk just full of lies.

I'd like to say a word or two
As we lose our heads and roar:
Discuss it 'round your fireplace
On the night of November Four.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Mighty and triumphant, but severely shaken, the Chicago Bears stand poised on the threshold of a championship, led there by the smallest of them all, Bobby Swisher.

In the lengthening shadows of a magnificent Indian summer afternoon yesterday, Swisher thrice thwarted Green Bay's dreaded aerial attack in the end zone to preserve the Bears' lead and send them away to a two game advantage in the Western division race of the National Football league.

The final score was Bears, 14; Packers, 7, but the story of the game is written in the scoreless second half when Swisher leaped from the bench, incased in tape that protected his recently fractured ribs, and brought the breath out of a record breaking crowd of 45,434 with as near a perfect demonstration of covering the elusive Don Hutson as any one of the overflow crowd in Wrigley field ever expects to see.

Bears Stopped at Goal Line.

Bear might drove the Packers back seventy-one yards to within an inch of their goal in the first few minutes of the game. A moment later the Bears roared back fifty-five yards in four plays for a touchdown. Green Bay, fighting a last ditch fight in defense of its title, matched that touchdown in the second period, but before the Packers again could regain the ball the Bears had blasted their way to the deciding touchdown.

Joe Maniaci and Gary Famiglietti, a pair of bone-crushing full backs, scored the Bears' touchdowns. Maniaci from the 3 yard line in the first period and Famiglietti from the 7 in the second quarter. Jack Manders came in each time to kick the extra point. Green Bay's touchdown was another of those traditional aerial masterpieces, Arnie Herber to Don Hutson, but unlike most of its spectacular predecessors, this one was short. It covered only five yards.

A Game to Watch.

This was a game to see. It was not unusual as Packer-Bear games have gone for the last 20 years, for it contained all the excitement, the drama and the spectacular that had attracted a record crowd of 44,977 to Wrigley field in 1937 and lured enough spectators to beat that mark by 457 yesterday. There were hair raising runs, thrilling passes, arguments, and bitterly fierce contact. This 44th encounter between the National league's greatest feudists had everything—except adequate officiating.

Green Bay was slow in bringing itself to the feel of the competition as the Bears forced play thruout the first half. But in the second half it dominated the game. Five times it was within striking distance of the touchdown that would tie the game and wipe out some of the sting of the humiliating 41 to 10 defeat it suffered at the hands of these same Bears on Sept. 22. But in the clutch there was always Swisher.

While an inspired line kept the Bears back beyond the 50 yard line thruout the second half the Packers, at various times, had a first down on the Bears' 21, 23, 12, 32, and 7 yard lines, all to no avail.

McLean Takes Kick 56 Yards.

Heroes abounded on each side—all lined up behind Swisher. Ray McLean, a recruit in the Bears' mosquito fleet of four diminutive backs, came back fifty-six yards with a kickoff to set up the march that gave the Bears their second touchdown. Ray Nolting, Familglietti, and Maniaci carried the ball with frenzied fury and John Siegal and George Wilson gave exhibitions of pass receiving that outdid even Hutson. And, of course, there was Joe Stydahar, one of football's greatest linemen.

Green Bay had its heroes in Hutson, who made up defensively what brilliance he may have lacked as a pass receiver on all except the Packers' touchdown maneuver, and Clark Hinkle, who played a good share of the contest with a back injury that would have kept him out of any game except one with the Bears. There was some praise due Cecil Isbell, too, but Isbell on Wrigley field yesterday was not the superb practitioner who directed Green Bay's aerial attack to its spectacular victory in the Chicago All-Star game. Half a dozen times he missed his mark with passes that would have sent Hutson on to the goal for scores.

As Close as the Score.

It was a game as close as the score and the statistics indicate, and while the Bears knock on the championship portal, they can be proud over yesterday's accomplishments, but hardly boastful over any marked superiority.

Their supremacy in first downs was limited to two, 11 against 9. They had much the better of the rushing attack, but in total yards gained led only 246 to 208. The fierceness of play is reflected in the number of fumbles, five for the Bears and four by the Packers, a majority of the total being the result of hostile hands snatching the ball from the carrier's hands.

Hinkle's toe had no more than met the ball on the opening kickoff than Nolting set the supercharged tempo for the afternoon. He went back into the end zone and disdaining all pretense at conservatism, caught the ball to make a return. Thundering straight up the field, he got back twenty-one yards to the 19 yard line.

The first three Bear smashes, by Maniaci, Nolting and McAfee, netted nine, nine, and eight yards, respectively.

Stopped Inch from Goal.

Green Bay then forced a quick exchange of punts. It ended in the Bears' first march, an advance of seventy-one yards that wound up one inch from the goal line in a fight. Forty-two yards of the distance were covered by a pass from Luckman to Wilson on which Wilson, expertly covered by Lou Brock, made a catch that infringed on Hutson's copyright. Maniaci's fourth down plunge from the 2 yard line was piled up by Bill Lee. When the pile was untangled, the ball was placed an inch from the goal. Maniaci objected and in the ensuing argument, the Bears were penalized 15 yards for sassing Referee John Kelly.

Joe Stydahar partially blocked Hinkle's punt. Luckman brought it back four yards, but when trapped, he lateraled to McAfee who got three more, placing the ball on the Bears' 45. Incensed at the decision which they thought had deprived them of a touchdown, the Bears unleashed all the fury of their running attack to score in four plays.

Maniaci Goes Over.

Maniaci knocked L. Brock flying with a high shoulder block, clearing the way for McAfee's 17 yard run around Green Bay's right end. Maniaci plowed over left tackle for two yards. Then Nolting hit inside between the guards on a quick opening play, fought his way out of the grasp of Russ Letlow at the line of scrimmage and went thirty-three yards to the 3 yard line, where Hutson, coming across the field, overtook him. Maniaci then went outside the Packers' left tackle for the score and Manders replaced Siegal to kick the extra point.

This sent the Bears to the end of the quarter with a 7 to 0 lead. But on the first play of the second period, Larry Buhler, who had just replaced Hinkle at full back, intercepted Luckman's pass and raced back 33 yards to the Bears' 10 yard line. It took four plays to tie the score. Buhler failed at center. Uram lost a yard at left tackle, then slipped and fell on the 5 yard line after taking Arnie Herber's pass for a six yard gain. it was fourth down and when the Packers did not go into a place kick formation, it was obvious to the crowd and the Bears that it would be a pass. It was a pass. Herber fired the ball the instant he got his hands on it. Under the goal posts, with Rookie Harry Clark and two other Bears grasping at him, Hutson took it on the goal line for the touchdown. Tiny Engebretsen added the extra point.

It Becomes a Ball Game.

What might have looked like an easy afternoon and possibly a rout to the Bears a few minutes before, suddenly became a ball game. This called for drastic action. The Bears met the issue squarely with McLean's 56 yard return of the kickoff. Only smart defensive maneuvering by Hutson prevented McLean from going all the way. The veteran dropped back and forced McLean and his cordon of three blockers toward the sideline. At the Packers' 42 yard line he made his move, disrupted the blockers and slowed up McLean enough for Uram to make the tackle from behind.

Famiglietti got nine yards in two smashes outside the Packer tackles and Clark went five and twelve yards —also outside tackles. Clark then waded right in behind giant Jack Torrance and went seven yards before Torrance's charge faded. Another one yard smash by Clark and one by Famiglietti for two yards made it first down on the 7 yard line. Famiglietti then put down his head, shot off into a tiny opening outside Right Tackle Paul Kell and came to rest on his face over the goal line for what proved to be the winning touchdown. Manders added the extra point.

Bears Placed on Defense.

Thereafter the Bears' greatness was manifested only on the defense. Nolting's expulsion for slugging Ray Riddick, rookie end, early in the third quarter, and the accompanying half-the-distance penalty set them back to the 25 yard line. They were never able to escape from this hole and saved victory only because of Swisher, a fumble by Herber on the 16 yard line, an interception by Famiglietti on the 5 and the menacing nearness of the visiting dugout which distracted Hutson so that a pass into the end zone plunked him on the chest.

Beauty.

Beauty's that which nature sows
In the fragrant petals of a rose,
Or in mists of morning freshly lain
Upon the countryside's terrain.
It lies deep in the soul of song,
Or in a voice we've yearned for long.
It shows its face in rubies rare;
In the silver of a mother's hair.
Yet, eyes shall judge as the heart dictates,
And hearts of men show varied traits.
Some swear by glories oft obscure;
What's rich to some is to others, poor;
When skies resemble a devil's brew,
Some men see heaven shining thru.
What matters choice? When heart is king
There's beauty in most anything!

ALERTNESS HELPS ST. MARY'S BEAT PORTLAND, 25-13

Portland, Ore., Nov. 3 (AP).—St. Mary's Gaels, winding up a two-week transcontinental tour, capitalized on breaks today and trimmed the University of Portland, 25 to 13, before a crowd of 9,000.

Full Back Eddie Defreitas of Portland grabbed the opening kickoff on his 6 yard line and galloped thru the entire St. Mary's team to the goal. The six point lead was shortlived, however. St. Mary's marched sixty yards to a touchdown after receiving the kickoff.

St. Mary's scored again in the first period on a pass interception and made it 18 points in the second when Center Al Ratto scooped up a blocked punt and ran it across. The Gaels scored their last touchdown in the fourth after a thirty-seven yard pass put them on the Portland 2 yard line.

Portland drove fifty-nine yards to its second score late in the fourth. The teams were about even in the statistics.

Rams Upset Lions, 24 to 0; Tie for Third

Cleveland, O., Nov. 3 (AP).—The Cleveland Rams finally clicked today to wallop the Detroit Lions, 24 to 0. The victory, witnessed by 18,881, put the Ohioans in a third place tie with the Lions in the National Football league's western division.

The Rams, usually a strictly passing team, displayed their best running attack of the year in the first half to pile up a 14 to 0 advantage on touchdown marches of fifty-five and fifty-six yards. A fifty-eight yard scoring drive and a twenty-three yard field goal added to the total in the last half.

Johnny Drake, playing with a broken finger, sparked the Cleveland ground game. He plunged two yards for the first touchdown on the initial play of the second period and five minutes later caught the Detroit defense napping when he flipped a nine yard touchdown pass to Jim Benton.

Drake set up the final touchdown with a thirty-two yard dash, Marty Slovak carrying the ball over from the 3. Chet Adams booted the field goal. Whizzer White was the only Detroit back able to make any headway. His running and passing moved the Lions to Cleveland's 5 yard line in the second quarter, but here the Ohioans braced and took the ball on downs. Detroit depended almost entirely on passing in the second half, but hit on only three out of twelve for forty-nine yards. Lineups:

Redskins Win, 37 to 10; 7th Victory in Row

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3 (AP).—The Washington Redskins walloped the Pittsburgh Steelers, 37 to 10, today for their seventh consecutive victory of the National league season against no defeats. A crowd of 31,204 watched the game.

The Redskin's high scoring triumvirate—Sammy Baugh, Frank Filchock, and Dick Todd—played havoc with the enemy defense. Baugh hurled two touchdown passes to Jimmy Johnston, Filchock tallied one himself and threw another to Bob Masterson. Todd tallied the other, knifing thru from the 3 yard line after ripping off five long gains.

Masterson booted a twenty yard field goal in the final quarter to match Armand Niccolai's twenty-five yard placement for the Steelers early in the game after they had driven from their own 31 in three first downs. Pittsburgh's only touchdown was on a beautifully executed pass—Billy Patterson to George Platukis—in the second quarter. Lineup:

Giants Defeat Dodgers, 10-7, on Cuff's Kick

New York, Nov. 3 (AP).—Ward Cuff's twenty-five yard field goal proved the margin of victory as the New York Giants beat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 10 to 7, in a National Football league game today before 32,958 in Ebbets field. Each team scored a touchdown in a rousing fourth quarter, the Giants on a twelve yard pass from Len Barnum to Hank Soar and Brooklyn on a plunge by Sam Francis after a seventy yard drive.

The triumph placed the Giants in second place in the eastern division and kept clear their record of never having lost to Brooklyn in 10 years.

The Dodgers threatened to score three or four times before Francis finally counted on a plunge from the 1 foot line at the end of their long last period drive, but fumbles and the lack of a goal line punch stopped them each time.

Kercheval's Kicks Fail.

Twice Ralph Kercheval, who was out of the lineup with a broken toe, limped on to the field and attempted placement kicks for the Dodgers, but missed each time. His try from the 33 yard line in the second period scarcely got off the ground, and when he attempted another from the 19 in the third quarter it was batted aside by Johnny Mellus and Jim Poole of the rushing Giants' line.

The drive that culminated in Cuff's field goal began from the Giants' 18 yard line late in the first quarter and had reached Brooklyn's 24, largely on runs by Walter Nielson, when the period ended. When the Dodgers held for three plays at the start

DE PAUL VICTOR, 12 TO 0; SURE OF SHARE IN TITLE

Hands St. George First North Section Defeat.

De Paul academy assured itself of a tie for the north section title in the Catholic High School league football race by defeating St. George, 12 to 0, yesterday on the latter's field. It was the fifth straight victory for De Paul, and the first setback in four games for St. George.

While Leo was idle in the south section battle for top honors, Mount Carmel nosed out St. Rita, 14 to 6 on Stagg field to take a temporary lead. Mount Carmel has won four straight, while Leo has three victories and one tie.

Fenwick suffered a 13 to 6 defeat by Catholic High of Joliet. As a result the south section race is now between Mount Carmel and Leo, which meet next Sunday afternoon.

In other league games yesterday De LaSalle trimmed Loyola, 20 to 7, St. Ignatius won from St. Patrick, 33 to 6, and St. Mel triumphed over Weber, 12 to 6.

FOURTH QUARTER RALLY WINS, 7-0, FOR ST. AMBROSE

Davenport, Ia., Nov. 3 [Special].—Before a record breaking homecoming crowd of 8,200, St. Ambrose maintained its undefeated, untied and unscored upon status today by scoring in the final two minutes to beat St. Norbert's of West Depere, Wis., 7 to 0. It was the seventh straight victory for the Bees this season.

Al Haworth of Chicago crashed over from the 1 foot marker after St. Ambrose had missed other scoring chances. Nick Kerasiotis, also from Chicago, kicked the extra point.

St. Ambrose's winning drive received impetus from a forty-five yard pass from Bill Leithner to Roy Glendenning to St. Norbert's 4. One play took it to the 1 yard line where St. Norbert braced and held for two more downs. Then Haworth drove over.

THREE CHICAGO RIDERS ENTER RACE AT STADIUM

Three Chicago riders will compete in the International six-day bicycle race which starts in the Stadium Sunday night. Outstanding in the trio is Cecil Yates of the south side. The others are Charley Yaccino and Eddie Kuehn from the west side.

Yates has won 11 six day races in the United States and Canada. Yaccino, a steady rider, will compete for the Catholic Youth Organization. Kuehn, one of the best amateurs developed in Chicago in many years, will make his first professional appearance in Chicago.

Gunners, Bombers to Meet in Return Football Game

The Chicago Gunners, unbeaten this season, will be at full strength for their return football game with Bernie Jefferson's Brown Bombers in Rand stadium, 75th street and Euclid avenue, Wednesday night.

That New Star at Purdue Is Galvin of Leo

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

A number of newspaper men boarded the Purdue university train in Iowa City late Saturday night in search of a young man who they had just watched for the last three periods of the Boilermakers' 21 to 6 victory over Iowa's Hawkeyes. He had been so worthwhile watching that they thought they'd better find out a bit more about him. The kid's name is John Galvin, but there was no

John Galvin.

John Galvin on the train taking the happy Purdues back to Lafayette. It seems he had driven in from Iowa City with relatives to his home on Chicago's south side.

The name Galvin and the Chicago residence should have been enough to identify the lad, but his absence was more than made up for by the praise of Bob Woodworth, athletic publicity director, and the measured compliments of Mal Elward, the Boilermaker coach, who ordinarily is loath to lavish verbal orchids about his boys in midseason.

He's a Former Leo Star.

Yes, the Galvin boy should have been recalled easily enough. Certainly, the estimated 120,000 folks who jammed Soldiers' field in Chicago on the afternoon of Nov. 27, 1937, would remember Johnny. That date was the occasion of the annual interleague Christmas benefit high school game between Austin, champion of the City league, and Leo, Catholic league winner.

The Austin eleven had a spry young fellow named Bill De Correvont in its back field, but Leo was mighty proud of Galvin, and there were those in the stadium who thought that Johnny was as responsible for the throng as was Bill. It just didn't happen to be Leo's day, but Johnny managed to look good even in the face of a 26 to 0 defeat.

He looked just as good last Saturday, from the time he entered the game in the second quarter to touch off Purdue's first touchdown and added the point that would have been sufficient to win until the last play of the game, when he wound up with the ball on Iowa's 7 yard mark.

It was Johnny's kicking, with his left foot, by the way, which brought cheers even from the Iowa throng. In addition to three perfect placement kicks for extra points, he got away eight punts for a total of 334 yards, and an average of 41.7 for the day. Two of these went 50 yards. John didn't do much ball carrying, leaving that up to John Petty, Paul Anderson, and Tony Berto, but he did pick up 15 yards in eight tries. Altho he's a southfoot kicker, Johnny's a right handed passer. He connected three times in eight tries for 43 yards, including the eight yard toss to Anderson for a touchdown. He caught one pass for a 20 yard gain, and made the interception which led to another Boilermaker score. In six extra point tries this season, he has connected each time.

John is 21 years old, a junior in physical education, is a member of Phi Kappa fraternity, and, according to Woodworth, has the most disarming Irish grin on the Boilermaker campus. He's a happy-go-lucky type, and Elward was wondering if that's a virtue or a handicap.

"Yes," Mal admitted in response to a remark, "he would put you in mind of Sleepy Jim Crowley at times. He doesn't always get under way as fast as he might, but he's got a world of mental poise. Did you see how calm he was on those punts today, and the way he threw those passes? I think this Iowa game marks Johnny's peak since he came to Purdue."

LORAS ACADEMY BEATS ST. PHILIP OF CHICAGO, 9-0

Dubuque, Ia., Nov. 3 [Special].—Loras academy won its sixth straight game of the season today by defeating St. Philip of Chicago, 9 to 0. Frankie Kelly, Loras half back, kicked a field goal from the 16 yard line 20 seconds before the half ended. In the last two minutes, Jack Welu, quarter back, intercepted Couture's pass on St. Philip's 30 yard line and crossed the goal line. The Chicagoans advanced to the Loras' 20 yard line in the first quarter but a fumble ended their threat.

day, 20 to 0, which again leaves Notre Dame in the unenviable favorite's position for the coming week-end in Annapolis.

In conference circles Purdue's 21 to 6 victory over Iowa takes precedence after the Dyche stadium combat. The Hawkeyes paid the penalty to Purdue which other teams had escaped, including the title abdicating Buckeyes of Ohio State. The Buckeyes rode over Indiana by an identical score, 21 to 6, but left a margin for censure by scoring all their points in the first half. A valid critique of Ohio State's players and coaches insists that late period failures indicate lack of condition.

Badgers Are Beating Back.

Wisconsin swept to inspiring victory over Illinois, 13 to 6, for a second successive conference victory when Johnny Tennant ran 63 yards for the winning score. His fourth period sprint was reminiscent of climactic sorties famous in the offensive system taught by Harry Stuhldreher, quarter back of Notre Dame's undefeated team in 1924. Wisconsin thus has fulfilled early promise.

In the adjacent Big Six conference, Nebraska practically clinched the title by whipping Oklahoma, 13 to 0, adding this victory over the 1938 champion to last week's conquest of Missouri, winner in 1939. Beaten only by Minnesota, the Cornhuskers return to the national arena with their best team in several years.

Detroit's perfect record was marred by Tulsa's 7 to 0 victory and Kentucky also suffered its initial setback, losing to Alabama, 25 to 0. Undefeated Tennessee rolled over Louisiana by a larger score than many believed possible, 28 to 0. In the Southwest conference, Texas Aggies, paced by John Kimbrough, hammered thru Arkansas' defense for a 17 to 0 decision.

Stanford Wins Again.

Nationally important was Stanford's victory over U. C. L. A., 20 to 14, which continued this Cinderella eleven in the rôle of the team of the year. Last campaign Stanford lost eight games but did manage to tie the team it whipped Saturday. The 1940 Pacific coast championship is the stake in this week's engagement between the University of Washington and Stanford at Palo Alto.

Cornell again proved its claim to a second eastern championship by winning from Columbia, 27 to 0. Columbia previously had been beaten only by Syracuse, 3 to 0, and had beaten Georgia, which Saturday won from Auburn, 14 to 13. Fordham bounded back from defeat by St. Mary's to down North Carolina, 14 to 0. Harvard sprung a mild surprise by holding Princeton to a scoreless tie.

JEWISH, SWEDISH ALL-STARS WIN IN SOCCER TOURNEY

BY OFFSIDE.

The Jewish All Stars and Swedish All Stars triumphed in the semi-finals of the Mayor Kelly cup soccer tournament yesterday before 3,500 spectators in Winnemac park stadium. The Jewish All Stars defeated the All Americans, 5 to 4, and the Swedish All Stars routed the German Selects, 6 to 2.

The players were assigned to the various all-star teams by a vote taken among soccer fans, the first time this procedure has been used. The final game in the tournament will be played in the spring.

All Americans Rally.

The Jewish All Stars, scoring in the first minute when Kurt Kuhn beat Leslie Griffith from 10 yards, led at the end of the half, 5 to 1.

The tide of battle was reversed in the second half as a strong wind aided the All-Americans. Lineups:

Correct Constipation Before—Not After!

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of emergency relief. Why let yourself suffer those dull lifeless days because of constipation, why bring on the need for emergency medicines, when there may be a far better way? That way is to KEEP regular by getting at the cause of the trouble.

If it's common constipation, due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, a pleasant, nutritious, ready-to-eat cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran—goes straight to the cause by supplying the "bulk" you need.

Eat this crunchy toasted cereal regularly, drink plenty of water, and see if you don't forget all about constipation. All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

1 MINUTE RADIO PLEA BRINGS 400 CAR VOLUNTEERS

The ranks of volunteer automobile drivers for election day service tomorrow were swelled yesterday after a one minute radio appeal by the Associated Willkie Clubs of Illinois. The appeal was made over W-G-N at 2:30 p. m.

During the following two hours more than 400 citizens offered their automobiles and in most cases their services as drivers. The cars will be used to carry voters to and from the polls, and will be especially helpful if the weather is inclement.

Charles O. Rundall, president of the Willkie clubs of Illinois, said the volunteers were promptly assigned to club headquarters in the city's 50 wards. Anyone needing transportation to the polls tomorrow need only call Republican ward or precinct headquarters or the ward office of the Associated Willkie clubs, Rundall said.

ANOTHER 'SMEAR WILLKIE' STUDY BY TNEC ISSUED

Report 'Leaks Out' Before Election.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 3.—In another last minute assault on business men prior to the elections, the radical dominated TNEC-SEC monopoly probe today permitted another of its so-called "studies" prejudicial to business men to "slip out" before formal publication. This one is the long awaited report on life insurance.

Sen. J. C. O'Mahoney denied knowledge of report "leak."

Despite solemn assurances earlier this year the TNEC's sounding board would not be used in an attempt to influence elections and therefore reports of its studies would be delayed until after Tuesday, such reports lambasting business practices have been released from time to time in an attempt to "smear" Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican nominee, because of his business man's background.

Earlier Report "Leaked Out."

Recently a study purporting to show concentration of corporation control in a few wealthy families was prematurely turned over to a local newspaper. After its contents thus became known, Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.], New Deal chairman of the temporary national economic [monopoly probe] committee, declared his ignorance of how the report happened to leak out, but then found reasonable excuse to release the report generally. The insurance study came out in like manner today thru the same newspaper and from "congressional sources."

The insurance report was prepared by the Securities and Exchange commission for the TNEC. The SEC also conducted the hearings on insurance before the monopoly committee. The New Deal has long expressed jealousy over the vast amount of private funds which have been invested in insurance companies and has continuously attacked such investment in an effort to drive such capital into government channels and to drum up support for a government operated insurance system.

Many Charges Made.

The insurance study asserts that unless life insurance companies are checked by "legal restraint" that they will become increasingly important in the nation's economy. It complains that directors of mutual companies seek to perpetuate themselves in control, goes into detail about "insurance company lobbies," tells of interlocking directorships, claims that some directors use their positions for personal gain, and that too many insurance company directors do not attend their board meetings.

The report charges that loans are sometimes made to insiders to bail them out of unsuccessful business ventures. It charges that certain directors have used their insurance company connections to their advantage to obtain preferment in personal business dealings. This last charge amused administration critics here who recalled that complaints along the same line have been made about Jimmy Roosevelt, son of the President, using his father's position to promote business for Jimmy's insurance firm.

J. M. NICHOLS REPLIES TO GOVERNMENT'S INVESTIGATION THREAT

John M. Nichols.

John M. [100 Per Cent] Nichols, president of the First National Bank of Englewood, is answering threats of the government to investigate his advertisments backing Wendell L. Willkie for President by running another advertisment today.

In his latest message Nichols calls on the American people to elect Willkie to protect the interest of their children and their children's children.

"Democracy goes on trial for its life," Nichols declares. "It is you and I, the American people, who will, in the jury box, decide whether we shall entrust our time honored form of government to the courageous leadership of Wendell Willkie, or sentence it to Franklin Deficit Roosevelt and a third term of power and more power.

"The welfare of labor, as well as of capital, along with that of our children and our children's children, rests on our verdict. It is we, the people, who will decide."

Federal law prohibits a national bank from making a contribution in connection with any election to political office.

41ST AUTO SHOW SETS NEW PEAK IN ATTENDANCE

With an estimated total attendance of 383,000 persons, a new record was claimed yesterday by Chicago's 41st annual automobile show which closed last night after a nine day run at the International Amphitheater. Preliminary figures show attendance passed last year's record of 375,000 by about 8,000.

It was estimated that about 40,000 persons took advantage of yesterday's fine weather to inspect the 1941 model automobiles and numerous other exhibits, including a display of military weapons.

Vultee has contracts for hundreds of army air corps basic training planes and employs 5,200 persons. The union seeks higher wages.

BANK PREDICTS RISE IN DEFENSE WORK FINANCING

Reports Obstacles Have Been Cleared.

New York, Nov. 3 [Special].—Important obstacles to defense financing have been cleared away and the flow of private capital into such uses may be expected to increase, the November letter of the National City bank of New York said today. The bank expects that a high proportion of the financing will be done under the emergency plant facilities contracts which were adopted in semi-final form on Oct. 10.

"Four principal methods for building and financing defense facilities may now be summarized," the bank said. "These are:

"1. Army and navy construction, including government arsenals, naval bases, etc., and extension of existing government properties, to be owned and operated by the federal government and financed with federal funds.

Government Owns Plant.

"2. Construction of plants to be owned by the government but operated by private manufacturers, as in the case of the Chrysler tank plant and the du Pont powder plant at Louisville, Ky.

"3. Construction of unconditionally privately owned and operated plants, the manufacturer availing himself of the provision of the new excess profits tax law permitting amortization in five years when the plant is certified by the government as necessary for defense. This may be the procedure when the manufacturer is able to obtain private financing, and when there is reasonable assurance that the volume of business in sight is sufficient to enable him to recoup his cost or that the plant can be converted to peacetime use.

"4. Cases where risks are too great for private capital to assume alone. In such cases the manufacturer will wish to avail himself of the emergency plant facilities contract."

Profits Up 23 Per Cent.

The bank reported that third quarter profits of 350 industrial corporations rose 23 per cent from the same period of 1939. Profits aggregated $257,000,000, against $209,000,000 a year earlier.

"Sharp gains in profits were reported in numerous of the capital goods industries having a continued recovery in volume of business, partly due to the war and the national defense program," the bank said. "These include iron and steel, machinery and tools, railway equipment, auto equipment, miscellaneous metal products, chemicals and textiles.

"Many pulp and paper manufacturers showed marked gains as a result of increased sales of various products, higher prices and limitation of imports by the war. Several coal mining companies turned a deficit into a profit as a result of better prices and increased demand."

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Monday, November 4, 1940.

[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.]

MUTUAL INVESTMENT.

What is a mutual investment company?—T. O.

Answer: The federal income tax laws make special provisions for mutual investment companies, which are defined as follows:

Any company other than a personal holding company which is organized primarily for investing its funds in stocks and securities and [1] at least 95 per cent of its gross income is derived from dividends, interest, and gains from the sale of securities, [2] less than 30 per cent of its gross income is derived from the sale of securities held less than 6 months, [3] distributes an amount not less than 90 per cent of its net income to its shareholders as taxable dividends each year, and [4] its shareholders are entitled to have their stock redeemed by the company for their proportionate interests in the corporation's properties, or the cash equivalent, less a discount of not more than 3 per cent.

A company cannot qualify as a mutual investment company under the income tax law if more than 5 per cent of its gross assets is invested in securities of any one company, if it owns more than 10 per cent of the securities of any one company, and if it has outstanding debts exceeding 10 per cent of its gross assets.

Mutual investment companies are exempt from the excess profits tax and are accorded special treatment under the income tax laws.

Is it true that the capital stock of the Narragansett Racing Association, Inc., is listed on an exchange? How many shares of the stock are outstanding?—D. K.

Answer: Capital stock of the Narragansett Racing association, consisting of 350,000 shares of $1 par value, is listed on the Boston Stock exchange.

The track is located partly in Pawtucket and partly in East Providence, R. I. The stands and clubhouse seat 14,000 spectators.

I am now getting a monthly old age benefit from the federal government. I hope to get a city job in a few weeks. Will my benefit be stopped when I start working for the city? —A. H.
